A LADY'S HAT.

Then, more the Home Journal, reads the erigizai lizes, spos a lody's hat. O, it cost but a hundred dollars, And was just the sweetest thing;

Personal above a queen of collars, Tied with vast expense of string. And the fringe weighed twenty success Round her mentle short and each And her allk broads with Hounces, Billed the pow superbly full. Daluty gloves, and berchief broidered In her pedim-book kept the stope; All the things she were was ordered From the first Parisian shops.

But that hundred dollar bounci-That's the gem I wish to paint:-Such a shower of things were on it, Quite enough to craze a mint.

O, I sould not hear a word of What the pious pastor said, For the shapes and shines unbeard of That were floating round her head.

Bands, and plames, and flowers and laces. Passies more than you could name And they say Miss Dubeey's eases Bosst a dozen just the same.

How I wonder who shall wear them: If the peater seeks to teach By his text he well may spare them:

Tie the milliners that preach. All our eyes such nights are drinking. Counting o'er their costs anew; And we break the Sabbath thinking, What if we could went them ton?

How to Ruin a Meighbor's Business.

Some time since (so runs the present narra tive,) the owner of a thriving mutton-pie concern, which after much difficulty he had succeeded in establishing, with borrowed capital, died before he had well extricated himself from the responsibilities of debt. The widow carried on the busineed after his decease, and throve so well that a speculating baker, on the opposite side of the way, made her an offer of his hand. The lady refused, and the enraged suitor, determined on revenge, immediately converted his baking into an opposition pie-shop; and, acting on the principal universal among London bakers, of doing business for the first month or two at a loss, made his pies twice as hig as he could honestly afford to make them. The consequence was that the widow lost her custom, and was hastening to ruin, when a friend of her late husband, who was also a small creditor, paid her a visit. She detailed her grievances to him, and lamented her lost Hivato China Kean, or Hivato Chinese Balsam trade and fearful prospects. "Oh, oh!" said her friend, "that 'ere's the move, is it! Never you ! there sint no snakes, mark me—that's all!" So saying be took his leave. About eight o'clock was crammed to overflowing, and the principal was below, superintending the production of a new batch, the widow's friend in the costume of a keanel raker, and elbowing his way to the country, daba down upon it a brace of huge dead cate, vociferating at the same time to the astonished vociferating at the same time to the astonished damael in attendance, "Tell your master, my dear, as how these two make six-sind-tairty this sprains from little Age in the F ce. Nervous Head and South Age. From Wounds, Chapped House, Caterin Many, Ac. week, and my I'll bring the other four tomorrer arternoon!" With that he swaggered out and W. C. Sweet's Celebrated Infallible Eye Water went his way. So powerful was the prejudice against cat-mutton among the population of that neighborhood, that the shop was rlear in an in- Dr. J. Vanderburg's celebrated Kother Tiucture stant, and the floor was covered with hastily abaudoned specimens of every variety of segments of street, experienced an unusually large demand for "goes" of brandy, and ejaculations, not puregrammatical, were not merely audibie but visible to all in the district. It is averred that the ingesious expedient of the widow's friend, founded as it was upon a profound knowledge of human prejudices, had the desired effect of restoring the "bilance of trade." The widow recovered her commerce; the resentful baker was done as brown as if he had been shut up in his own even; and the friend who brought shout this messure of justice received the hand of the lady as a reward for his interference.

Never has there been a more complete changin sublic acatiment than that which has taken place, within three weeks or less, in regard to the Justice of the course pursued by the people of Brie, in their opposition to the unsurpations, and oppressions of the railroad interests of Ohio and New Pork. So far as public opinion is concerned, the future efforts of the paid Presses, from New York to Buffalo, and the echoes, East, South and West, will be entirely fruitless; people have learned to distrust them. The "Satanie" Herald, the "Sanctimonious Tribune," the gentle Conrier and Enquirer, and all that race in Eastern cities, may invest their fat bribes, and turn their keye to tune the Provincial Press, but they will either fail to draw forth harmonious sounds, or the people will refuse to listen to the music. Facts will not be concealed. Truth will not be hidden. These Presses have had the brazen effrontery to keep thundering in our ears, that thousands of our fellow citizens of Eric county, Porsian Twills, Cockmer, Raw Silk and Saxony Plaid, Pa., were in arms, determined to arrest the course of commerce between the Rast and the West, that a few small beer shops might sell cakes and pice! That the object of the railried managemeet, was, to connect the East and the West by an unbrokes line of communication. Did they amprove that the truth was always to be covered of order of the best Gro de Raine, Late String and by some String and by some String and District order of the best Gro de Raine, Late String and by some String and by some String and by some String and by some String and District order of the best Gro de Raine, Late String and by some Strin ment, was, to connect the East and the West by by so mean a slander, and so shallow a lie? Of source not; but the lie and the slander would apewer until the objects sought was attained, and they were well paid for inventing and propagating them. The letter of M. B. Lowry, which Silk Thibet, Bay State, long and square, Misses and will give our readers an insight, to the means med to defraud the State of Pennsylvania and Collars.

The letter is interesting particularly as throwing Hight on the Eric troubles; but it also has a deep sensual interest, issuanch as it developes somethise of the corrupting influences of mammoth corporations, and will serve when put along with our railroad experiences, to assist in forming a correct judgement of the course to be pursued toward them .- Yipeilanti Sentinel

UUE OF MEN VOIS BISEASES.

We language can convey an adequate idea of the immediate and almost mirrouses change which it occasions in the disseared, debitized and shattered nervous system. Whether brois ken down by excess, weak by majare, or impaired by sickness, the unarrays and relaxed organization is at once re-braced, revivided, and built up. The moutal and physical symptoms of nervous discuss vanish together nader its influence. Nor is the effect temporary. On the contrary, the relief is permanent, for the cordial properties of the medicine reach the constitution of suif, and restore it to its normal condition. Well may the prepation to the contrary of the ansertenth century—it is, as the first actientific men in the old world have admitted;
