The Liberty of the Press.

"The greatest glory of a free born people, Is to transmit that freedom to their children."

The liberty of the press, and the freedom of speech, the two great prerogatives of the Constitution and the legitimate requisites which constitute the basis of selfgovernment, to-day, appear, either not to be properly appreciated, or else not rightly understood, neither by a large portion of the people nor by the rulers of the nation, who instead of extending and encouraging those sacred privileges, seem disposed, we are sorry to say, to muzzle and crush out ignoring and insulting fifteen sovereign those guaranteed rights, especially the freedom of the press. Now why is this? It is because they are ashamed of their to Heaven to sanctify a movement, which, acts and wish to conceal and keep in the dark those things which the people have a countrymen to support their cause in the right to know, or can it be, alss, that our cause is so weak that it will not bear the light of reason, or our principles, so rotten as not to be able to stand the test of free discussion? We know, by the chronology of the past, that wherever there was a damper placed upon these liberfies, that ignorance and barbarianism were the resuffs, and we know too, on the other hand, that the intelligent and well informed man makes the best citizen, under whatever form of government you find him. It is through the medium of the press and by the intelligence of the people, that we have steered to prosperity; and the honor and dignity of the nation owe much to the liberty of the press, from whose feeundons womb the fostered arts and sciences have been brought forth, and by whose logic offspring the shades of superstition were removed and the tyrant grasp cut loose and - " lawless power the long kept field, By reason quell'd, was forc'd to yield. This nurse of arts, and freedom's fence To chain, is treason against sense; And liberty, thy thousand tongues None silence, who design no wrongs, For those, who use the gag's restraint. First rob before they stop complaint." It is needless here to quote the Constitution in defence of these great prerogatives which were bought with the blood of our forefathers and bequeathed to us as a part of their richest legacy, the Constitution, under the protection of which many an obscure genius has risen to honor and distinction. But alas, to-day, we find certain newspapers discarded from the mails and Democratic editors arrested from our midst, and hurried away, far from their homes, to be incarcerated without the privilege of the writ of habeas corpus or trial by jury, in the dangeons of some old Fort, for what? Their crime is not made known to them, which, perhaps, was that of having battled for the Union and Constitution of their fathers, or for having promulgated the doctrines of Washington and Jefferson, who revered the Constitution and were guided by its dictates. Thomas Jefferson, while he slanderous attack upon his character. "Why do you not hang the man !" asked Humboldt, in astonishment. "Put the paper in your pocket" said Jefferson, with a smile, "and, on your return to your own country, if any one doubts the freedom of our press, show it to him, and tell him where you found it." Thus by precept and example did those sages teach us to observe that document, with all its injunctions, and if we do not follow their admonitions and keep inviolate that sacred bequest, in vain did they give their fortunes and their lives; if we allow the Constitution of our fathers to be nullified and cast into the shades of oblivion, then for naught did Cromwell bleed. In vain are we fighting. If the freedom of the press and of speech are annihilated, our free schools and literary institutions are useless and education becomes a vain boast ; for upon these depend the longevity of selfgovernment and the equanimity of its sovereigns, the people, and we may here quote with propriety from one of the messages of George Washington, during his Presidency, to the people, "There is no resource so firm for the Government o the United States, as the affections of the people, guided by an enlightened policy, and to this primary good nothing can conduce more than a faithful representation of public proceedings diffused without restraint throughout the United States." The consequence of the frightful calamity which has disunited our country today, is that of having disregarded the wise teachings of our fathers: and the restoration of the Union and the preservation of the Constitution can only be done by coming back to the old principles of Jacksonian Democracy.

Forney in 1856.

" The adversaries of the Democratic party ave dissolved the American Union in advance, so far as by their own action they can consummate that direful result They can no longer assemble in National Convention ; they congregate as the representatives or a fragment of one-half of our happy in the penitentiary, at hard labor, for a of silver is holding on to it and afraid to country, and they arregate to themselves the mastery of the other half by attempting to consolidate a fierce and fanatic

Wholesale Arrest of Democratic Editors.

General Wadsworth with a squad of armed men from Washington, accompanied by the Provost Marshall visited Harrisburg and caused to be arrested and kidnapped, Messrs. Barrett, McDowell, Foster and Jones, editors of the Patriot and Union, and ordered them to be incarcerated in one of the dungeons of Fort McHenry. The offence was that of a handbill having been printed in that office, by the apprentice boys, and posted up through the city as a hoax, calling upon the colored men of Harrisburg to enlist in a colored regiment to be commanded by Jim Lane.

