THE BRIDAL. BY A CONFIRMED BACKELOR.

Not a laugh was heard, nor a joyous note, As our friend to the bridal was hurried; Not a wit discharged his farewell shot, As the bacheler went to be married.

We married him quickly to save his fright, Our boads from the sad sight turning; And we sigh'd as we stood by the lamp's dim light. To think him not more discorning.

To think that a bachelor free and bright. And shy of the sex as we found him, Should there at the altar at dead of night, Be sought in the snare that bound him.

For and short were the words we said. Though of wine and cake partisking; We escorted him home from the scene of dread, While his knoes were awfully shaking.

Slowly and sadly we marched him adown. From the first-to the lowermost story, We never have heard from or seen the poor man Whom we left alone in his glory.

LIFE IN NEBRASKA.

Now that Congress, the politcians and the people are talking of Nebraska, it may be interest. ing for our readers to accompany us to the territory itself, and see where and what it is, who inabit it, or life in Nebraska.

In visiting this unorganised territory, upon which there is now so much dispute, we must first go by any route we choose to the city of St. Louis. Here we will take a steamboat and foat for hundreds of miles to the mouth of the Kanme river. We land here, and are in the region called Nebraska. If we were pleased to take another steamboat, we could go up the Kansas river, or nearly west, towards the interior.

But let us prefer rather to continue our voyage up the Missouri, still by steamboat, for some hundreds of miles. We are now at the mouth of the Platte river, or the Nebraska, which means "Shallow Bottom" It is rightly named, for though it is from one to three miles wide, it is generally very shallow, and steamboats pass up its waters for only forty miles. By this river Col. Fremont passed much of the way, on his route to California and Oregon in 1842. In his journals of his two expeditions, there is, proba-bly, more information on Nebraska than can be obtained from all other books.

We find Nebraska to be a vast region. By the $11 50, 1 year $14. late census it is estimated at 136,700 square miles or a region as large as New England, New York, $30, 3 months, $15. New Jersey, Delaware and Maryland, and even larger. If organized as proposed by the bill of Mr. Douglas, now pending in Congress, it will be above rates. larger still, as it will embrace much of what has been known as the Indian Territ ry. We find the Northern part of Nebraska as cold as New England; the interior as cold as the climate of the Middle States, and the southern portion with something of the mildness of Virginia. There is, however, this difference; Nebraska is more Asiatic in its climate and general features. There are vast prairies, high table lands, thousands of miles above the level of the sea, rivers | in advance. Hills for yearly advertising will be present of almost interminable length. On the west it half-yearly. A reduction of 10 per cent. will be made on is bounded by the Rocky mountains, whose highall except temporary advertisements, when paid in advance est peaks are covered with perpetual snow. A large portion of the great American desert is in this territory; here many an emigrant, bound for California. has lain down to die, worn out with fatigue and hunger. The soil of Nebraska is mostly fertile; the geological formation being that of lime-stone and sand-stone, which always indicates a good soil. It must, in the future, become ! a fine farming region. Already many young farmers of our country have their eyes upon it, Remaining in the Post Office Bris, April 1, 1854. Those and will be bending thither their steps as soon a Senator Douglas's bill, or any other passes, organizing the territories. But who inhabit Nebraska? Indians, and

Arbuckle Jos hardly any but Indians. It is their grandest Allen Samuel P hunting-ground, and it is supposed that from 75,- Alison Robert 000 to 80,000, or about one-sixth part of all the Ainsworth P a reserd that could be hardly made of any New England weather.

But what is to be the future of Nebraska?-If it teems with life now, it is the life of wild animals, wild Indians, wild flowers, wild vegetation of all kinds. There are reptiles in abundance, and musquitoes, that the traveller has a powerful knowledge of. There are now magnificent rivers, oceans of unoccupied land, great deserts, a whole territory, a wide waste. But all this is to be changed. Steamers are to fly over her waters, and the cars over her lands. Instead of the red men, shall be the white men, instead of wild, domestic animals. The hum of the spindle shall be heard upon her waterfalls. From Nebraska shall spring Nebraska, and Kansas, and from these, other States as good, we trust, as Massachusetts, as New York. and Ohio, and, we hope, as intelligent and as prospercus. No wonder that the organization and peopling of such a vast region makes some stir, both in and out of Congress, for the future inhabitants of this region may control the destines of this eountry at the latest time. The people, far sep-arated from both oceans, and having but few riv-ers that are at all navigable, will be mainly de-voted to agriculture, and if they start right may voted to agriculture, and if they start right, may be as happy and independent as the farmers of New England and New York .- Olior Brunch.
