Mr. Lincoln by violating the Constitution becomes an outlaw to his country far greater than the guiltiest rebel who is in open opposition to the Government ; because Mr. Lincoln has sworn to support the Constitution and because he deceived the people by betraying them in the darkest hour of our country's peril. We have frequent inspections and reviews throughout the camps. These with the other signs indicate a move in some direction, of course we can only arrive at conclusions by conjecture as we are all kept in profound ignorance from the Colonel down to the lowest private in the rear ranks. So far we have received the Democrat and Sentinel regularly which has been a welcome visitor in camp, but from a recent tyranical order of the War Department, we are to be deprived even of that gratification; as it informs us that no newspapers shall be allowed to come into the army hereafter. If the blundering incapacity of the present administration, by keeping the army in total ignorance as to their policy and the general news, think to make subservient tools of the brave soldiers, they greatly mistake their men ; and they will not only find such a measure to be conducive of no good, but like the emancipation proclaendeavoring to bring this war to a close; for by so doing, they well know that they would abscind the remnant of power they now so wantonly abuse. They well know that the grave of eternal infamy is already dug, wherein the Abolition party and its unhallowed ringleaders will be buried so deep that they will not rise until the last horn of the resurrection shall wake them to a just judgment, and in order to avert the certain doom which most surely awaits them, they seek to subvert the Government, and inveigle us in a war with France. Most surely the "old rail splitter" is "running the machine." While Mr. Lincoln has proved to the world that he is nothing but a more pliant automation, Secretary Seward has not sustained that reputation for statesmanship for which he has unjustly been credited : but like a truckling pettifogger or a small beer politician he has been playing into the "irrepressible conflict" party, with a shrewdness that none but himself could assume ; so between the President and his Cabinet, assisted by an equally fanatical Congress, they have succeeded in running the machine until it is almost exhausted, they have " run the machine " until they have plunged the nation so deep in debt They this spring elected the entire Demethat the people, for generations to come cratic ticket by a majority ranging as must feel the weight-the curse; they have "run the machine" until Jeff. co The "Union Planing Mill" of Benjamin F. Williams, in the West end of our Borough, was, with all its contents, entirely destroyed by fire on last Friday night. We much regret to record this unexpected calamity of Mr Williams, which was not only a misfortune to him, but is a loss to the town and the community at large. This establishment was not in operation quite two years; and, from the increasing patronage it was receiving, it will be greatly missed. An insurance of $3000, in one of the Clinton county Insurance Companies, was on the establishment. We understand that Mr. Williams intends rebuilding, as soon as the insurance money is paid. CAMP NEAR FALMOUTH,) February 21 1863.

FRIEND TODD,-I have been kept so busy with my duties that I have not had sufficient time to devote to a detailed account of our doings here, although very little worthy of note has transpired since I last wrote to you. The resignation of our second Lieutenant, Shank, has been the cause of promotion to some of the members of the company. Orderly Sergeant, John B. Fite, has been promoted to his place; Sergeant Davis previous to the fire, it remains a mystery important changes that have taken place is now Orderly, which is about all the in our immediate ranks.

On the 5th of this month we were ordered out on a recognoisance up the tiver, for the purpose of destroying a bridge, which we accomplished successfully. We left camp in a cold snow storm, which continued that day and all the night, but towards morning it turned
