

Wit and Humor.

A MAN HIS OWN GRANDFATHER. —The following has been translated for the New Haven Register:
A European friend of mine related the following story: I married a widow, who had a grown up daughter. My father visited our house very often, fell in love with my step-daughter and married her. So my father became my son-in-law and my step-daughter my mother, because she was my father's wife. Some time afterwards my wife got a son—he was my father's brother-in-law, and my uncle, for he was the brother of my step-mother.
My brother's wife, that is, my step-daughter, had also a son, he was my brother and in the meantime my grandchild, for he was the son of my daughter.
My wife was my grandmother, because she was my mother's mother. I was my wife's husband and grand child at the same time. And as the husband of a person's grand-mother is his grandfather, I was my own grandfather.

A few weeks since, the family horse of the late President Lincoln, was sold at public auction in Chicago. He was bid in by the owner of $63—$60 being the highest sum offered. The animal was 18 years old.—“Exchange.”

The “Jeffersonian” remarks that here was a case of extreme “disloyalty”—an act of open rebellion. The family horse of Abraham Lincoln, the dead saint of Ford's Theatre, the martyred Tyson of abolitionism, sold or bought in rather by his owner, for the paltry sum of 65 dollars! Alas for the memory of the great departed!—the much vaunted and glorified “Old Abe!” Was it not enough that his funeral car should have been sold for almost nothing, without the last refusal of his political friends to buy his dear old family horse which was only 18 years old? Oh! the ingratitude of the abolition party! Have they forgotten their well-loved ally? Are not his articles of property any longer sacred to them? Do they not love his dear old horse, or his moody cow, or his fall pony? Truly was this last “The most milk-kick out of all.”

A young man, on the important occasion of making her boy his first pair of trousers, conceived the idea that it would be more economical to make them of the same dimensions behind and before, so that they might be changed about and wear evenly. Their effect, when donned by the little fellow, was very ridiculous. Papa at first sight of the baggy garment, burst into a roar of laughter, and exclaimed: “Oh, my dear, how could you have the heart to do it? Why, the poor little fellow won't know whether he's going to school or coming home.”

The Boston “Transcript” says that in September, 1810, a gentleman of this city procured insurance here upon a house in Essex county, then owned and occupied by his three sisters. On Tuesday the same gentleman renewed the insurance for another term of seven years, the house being still owned and occupied by the same three sisters as it was fifty years ago.

A young wife renounced with her husband, a dissipated spendthrift, on his conduct. “My love,” said he, “I am only like the prodigal son; I shall return by-and-by.” “And I will be like the prodigal son, too,” she replied, “for I will arise and go to my father, and accordingly she went.

“Pompey, why am de River James like lager beer?”
“Dun? do you? Gives ‘um up,” said Pompey.

“Kase it runs into de Dutch Gap! Yah! yah!”

FROM THE Largest Manufacturing Chemist IN THE WORLD.

I am acquainted with H. T. Helmbold, he occupied the drug store opposite my residence, and was successful in conducting the business where others had not been equally so before him. I have been favorably impressed with his character and enterprise. WM. WRIGHTMAN, (Firm of Powers & Wrightman.) Manufacturing Chemists, Ninth and Brown Sts., Philadelphia.

We are gratified to hear of the continued success, in New York, of our townsman, Mr. H. T. Helmbold, Druggist. His store, next to the Metropolitan Hotel, is 28 feet front, 230 feet deep, and five stories high. It is certainly a grand establishment, and speaks favorably of the merit of his articles. He retains his Office and Laboratory in this city, which are also model establishments of their class.
The proprietor has been induced to make this statement from the fact that his remedies, although advertised, are GENUINE PREPARATIONS. And, knowing that the intelligent refrain from using anything pertaining to Quackery, or the Patent Medicine order—most of which are prepared by self styled Doctors, who are too ignorant to read a physician's simple prescription, much less competent to prepare pharmaceutical preparations.

THESE PARTIES RESORT to various means of effecting sales, such as copying parts of advertisements of popular remedies, and finishing with certificates. The Science of Medicine stands SIMPLE PURE, and MAJESTIC,—having Faith for its Basis, Induction for its Pillar, Truth alone for its Capital.

A WORD OF CAUTION. Health is most important; and the afflicted should not use an advertised medicine, or any remedy, unless its contents or ingredients are known to others besides the manufacturer, or until they are satisfied of the qualification of the party so offering.
