

the Union side and sacrifice the last man and the last dollar to accomplish an end that will equalize the races, by placing all men whether white or black on the same political and civil basis.

Should I have time next week I will say something on the subject of the platform of Lincoln and Fremont and the position of the President of the Confederate Government, Mr. Davis.

Respectfully yours, D. A. C. EBENSBURG, June 13, 1864.

CORRESPONDENCE.—The following is the latest correspondence we have from our friend from the railroad, and about as truthful as the common newspaper reports we get daily from the Abolition sheets that are circulated through our town and swallowed up with so much acidity.

The latest news from Richmond, (I have it from good authority,) though I take the daily New York World, I had seen nothing of it. But Mr. Philip Gillan, of Munster township, arrived in our town and brought the cheering news that 1500 of Grants army were in Richmond. I threw up my hat and took a large drink of whisky on the strength of such good news. I then asked where he got that news, oh, he heard it a week ago, at Fort M'Hugh, in Munster, that Gen. Dick White, Harry White and Captain David Fox, with 1500 more, were all in safe quarters in Richmond, I put on my hat, took another drink and left to take a sleep on the lounge. Yours, &c., O. B.

J. N. FRENCH.—The immortal J. N. French was here on last week, and delivered for our edification two splendid lectures on the state of the country. He is on his way to Richmond, and will call with Abraham Lincoln as he goes there. He wants to stop the war by some means or other. We agree with our cotemporaries who say that he is one of the prodigies of the age. It is good for the fame of some of the ancients, that J. N. did not live in their day and generation. The philosophy of Socrates would sink into insignificance compared with his, and the eloquence of Cicero would be but mere babbling.

PROVISIONS DECLINING.—The Richmond Sentinel mentions as a healthy sign in the Confederacy, that provisions in all the Southern cities are declining in price. "In Macon, flour is now selling at $150 a barrel." This may be a matter of consolation to Dixie, but we think if the third of that was charged here for the "staff" people themselves would go into a decline. But thanks to a good government, prices here are moderate, and nobody declines buying their goods at E. J. Mills & Co's, as every one knows that their prices are very moderate, and as they always keep the best assortment of goods, there is a continual "rush" to their store, opposite the office of the Democrat and Sentinel.

DEED.—On the 19th inst., in Philadelphia, at the residence of his cousin Wm. Hardman, James W. HAYDEN in the 24th year of his age.

The deceased was the grandson of our esteemed friend William Russell, Esq., of Washington township. He was at an early age deprived of his father, and by his energy and ability became a fine engineer, was employed in the United States service, and became a victim to the malaria of the waters around the Potomac in guarding Washington city.

THE LATEST NEWS. OFFICIAL DESPATCH.

WASHINGTON, June 10.—Owing to the break in the telegraph lines, no despatches were received yesterday from the Army of the Potomac. Despatches have arrived this morning with dates to 9 o'clock last night.

There was no firing on Wednesday, except by the pickets. An arrangement had been effected by which the killed and wounded between the lines were gathered in.

There was no movement yesterday. A deserter who came into our lines, reports that General Hunter's victory near Staunton, was much more complete than the Richmond papers reported. He says that Hunter took twenty cannon, many prisoners and a large quantity of stores. The defeated force was recently a part of Breckinridge's command. Gen. Hunter's report has not yet been received.

EDWIN M. STANTON, Secretary of War.

FROM GRANT'S ARMY. WASHINGTON, June 10.—Headquarters Army of the Potomac, June 8.—Nothing of interest has transpired to-day. Along the greater part of the line the utmost quiet prevailed until about 5 P. M., when some skirmishing took place on the left. Captain McEwen, of General Hancock's staff, who lost his leg by a shell on Sunday evening, is still alive, although no hopes are entertained of his recovery.

REPORTS OF SOUTHERN PAPERS. WASHINGTON, June 10.—The Richmond

Examiner of the 7th says that General Jones, commanding the forces in the valley, was defeated by General Hunter on Sunday, near Crawford, and that they retreated on Waynesboro. It says a rumor was current in Richmond of disaster, including the loss of guns and trains, but the Secretary of War announced that there was no truth in them, and that all the guns and trains were got off safely. General Jones was killed in the action. It says that the withdrawal of Breckinridge was a sad mistake, and that the Yankees took advantage of the weakness of their force to overthrow them. Rumors were also rife in Richmond that Lexington, Ky., had been taken, the Military Institute burned, &c.

It was also reported that Grant's army was falling back to the White House. Fifty prisoners arrived from Lee's army on Monday, among them Second Lieutenant O. Campbell, 8th New York, wounded; First Lieutenant B. B. Lathbury, 18th Pa., also wounded; Lieut. E. Matthews, 1st Vermont Cavalry; Captain D. Beattie, 7th New York.

A dispatch from Lee's army June 6, 7 P. M., says: Last evening the enemy abandoned our left and part of our centre in great haste. Early this morning they retreated to-day capturing 60 prisoners, who say that Grant has gone to the White House, because his men will not fight.

