NEW-YORK.

Correspondence of the Erie Observer.

NEW YORK, Jan. 26, 1855.

The Storm—Skating—A Home—Mayor Wood—Mormon Funds—A Difficulty—Fillibusters—Newsboys Concert—New Steamer, &c., &c.

We have been blessed, Mr. Editor, with a snow-storm—a real genuine old-fashioned snow storm—the first of the season. New York to-day is not the place it was forty-eight hours ago. All the streets appear clean—no crowds of idlers lounging around the Park, complaining for the want of work, and getting up "indignation meetings" against the rich. No mud-besprattered coats or lazy omnibusses. Everybody seems to enjoy it. The newsboys are pelting each other with snow-balls and raising a loud hurrah. Merry gleeful parties are passing, shouting as they go, "Jordan is a hard road to travel," with their 2 40 nags that seem to be trying to raise a horse-laugh amid the giggling of the bells. The music of the spade and hoe are heard on every side walk. Even women may be seen in almost every uptown street shoveling snow for their bread and butter.

Several confectioners in this city and Brooklyn, have been sadly hoaxed of late, by a well appearing lady ordering for a large party an entainment of the choicest and most expensive luxuries the market affords, prepaired and sent to her residence, at a particular hour in the evening. Upon reaching the number designated, no such person was known; no order given, or party expected. The caterer had nothing to do but pocket the loss and give his friends a treat to save "the fixings" All she gained by the move appears to be a few sweet meats she carried home as samples.

Mayor Wood has thus far done better than any other chief magistrate in this city for many years. He has almost entirely stopped the sale of liquor on the Sabbath.—The city is becoming clean. The Police seem to do their duty better, and feel that they have a head one who is after them. He has opened a "Complaint Book," which is a register of all sorts of grievances, which keeps one man in recording them. It seems a wonder it has not before been opened. If the Mayor keeps on as he has begun, he will belie all his antecedents and happily disappoint good men. Other Mayors have been engaged in other business and could only devote a portion of their time to their official duties. Mayor Wood devotes himself entirely to his duties, and seems determined to carry out the laws. I verily believe if the Maine liquor law is passed and goes into operation that Mayor Wood (who is no temperance man) will enforce that also, while it remains a law and the Mayor in power. If so, what a revolution we should see in this city with her five thousand grog shops, and millions spent in liquid poison.

The Mayor has issued his edict against gamblers and fortune tellers. McGuckin, the late teller of the Ocean Bank, has been brought from the Toombs and made to testify against the gambling house in Broadway and Warren streets.

Gen. Almante, the Mexican Minister at Washington, has entered a complaint against P D Arrangois, late Consul General, for retaining $70,000 as his commission upon the seven millions of dollars received from the U S Government deposited for Mexico—holding that the Consul was entitled to no commissions over and above his salary of $3,000 per annum.

The steamer Massachusetts has been seized and brought back to her wharf by the U. S Marshal Muskets and ammunition were found on board, and it is supposed that she was bound on a fillibustering expedition and it is rumored that other vessels are preparing for a similar expedition. The Massachusetts formerly ran down the Sound between New York and Norwich.

A concert is to be given by the Newsboys next Wednesday even ing, at the Tabernacle. A rehearsal took place last evening at their lodging house. A good work is going on among them—many of those our aid may yet make worthy men.

The steamer Arago, just built to replace the Humboldt on the line between New York and Havre is finished and ready for launching. She cost $450,000 and will carry 200 passengers. ERIE

P. S. The snow has turned to rain, and our fine sleighing is fast disappearing, much to the regret of the beaux and belles.
