------LOSS OF THE STEAMER ARCTIC.

New York, Oct. 11-8 30 A. M. 3. The steamer Arctic was lost off Cape Race of the 27th ult. Only 32 known to be saved. Eighteen have arrived here.

he Arctic came in collision with an unknown propeller as noon on the 27th September, about 40 miles off Cape Race, in a dense fog. The speed of the Arctic was about 18 knots an hour, and the propellor had all sails set with a strong fair wind.

It was at first supposed that the Arctic had sustained little or no injury, and assistance was immediately rendered to the propeller, which was frightfully damaged: but it was soon discovered that the Arctic was leaking fast, and it gained so I rapidly that the fires were soon extinguished ----Every effort was then made to save those on the Arctic-but as four or five boats had left to render assistance to the propeller, there was but one left, which was soon filled, and a raft was hastily constructed. A panic took possession of those on board the

I there obtained and toolicharge of a small schooner, which was hired by the penser and myself, and went famediately in search of the wreck and the bosts. We cruised round in a strong gale of wind from the northeast, but discovered no trace of the ship or boats. I sent word to Captain Leitch, of the City of Philadelphia, acquainted him with the catastro-phe; and I am informed that he sent off two yessels which he had employed about his own ship. Mr Allen Goodridge, of Renews. also sent off a vessel, on Saturday evening. It is with the greatest regret I have to report that no trace of the Arctic or the boats could be found, but as there were many vessels in the neighborhood, it is not at all improbable that many lives may have been saved. There is no doubt in my mind of the total loss of the Arctic. WM. BALKAM. Second officer.

ANOTHER DEED OF BLOOD .- Yesterday morning Mr. Benj. Lawrence, who had been shot in the back by Benj. Johnson, late of Lexington, Ky., died from the effects of the wound. His system had been paralyzed from the moment he recoived the fatal shot, and after lingering three days expired about 4 o'clock yesterday morning,
