

TREATMENT OF CHOLERA.

We have already published an account of the highly successful treatment of the cholera and of the remedies employed by Dr. Hamlin, of Constantinople, and other missionaries, during the prevalence of the disease in Turkey last season.

Cholera is a disease of the stomach and intestines, manifested by purging and vomiting, and running, sooner or later, into discharges like water with rice boiled in it.

To meet these conditions, the following directions must be carefully followed:

1. For the stage of diarrhoea. This may come on insidiously, painless, and hence not alarming, but should be met promptly.

2. For the vomiting stage, the best remedy is Landanum, Tincture of Rhubarb, and Spirits of Camphor. Begin with 30 drops, taken clear and unmixed, with a little sugar placed in the mouth afterwards.

equal parts: to be given, from 40 to 60 drops, undiluted and followed by sugar, after every fit of vomiting; taking care to give it as soon as the fit ceases, when it will be more likely to be retained.

3. For the stage of malignancy, the only remedy is stimulants, especially brandy, which must be given with great freedom, from two to four teaspoonfuls every half or even quarter hour, till heat returns, and pulse and sensibility of extremities are restored.

The use of cold water must be strictly forbidden, except merely to gargle the throat; a very small quantity, swallowed, will bring on the diarrhoea after it has been stopped for hours.

A Negro in Accomac county, Va., a few days ago went to the residence of a Captain Drummond, and not finding him at home, killed Mrs. Drummond and a servant woman, and plundered the house, carrying off fifteen hundred dollars in greenbacks.

General Cass, now at his residence in Detroit, is gradually sinking, and his friends think he cannot live much longer. He is in the eighty-fourth year of his age.

The Crawford county National Bank, of Meadville, Pa., and the Venango National Bank of Pa., are the only ones seriously affected by the failure of Culver, Penn & Co., of New York.
