

Who seek to Destroy the Union and the Constitution?

THE SENTIMENTS OF LEADING REPUBLICAN STATESMEN.

"I will not stultify myself by supposing that we have any warrant in the Constitution for this proceeding."

"This talk of restoring the Union as it was, under the Constitution as it is, is one of the absurdities which I have heard repeated until I have become sick about it."

From Wm. H. Seward: "There is higher law than the Constitution which regulates our authority over the domain."

From Wm. Lloyd Garrison, who now sustains the measures of the National Administration: "The North must separate from the South, and organize her own institutions on a sure basis."

From Horace Greely: "The Union is not worth supporting in connection with the South."

From Wendell Phillips, who now supports the Administration: "There is merit in the Republican party. It is the first sectional party ever organized in this country."

From N. P. Banks: "I am waiting, in a certain state of circumstances, to let the Union slide."

This speech was delivered in 1856: "I know the Democracy of the North. I know them now in their waning strength. I do not know a possible disunionist among them all. I believe they will be as faithful to the Union now as they were in the by-gone days when their ranks were full, and their challenge to the contest was always the war-cry of victory."

From Wm. H. Seward, 1861: "In this country, it is a habit not only entirely consistent with the Constitution, but even essential to its stability, to regard the Administration at any time existing as distinct and separate from the Government itself, and to canvass the proceedings of the one without the thought of disloyalty to the other."

Again: "Who in the name of God wants the Cotton States, or any other State this side of perdition, to remain in the Union, if slavery is to continue?"

Mr. Bingham has been a Republican Congressman from Ohio for ten years, and is a prospective candidate of that party for Governor at the next election.

"This is an immense sacrifice we are making for freedom and Union; and yet, is it all to be squandered upon a subterfuge and a cheat? For one, I shall not vote another dollar or a man for the war until it assumes a different standing, and tends directly to an anti-slavery result."

Mr. Conway is a Republican Representative from Kansas.

"I tell you there is going to be a dissolution of the Union, and I do not care how quick it comes; all I want is to give those fellows (the Southrons) a good licking, and then kick them out."

Mr. Edgerton is another Republican member of Congress from Ohio.

"There can be no Union till slavery is destroyed."

"Slavery has caused the present rebellion, and there can be no permanent peace and Union in this Republic as long as that institution exists."

Cutler is a Republican member of Congress from Ohio, and Lovejoy is from Illinois.

"Seven or eight States now deny their allegiance to this Government; have organized a separate Confederacy, and have declared their independence of this Government. Whether that independence is to be maintained or not, is with the future. If they shall maintain their position, and if public opinion in the seceded States shall sustain the authorities there for a year or two to come, so as to show that nothing but a war of subjugation and conquest can bring them back, I, for one, am disposed to recognize their independence."

Stanton is the Republican Lieutenant Governor of Ohio, and was formerly a Republican member of Congress. His speech above was delivered in Congress.

"There was no freedom at the South for either black or white; and he would strive to protect the free soil of the North from the same blighting curse. There was really no union between the North and the South; and he believed no two nations upon the earth entertained feelings of more bitter rancor towards each other than these two sections of the Republic. The only salvation of the Union, therefore, was to be found in divesting it entirely from all taint of slavery. There was no union with the South. Let us have a Union, or let us sweep away this remnant which we call a Union. I go for a Union where all men are equal, or for no Union at all, and I go for right."

From the speech of Carl Schurz in New York: "The Union is gone. It cannot be restored."

From Mat. Carpenters speech at Chicago: "These cavilling Constitution lovers" must now come to time! In war, the President exercises unlimited power."

From Henry Ward Beecher, whose newspaper publishes the laws of the United States, "by authority:"

"A great many people raise a cry about the Union and Constitution, as if the two were identical; but the truth is the Constitution has been the foundation and father of our troubles."

From Wm. H. Seward: "There is higher law than the Constitution which regulates our authority over the domain."

From Wm. Lloyd Garrison, who now sustains the measures of the National Administration: "The North must separate from the South, and organize her own institutions on a sure basis."

Circular from the Cash Store

The subscriber would respectfully announce to the public that he has returned from the East with his FALL AND WINTER GOODS, which will sell, as usual, at a very small advance on cost, FOR CASH ONLY. He is anxious to give a price list owing to the late fluctuations in the market.

His stock is the heaviest and most complete ever brought to the place, and has been purchased at the very lowest prices, will be sold at prices which will give to the interest of cash buyers to examine his stock and be convinced that he can and does sell a little cheaper than credit establishments.

He would call particular attention to a large stock of DRY GOODS, embracing the latest and MOST DESIRABLE STYLES OF LADIES' DRESS GOODS to be had in the Eastern market. A full assortment of fancy and plain Flannels and Shirtings, dozens of patterns of Ladies' Gents' Gloves, all styles of Hosiery, the most complete selection of Shawls exhibited in this market; any amount of Nubias, Opera Hoods, Ladies' Patterns, and a tremendous pile of Austrian, Swiss, &c.'s Patent Hoop Skirts, ranging from 25 per cent. under present market prices to fifty dollars, which will be sold at 25 per cent. under present market prices.

Our stock of GROCERIES is extensive and selling a few cents below cost, and our Syrups range from 70 cents per gallon. We would give particular attention to our large stock of current Coffee, bought at the lowest heavy advance, which we will sell at 25 per cent. It is far superior to any other substitutes lately invented. We have a heavy stock of TEAS, ranging from 60 cents per pound upwards.

Our stock of CHINA, GLASS & WARE is the largest, most varied and ever offered to the people of the West, is really beautiful. An examination of "Show Window" must convince you to stop to view it that we are not "puffing our wares." The China Ware embraces Sets ranging in price from $12 to $100. Flower Vases, Mugs and other articles. The Glass Ware embraces every style of manufacture. Our latest advance we cannot merit our liberal patronage from Stone Tea Sets, less than $4.75 per set, which is 10 per cent. below the selling price elsewhere.

I am now fully convinced that the SYSTEM is the best for cash sales, enabling me to sell cheaper, and giving my customers a better article, and more of it, for the same price than they get at any other establishment. But argument on this point is superfluous, and that I do sell cheaper I can convince all who give me a call.

A full stock of boots and shoes. All Wool, Ingrain, List, Rag and Carpet.