Messrs. Barrett & McDowell, deny all knowledge of the affair, and assert that it was a hoax of the boys of the office to have some fun with the niggers, and that had they known it, they would not have allowed any such play card to have been issued from their office.

Sympathizers with Rebeilion.

If there be any persons in our midst who have arrayed themselves against the Government and favoring rebellion by discouraging enlistments, we invite their attention to the following extract from a late act of the Legislature which provides that "if any person or persons belonging to or residing within this State shall endeavor to persuade any person or persons from entering the service of this State or the United States, or from joining any volunteer company or association of this State, about being mustered into the service, shall use threats or persuasion, or offer any bribe, or hold out any hope of reward, with like intent to induce any person or persons to abandon said service, or withdraw from any volunteer company or association already organized under the laws of this Commonwealth for that purpose, every person so offending, and being of all the gold and silver coin, can only legally convicted thereof, shall be sentenced to undergo solitary imprisonment lieving that every one who has a little bit to The news from the war, for some time back, has been of rather a quiet nature, there being little fighting, other than skirmishing, since the siege before Richmond. Last nights dispatches, however, brought news of a battle between Stonewall Jackson and Gen. Banks. But the news is not officially confirmed, and so indefinite that it is yet difficult to ascertain the result, but that there has been a great deal of loss on both sides is certain. Fighting is still going on in the valley, and rumor says that old Stonewall is getting the worst of it.

ACCIDENT .- This year appears to be marked with fatality. Scarcely a day passes that we do not hear of some accident. We find our exchange papers full of chronicled fatalities of this kind. We are sorry to announce the misfortune which happened to our venerable fellowtownsman, Edward Shoemaker, Sr., Esq. one day last week. He was thrown from a mule which he was riding, which resulted in the breaking of three or four of his ribs and stunning the old man so that life seemed extinct for a long time. We are however happy to say, that he is under care of skilful physicians, & is doing well.

BLAIR AND CAMBRIA .- These small counties in the iron producing region of the State, should not, in equity, have been asked to contribute another soldier to this war until other counties had responded with their quota. The Governor called upon each county for a single company, and each is about to respond by sending four companies, notwithstanding Blair has 1,200 and Cambria 1,400 men already in the field. Cambria has already sent a company of her stalwart sons here-another is expected to-day, and a third is formingall from Johnstown-and a fourth in the vicinity of Ebensburg and Carrolltown. On to-morrow one company will arrive from Altoona, Blair county, in command of Capt. Jacob Zink, who served in the three months' volunteers, and another will follow in a few days. In addition to these, one company is forming in Tyrone. another in Williamsburg, and still another in Hollidaysburg. When the fact is taken into consideration that the iron business is looking up, work plenty and wages fair this outpouring must be looked upon a purely patriotic.

All honor to the frosty sons of Cambria and the hardy yeomaary of Blair. They are determined to fight till the last arms foe expires.-Harrisburg Union.

ment. They declare that the country is on "ourt."

the eve of unprecedented convulsions by States of the Union. They talk of peace, and in their conventions proclaim a policy which must end in civil war. They appeal if successful, would destroy the fairest fabric of freedom on the globe. They invite our in old regiments, which raises the loyalty midst of the most irreverent blasphemics of the Constitution. They prate of exclusive doubt ; and let no man gainsay it, for Americanism, while they accept as leaders, men who profane the sages of the past with neonceivable calumnics. But they deserve redit for their boldness. They do not at- of patriotism, and war meetings all over tempt to conceal the fearful end which, should they succeed, must crown their efforts. True to the history of all sectional parties, ney unite man not by a love of country but a hatred of National principles. Their bond of action is a sympathy of ant gon isms—not a harmony of patriotic senti ments ; and to consummate their purposes be her boast that she is the first county in they would sacrifice every greatmaterial in terests of society. They have already succeeded in dividing the christian church, and Quite a series of meetings have been held now they would lay their hands upon the bulwarks of our liberties ; they would wrest the Constitution from the glorious purpose to which it was dedicated by its founders ; and they would erect at Washington a sectional despotism whose presiding divinities would be hostility to the equality of the States and the equality of the citizens, and relentless war upon the demestic institutions of the South."