The impression here is, however, that Grant is making for the James River to cross to the south side. Despatches from North Georgia, dated June 6th, state that the Union army is still making towards Abington. Hooker's corps are fortifying the hills between Aekworth and Atlanta. Heavy rains for two days had made the roads almost impassable for artillery, and retarded the movement considerably. Some slight skirmishing occurred near Lost Mountain on the 5th of June. All was quiet on the morning of the 6th. Later accounts say that the Union army had crossed the railroad near Aekworth, and Hooker was said to be five miles east on the old Atlanta road. General Johnston's headquarters were west of Marietta, and his left at Lost Mountain, Hardee commanding the right. The York cavalry dashed into Big Shanty at 10 o'clock, A. M., June 6th, and were fighting William's brigade when the reporter left.

A dispatch from Mobile, June 6th, says the steamer Oregon was captured this morning while attempting to run the blockade. She had an assorted cargo. The operator at Jackson, on the 13th reported, on the authority of a scout, that Marmaduke is blockading the Mississippi below and above Greenville. His force is large. He destroyed three transports, sinking two cargoes, besides crippling three gunboats and other transports. Four transports are between the batteries, and can't go up or down.

The Examiner, in an article discussing Grant's policy and the probable course he will pursue, says Grant's fortifications situated what was predicted, retreat. He moves away from Lee's front. Where is he going? If he cannot reach the city by Coal Harbor, he cannot come at all on that side. The better opinion is that he will not attempt the south side. But he hopes to reach it. Grant has tried his own plan, tried McClellan's plan, and may now try Butler's plan, too, if he chooses, but will find it no better than the others.

It is suggested that he be appointed to perform the duties of clerk in the post office in Richmond, the clerks being all in the field. The post office in Mobile is on a daily run by ladies. Even my in the use of water is advised in Richmond, as the works are out of repair and cannot be worked to their full capacity. The Confederate States Treasury, says the same paper, is for the first time in the history of the Government without a dollar to pay anybody with. Much grumbling is indulged in on that subject. Since June 1st to the evening of the 5th, 1400 privates and forty-six officers had arrived at Richmond as prisoners from Gen. Lee.

OUR MOVEMENTS NEAR THE CHICKAHOMINY.

Dispatch Station—Richmond and York River Railroad, June 8.—The first and 4th Divisions of the corps reached here this morning. It was 3 o'clock, A. M., when the men began the march. When day dawned the rebels on the north side of the Chickahominy observed the moving column, and opened on it with two guns of very heavy calibre.

Several men were injured while marching in the ranks. Col. Hoffman's brigade, of the 4th Division, immediately took possession of this side of the railroad bridge.

A barricade was thrown across the railroad about half a mile below this station. Between us and the rebels flows the Chickahominy, a stenuous, sluggish stream, bounded on either side by jungles and morasses, from which is continually arising dampness and noxious vapors.

At this point the stream is not more than 100 yards in width but the bridge is three times as long. All the track is in excellent running order, a little rusty from disuse but still quite complete, with switches and side tracks in good repair.

During the afternoon the rebels mounted a heavy piece upon a truck, and approached within a short distance of the bridge.

They threw some 6 inch shells over our men, which elicited considerable criticism from those happening to make narrow escapes. Rifle pits were dug, and a long line of fortifications begun. For a time the skirmishers were friendly and conversed with each other across the river, but before dark they were using every species of finesse to cause one another to expose his body to be shot.

Fremont's Letter.

General Fremont writes a long letter of acceptance of the nomination for the Presidency, and concludes as follows:

"If the Convention at Baltimore will nominate any man whose past life justifies well grounded confidence in his fidelity to our cardinal principles, there is no reason why there should be any division among really patriotic men of the country

To any such I shall be most happy to give my most cordial and active support. My own decided preference is to aid in this way, and not be myself a candidate. But if Lincoln be renominated, as I believe it would be fatal to the country to endorse a policy and renew a power which has cost us the lives of thousands of men, and needlessly plunged the country in bankruptcy there will be no alternative but to organize against them every element of conservatism and opposition, with a view to prevent the misfortune of his re-election. In this contingency I accept the nomination at Cleveland, and as a preliminary step I have resigned my commission in the army. This was the sacrifice it gave me to take, but I had for a long time fruitlessly endeavored to obtain service. I make this sacrifice now only to regain liberty of speech and leave nothing in the way of my discharging to the best of my ability the task you have set before me. With earnest and sincere thanks for your expressions of confidence and regard, and for the manner in which you acquaint me with the action of the Convention, I am, gentlemen,

Very respectfully yours, (Signed) J. C. FREMONT. John Cochrane has also written a letter accepting the nomination for Vice President.

Substitutes and Commutation. We publish the following Act of Congress with regard to drafted men, which our readers will be able to understand after a careful perusal.

