North and South.

There is one of which our people may be assured, the leading rebels of the in the service, --Pittsburg Post. South, who have staked their all upon this rebellion, do not desire anything more than the re-election of Abraham Lincoln. If they could throw a bomb shell into the Chicago Convention, and divide the concervative party, they would be content. They wish the Republican party to remain united, and to re-elect their caudidate. They know that the Democrats of the North are not their friends, but that the Republicans are. They know that the Democratic party will do nothing to sustain rebellion or encourage it; that all the united efforts of that party will tend MONTREAL do. do. to crush, while the united efforts of the Republican party in any direction will | WASHINGTON LINE OF SAILING tend to foster and sustain it.

There is only one method by which they can hope to retain their hold upon the public opinion of the South, and that is by teaching them that the dominant party in the North is determined to war upon their domestic rights. They know that the Democratic party will not do this, hence they will do all they can to prevent its obtaining the ascendency. Davis, when he says the musket will be handed from the father to the son, does not speak for the people of the South ; he speaks for the leaders. The great national calamity is here : cents. the secessionists of the South, and the Abolition administration of the North, both of whom hold the bayonet over all the rest of the people, are equally hostile to the old Union and Constitution.
