Boots and Shoes.

Again we come in measured rhymes. But change the theme as change the times. The kire Railroad war has ended And peace has to her throne ascended: And quickly with returning peace. Let every bitter passion cease.

And cultivate a spirit kind.

No mailtee moves a noble mind.

Throw by the boots by service battered, And call again at number tes, You know the piace you'll find the men; Wilcox will wait on you with pleasers. And cotter stere to take your measures. He left Cheapside,—no matter when, And when he's fairly sized your feet, Ille'if make a boot that can't be best. Ille needs in verse no fame or glory. To eath the Cotter, telle she story. Young men with intelecture expanding. Froest with Boots your widerstanding; Or if the Gatter's better please. Consult your rates, consult your case. Consult your rates, consult your case. The Congress forms with variations liversified in their reinfloss; May better meet your expectations, And entirely your inclinations. Come Landes come, or send your waiters. As ever graced a Lady's Bett. Of termire flue or fishion best, Morocco Bootees, Buskins Sips, Some plain, some paster leather tips, Enameded work with subthers hid.
