Indians who made their escape. After asking some questions in English concerning the "crasy Indians," he departed, and after nine miles travel, came to the Missouri river. He made a raft of logs and crossed over. Travelling due east, he continued his journey nine weeks, before he arrived at White Lake, in Minnesola, during all f which time he had subsisted apon game, which he killed with his bow and arrow. He semained there three days, and sold his accountrements for clothing, and then made his way for this State. He arrived here in the cars. Barney is a man of considerable intelligence.