Such were the prognostications of this inconsistent demagogue six years ago, such were the denunciations and execrations of John W. Forney while chairman of the Democratic State Central Committee, such were the enunciations of this man while glutting himself with spoils from Democratic preferment. And where do we find this crouching minion now? Where the hen scratches, she expects to find the worm," and if we scratch amongst the filthy hordes of unprincipled Abolition demagogues, who seek to destroy and tear down the temple of American liberty, we will there find this whitelivered renegade, amongst the meanest of the mean class of human hyenas, that he cursed in 1856. This creature of circumstance, for his own selfish interest, has made consistency blush, has defiled his honor and made war against freedom. His three pronged lying tongue is blistered with calumnies and curses, he is wont to utter and draw down upon the honest defenders of constitutional liberty. He is certainly the prototype by which he prophesied the above in which his features and political course are delineated so accurately.

The grand mass meeting on last Saturday, was well attended and the utmost harmony and good feeling prevailed. A large pole was raised in the dimond in front of the Arcade Hotel, upon which the Stars and Stripes were flung to repose on the solid surface of our sidethe breeze. Every man seemed full of enthusiasm and pregnant with a speech. Addresses were delivered by Messrs. Giffin, Burke, Johnston and M'Donald.

The following language was made use of at a meeting of the Abolition party, assembled a short time ago in the city of Boston: the speakers throwing of the mask of "Union" and boldly coming out in favor of their schemes to destroy the bulwark of our liberties. Mr. Pillsbury said in a speech on that occasion that " Half a million of the sons of the North have gone to that worse than Ganges crocodile that inhabits the rivers of the South, and now 200,000 more are demanded. Why did not a voice go up from the united North that not another soldier should go until the war was turned against slavery ? [Great applause.] Abraham Lincoln, formerly called the slave hound of Illinois, has increased and enlarged his former tendency." Mr. Stephen S. Foster held the following language ;

"He would fight under the banner of the South if Jefferson Davis should proclaim. from his love of freedom everywhere, and his desire to co-operate with all who sincerely aimed at freedom. There is no need to compare Davis and Lincoln any more than any other two slaveholders. If there were, the uniform past record of the Abolitionists would place Davis above Lincoln for if slave catching is worse (as we declared it) than slave-holding, the latter is a greater slave-catcher than the former. He (Mr. Foster) would rather take his chances with Jefferson Davis, at the last judgment, than with the President."

flagrantly wrong; it is just the way to create a panic and make hard times. Money was invented, not to be hoarded up, but for a currency to facilitate business of every kind; therefore let no man sink" that which is so essential to every day commerce; keep the small change afloat and use it for its legitimate purpose and you will foil the schemes of moneyshavers and speculators ; and supposing a general bankruptey, a dollar or two here or there, is of little consequence to any man, and money which is lying hid in a vault or some old greasy purse is of use o nobody, not even the possessor, and the miser who gratifies his avaricious appetite by hoarding away the common currency of the community, is a worthless drone apon society.

car Some of our newly enlisted volunteers, the other night were practicing some of the hardships of the army and inurements of camp life, as we observed, when going to market early in the morning, several of them slumbering in undisturbed walks, and without strife or troubled dreams, they seemed to enjoy all the sweets of a quiet sleep, which would have been an envious sight to the petted monarch or the licentious epicure,

WARM WEATHER IN HARRISEURG .---The Patriot and Union in speaking of the intense heat of the weather in that place last week, said "By placing their irons upon window sills, exposed to the sun, laundresses, during the day, were enabled to do full justice to fine dickeys, without the aid of fuel." Pretty hot that ? We should think the starched dickeys and stiff collars would soon wilt in an atmosphere of that kind.

er Our town appeared quite lively in the beginning of the week with the enlisted soldiers who flocked in from the northern parts of the county. On Monday afternoon all the hotels were crowded and the wildest enthusiasm prevailed. Clearfield and Susquehanna townships are responding to the Presidents call with alacrity and are sending in recruits and volunteers in large numbers.

67 Among the many pilgrims who visited our town last week were Hon. H. D. Foster, of Westmoreland, and Hon. G. Nelson Smith, formerly of this county, but now in the army. They were looking hale and hearty.
