I'd not recall my childhood

with all its sweet delight,
Its simple, bird-like gladness,
It was not always bright.
Even morning had her tear drops.
And entire has clouded all.

And spring her clouded sky, and on the fairest cradia.

I've seen the shadows he. I'd not recall my childheod, Though tender memorie Around its rosy portals. Pralusive to life's song, The full voice living chorne,

Is swelling round me now And a rosior light is resting I pen my maiden brow. I have made a changeful journey, Up the hill of life since morn,

I have gathered flowers and blossoms,
I've been pierced by many a thorn,
But from out of the the core of sorrow. I have plucked a jewel rare, The strength which mortals gather In their ceaseless strife with care.

Now I grasp life's burning breaker And however the bubbles glow, I'll pause not till I've tasted The deepert was a below It such hitter diegs may mingle The cram-on tide shall roll, In full and tearless currents, furough the fountain of my soul. No! I'd not go back to childhood, From the radiant finsh of noon, And when evening closes round me, I crave one only boon-

How Men "Burst Up!"

Men with unassuming wives never fail. It is the husbands of such women as Mrs. Dash and Lady Brilliant, who find themselves face to face with the Sheriff, and certain mysterious doonments, adorned with red tape and wafers big enough for target exercise. The desire of a New York feminine is to outshine her neighbors-not in mental acquirements, but in ginger-bread ornaments and goldedged coul scuttles. If Mrs. Dath gets up a game supper-woodcock stuffed with gold dust-Lady Brilliant takes the wind out the sail by gathe supper—woodcock stuffed with gold dust—Lady Brilliant takes the wind out the sail by getting up another, in which the prevailing dish will be birds of paradise swimming in a gravy made of melted pearls. It is this rivalry, and not "dabbling in railroad stock," that brings rumation to the fast men of Wall street. The "ill-fortune" of which they complain, is not more or less than a brainless wife. If they would come back to happiness, they should direct their attention, not to the fluctuations of the stock market, but the ruinous absurdities of their own fre-side. Thousand dollar repasts don't pay, while the merchant who purchases hundred dollar handkerchiefs for "a duck of a wife," should not wonder if the time eventually come when "a goose of a husband" lacked shirts, and was but ill supplied with breeches
