Legal Opinion.

We yield to the request of several patrons in giving place to the following legal opinion of a person who has made himself somewhat prominent in opposition to the course taken by the authorities of the city of Erie, in clearing obstructions from the streets. It will be seen that, although applying to another locality, it embodies essentially the same principles. We copy from the Dispatch:

To the Honorable, the Burgess and Town Council of the Borough of Waterford.

GENTLEMEN:—I have examined the questions submitted to me, and the laws relating thereto with considerable care, and for the sake of brevity, instead of answering the several interrogations in their order, will proceed to give you my opinion generally upon the whole subject of the conflict of jurisdiction, between the municipal authorities of the Borough of Waterford, and the private corporation, known as the "Waterford and Marvin's Mills Plank Road Company."

In pursuing inquiries of this kind, one fixed point must be kept constantly in view, viz: That in all collisions between private corporations and municipal or popular rights, the former must always yield to the latter, in other words upon such issues, when doubts exist, every construction is rightfully in favor of the latter and against the former, but in the case before me, I do not perceive much room even for a doubt.

The act of the 48th of April, 1795, (sect. 9,) provides that, "Whereas Andrew Ellicott, lately surveyed and laid out a town within the tract heretofore reserved for public use at LeBœuf, near the head of the navigation of French Creek." * * "That the * * draft and plan of the town so surveyed and laid out," * * * "shall be and the same is hereby in all respects, accepted, satisfied, confirmed and established with such streets, lanes, alleys and reservations, for public uses as are in said draft or plan particularly contained; and the commissioners herein before directed to be appointed, shall also survey or cause to be surveyed, five hundred acres of land, adjoining the said last mentioned town, for out lots; and the same shall be divided, in such manner, and with such streets, lanes and alleys, as the said commissioners shall direct," * * * * "And the said last mentioned town shall be called Waterford, and all the streets, lanes and alleys thereof, and the outlets thereto adjoining, shall be and forever remain common highways."

By this act and the sale of the lots in said town adjoining, and bounded by said "streets, lanes and alleys," the Commonwealth surrendered her jurisdiction over the same, excepting so far as to vest authority somewhere, to open and keep the same in repair. These streets, &c., became the "private property for public use" of the lot holders; hence as by the constitution, the rights of private property, (except when taken for public use, and thereupon jut compensation being made,) are preserved inviolate—the Legislature could not direct or appropriate these streets to any other purpose whatever.

By an act passed April 8th, 1833, Waterford, comprising the "town and out lots" aforementioned was incorporated into a Borough. Section 29th of the said act, authorizes the Burgess and Town Council to "improve, repair, and keep in good order, the streets, alleys," &c., "and also to appoint annually one or more street supervisors."—Here the Commonwealth vests in the Burgess and Town Council, all the authority that remained to her over the said streets and alleys. Section 30th of the same act provides "that it shall be the duty of the street supervisors to open and repair the streets in the said Borough, and to erect and repair the bridges and causeways in the same under the direction and supervision of the said Burgess and Town Council. This act then, gives you directly, and indirectly under the management of the supervisor, whom you may appoint, subject to your direction and control, the entire management and control of the streets, lanes, alleys, bridges, causeways, &c., within the Borough of Waterford. The Legislature, if so disposed, could not subvert your control in that respect, without at least providing some other municipal regulations for the purpose, independent of any private corporation. Has anything of the kind been attempted? I answer, clearly not. The act of 12th April, 1851, incorporating the "Waterford and Marvin's Mills Plank Road Company," in the first section thereof, clothes the said company with power to construct a Plank Road from Waterford, in Erie County, to connect with or intersect the Meadville and Edinboro Plank Road, at or near Marvin's Mill in Crawford County, to be located on any part of the common road, be*tween the two points aforesaid if deemed expedient* by the directors; under the grant as expressed by the term "from Waterford" may they construct their road within the Township? I apprehend they may. The lands or most of them, within the township were surveyed and sold without reference to roads—none then existing or at the time being laid out. These roads are the creation of subsequent regulations, subordinate, therefore, to the paramount authority of the State Legislature.—Not so with the streets, lanes and alleys within the Borough, for the reasons before stated. This corporation cannot construct a grade, or lay one foot of plank upon any "street, lane or alley" within the bounds of the Borough without your consent and agreement and upon such terms and conditions and regulations as you may dictate, nor even then in such manner as will in any wise obstruct the free use of those streets, &c., as public highways.

