ADOLPHUS GETS INSPIRED .--- "Deerest, I will build thee a cot all covered with ivy, in some secluded vale, close by a pearling brook, meandering his beaming with love and tenderness, hers with over its pebbly bottom, incersantly babbling in dulcet tinkling strains, 'love, love, love;'-where the atmosphere is redulent of soothing; spisy aremas, that make the eye lunguish, and the heart dissolve in the liquid fires of love-where the balmy morning sephyrs sigh in the dense forest's leafy maze, chanting love & m. lody-where the tiny songsters that whirl in othercal space, warble nought but love. I will plant thee a ganden of gorgeous loveliness, culled from usture's most ardent designs, warmest tints, and sweet smelling incense.'

"Dolphy, dear, don't forget to leave a patch for cowcumbers and invuns-they're so nice nickled.