And be it further enacted, That any person drafted into the military service of the United States may, before the time fixed for his appearance at the draft rendezvous, furnish an acceptable substitute, subject to such rules and regulations as may be prescribed by the Secretary of War. That if such substitute is not liable to draft, the person furnishing him shall be exempt from draft during the time for which said substitute is not liable to draft, not exceeding the term for which he was drafted; and if such substitute is liable to draft, the name of the person furnishing him shall again be placed on the roll, and shall be liable to draft on future calls; but not until the present enrollment shall be exhausted; and this exemption shall not exceed the term for which such person shall have been drafted. And any person now in the military service of the United States, not publicly disqualified, who has so served more than one year, and whose term of unexpired service shall not at the time of substitution exceed six months, may be employed as a substitute to serve in the troops of the State in which he enlisted; and if any drafted person shall hereafter pay money for the procurement of a substitute, under the provisions of the act to which this is an amendment, such payment of money shall operate only to relieve such person from draft in filling that quota; and his name shall be retained on the roll in filling future quotas; but in no instance shall the exemption of any person, on account of his payment of commutation money for the procurement of a substitute, extend beyond one year; but at the end of one year, in every such case, the name of any person so exempted shall be enrolled again, if not before returned to the enrollment list under the provisions of this section."

MANHOOD: HOW LOST, HOW RESTORED. Just published, a new edition of DR. CULVERWELL'S CELEBRATED ESSAY on the radical cure (without medicine) of SPERMATORRHOEA, or seminal weakness, Irregular Sexual Losses, Impotency, Mental and Physical Debility, Impediments in Marriage, etc.; also, Gonorrhoea, EPILEPSY, and FITS, induced by self-indulgence or sexual extravagance.

The celebrated author in this admirable essay clearly demonstrates, from a thirty years successful practice, that the alarming consequences of self-abuse may be radically cured without the dangerous use of internal medicine or the application of the knife—pointing out a mode of cure, at once simple, certain and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately, and radically.

The peculiar tint or infection which we call SCROFULA lurks in the constitutions of multitudes of men. It either produces or is produced by an enfeebled, vitiated state of the blood, wherein that fluid becomes incompetent to sustain the vital forces in their vigorous action, and leaves the system to fall into disorder and decay. The scrofulous contamination is variously caused by mercurial disease, low living, disordered digestion from unwholesome food, impure air, filth and filthy habits, the depressing vicissitudes, and, above all, by the venereal infection. Whatever be its origin, it is hereditary in the constitution, descending "from parents to children unto the third and fourth generation." Indeed, it seems to be the root of "Him who says, 'I will visit the iniquities of the fathers upon their children.'" The diseases which it originates take various names, according to the organs it attacks. In the lungs, Scrofula produces tubercles, and finally Consumption; in the glands, swellings which suppurate and become ulcers; in the stomach and bowels, deranged digestion, protracted indigestion, dyspepsia, and liver complaints; on the skin, eruptive and cutaneous affections. These all having the same origin, require the same remedy, viz. purification and invigoration of the blood. Purify the blood, and these dangerous distempers leave you. With recte, food, or corrupted blood, you cannot have health; with that "life of the flesh," healthy, you cannot have scrofulous disease.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla is compounded from the most efficient antidotes that medical science has discovered for this afflicting distemper, and for the cure of the disorders it entails. That it is far superior to any other remedy yet devised, is known by all who have given it a trial. That it does combine virtues truly extraordinary in their effect upon this class of complaints, is indisputably proven by the great multitude of publicly known and remarkable cures it has made of the following diseases: King's Evil or Glandular Swellings, Tumors, Eruptions, Pimples, Blisters and Sores, Erysipelas, Rose or St. Anthony's Fire, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Coughs from tuberculous deposits in the lungs, White Swellings, Debility, Dropsy, Neuralgia, Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Syphilis and Syphilitic Infections, Mercurial Diseases, Female Weaknesses, and, indeed, the whole series of complaints that arise from impurity of the blood. Minute reports of individual cases may be found in AYER'S AMERICAN ALMANAC, which is named on the druggists for gratis list of distribution, wherein may be learned the directions for its use, and some of the remarkable cures which it has made when all other remedies had failed to afford relief. Those cases are purposely taken from all sections of the country, in order that every reader may have access to some one who can speak to him of its benefits from personal experience. Scrofula depresses the vital energies, and thus leaves its victims far more subject to disease and its fatal results than are healthy constitutions. Hence it tends to shorten, and does greatly shorten, the average duration of human life. The vast importance of these considerations has led us to spend years in perfecting a remedy which is adequate to its cure. This we now offer to the public under the name of AYER'S SARSAPARILLA, although it is composed of ingredients, some of which exceed the best of Sarsaparilla in alterative power. By its use you may protect yourself from the suffering and danger of scrofulous diseases. Purge out the foul corruptions that rot and fester in the blood; purge out the causes of disease, and vigorous health will follow. By its peculiar virtues this remedy stimulates the vital functions, and thus expels the distempers which lurk within the system or burst out on any occasion.

We know the public have been deceived by many compounds of Sarsaparilla, that promised much and did nothing; but they will neither be deceived nor disappointed in this. Its virtues have been proven by abundant trial, and there remains no question of its surpassing excellence for the cure of the afflicting diseases it is intended to reach. Although under the same name, it is a very different medicine from any other which has been before the people, and is far more effectual than any other which has ever been available to them.