The final question then, that remains to be answered is, if the said company or any other private corporation, either with or without colorable chartered prerogative, should attempt to occupy any "street, lane, or alley" in the Borough of Waterford, without your consent, in contravention of your authority, or in defiance of your supervision and direction, what is your remedy? The question is a plain one and the answer may be equally explicit. The proceedings on their part would be without authority of law, and therefore the parties concerned as individuals, might be prosecuted for creating a nuisance, or otherwise the company in its corporate capacity might be restrained by injunction. You may answer with some propriety that the delay necessarily incident to the pursuit of either of those remedies, might enable the adverse party to complete the wrong meditated or begun. I am aware of this difficulty, and therefore suggest another remedy, equally safe, in my opinion, for you, but positively summary. Proceed in legal form yourselves.—Direct your "street supervisor or supervisors" with such adequate force under his direction, as may be necessary peaceably to "open" the street, by removing obstructions, to "repair" it by leveling embankments, and to keep it in good order, by demolishing such other structures, in the shape of "bridges" or "causeways" as do not answer your use or conform to your requirements and the public safety. If any parties aggrieved doubt your authority in the premises, let them resort to Judicial proceedings. and I apprehend, they will in due time find that no law exists, or can exist, giving to a private chartered monopoly the power ruthlessly to trample upon the rights of citizens!

I am, Gentlemen, respectfully, &c.,

J. B. JOHNSON.

Erie, Pa., Sept. 26, 1853.

It should be stated, as the basis of the above, that the Waterford and Marvin's Mills Plank Road Company desired to extend within the limits of the Borough of Waterford to Main street. The Burgess and Town Council were opposed to their so doing, and by way of shielding themselves in their course of opposition procured this Opinion.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., May 18th, 1851

DR. S. A. WEAVER, Dear Sir:—I feel a pleasure in communicating to you some of the facts in relation to the wonderful effects of your Canker and Salt Rheum Syrup and Cerate in my own family. My little boy about 8 years of age has been troubled from an infant, with some form of disease, which was supposed ofttimes to depend upon a humor. He would often be taken suddenly ill, and then it was supposed to be worms which troubled him. Occasionally sores would appear upon the surface of his body, especially about the face and nose, and we noticed at such times he appeared better in his general health. His sick turns finally predominated, and he gradually sunk into a serious and critical condition. We gave him medicines for worms, but could not see any material difference in the symptoms. We then gave him medicines, highly recommended for humors and such other medicines as we thought adapted to the case, but still could perceive no benefit. It was the opinion of many that the child could not survive in his present condition, for he became very much emaciated, restless and peevish, requiring the constant attention of a faithful nurse. He became alarmed for his safety and called in a physician, who evidently strove to restore him. I had heard much of Dr. S. A. Weaver's Canker and Salt Rheum Syrup, and as a last resort determined to make a trial of it on the child. I accordingly procured a bottle and commenced giving it to him in small doses. Very soon sores began to appear on the surface, and as we proceeded they gradually increased in number and size, until running together, well nigh covered his face and limbs with a solid scab. I procured the Cerate and applied it to these sores, which immediately began to improve in appearance, until, by a continuation they were entirely healed. New sores occasionally appeared but were soon healed in the same manner as before. From the time the first sores appeared externally, the childs general health began to improve, his appetite was restored, his spirits revived, and he seemed playful and healthy. Since the humor has been driven out and cured, by these invaluable remedies the child has suffered none of those sudden attacks of which I have spoken, but has been a hardy, rugged, healthy child. It would be impossible to make a more perfect cure of the mighty change which has taken place in my child since using these medicines, unless they had seen him in his sickness and could see him now. I most cordially recommend these popular remedies which have thus snatched a little sufferer from the grave and restored gladness to a stricken father's home. I do so the more cheerfully hoping that others severely afflicted may have perfect confidence in these invaluable preparations.

Domestic goods in one and the mighty change which has taken place in my child since using these medicines, unless they had seen him in his sickness and could see him now. I most cordially recommend these popular remedies which have thus snatched a little sufferer from the grave and restored gladness to a stricken father's home. I do so the more cheerfully hoping that others severely afflicted may have perfect confidence in these invaluable preparations.
