The City Election.

The recuit shows that the spell of infatuation in which is called "the local question," has at last been broken. • • • Hence we say, that 240 votes for an independ est ticket, notwithstanding the brow beating and the entreordinary efforts of the anti Railroad leaders, show that Brie's spell of infatuation is broken. -- Constant

We copy the above for the benefit of the 241 aspecial friends of the, city and of "Temper ance," who will no doubt relish the use made by the railroad organ of the figures. Not unlike the man who puts an enemy in his mouth to application, they were so properly and parentally steal away his brains, they have put a club in olicitous. Besi les, it would avoid eventually the hands of the Shanghai managers here and all those unpleasant suspicions that a majority elsewhere to beat their own brains out. An inof the Court are catering to dangerous interests, crosse of 222 on a minority of 19, during the abort space of one year, in a vote of 900, is highly flattering to our vaunted unanimity and self respect, and will be, undoubtedly, of great service to those who are struggling in our behalf at alities. Legislators might the souner return to Harrisburg. If the injury resulting from being beautifully duped, could be always confined to the individuals duped, we would have some pabe saved expense, and what would appear to be a tieuce. But when the consequences of stupidity priceless desideratum in some quarters, she might or recklessness may possibly contribute to the be mortally wounded in a vital interest positive injury of thousands of others, in their These hints at a settlement of our "local diffi dearest interests for years, we then begin to feel sulties" are thrown out, of course, with great devery much inclined to speak plainly. We should fix our ultimatum upon this 'subje is now a Know Nothing. And so it is with ev- and upon this should we determine 'to stand or

The great and vital importance of inflexible firmness and decision in a matter in which every principle of honor is involved. and every vital in terest at stake, is at once so obvious to every mind as to render it a plain matter of duty and I trust will guide us in a proper coarse in our action in regard thereto.

In addition to this most vital question there are many topics and subjects which will require atten-tion on part of the Municipal authorities, and particularly might be enumerated those acts of a law forbidden character which demand the adoption and prompt execution of measures of a reformato-

I ry nature, with the view of their correction and suppression. It shall be my endeavor to use the nfluence of my official position to aid and assist in accelerating these great moral reforms which are calculated to promote the peace and good or der of community, and diminish those evils which are in themselves destructive to sound morality. and operate as barriers to the accomplishment of the appropriate objects of society. It is a truth which cannot be controvened that a Municipality with a corrupt Executive department, like a stream emanating from an impure fountain, imparts a corrupting influence throughout all its ramificatious. and is, in its effects, but little in advance of that the purses of the immaculate monopolist of Onio tween Titloute and Franklin, as we are informed, primitive condition of man in which morality had to sanction because unaccompanied with the power to enforce its principle.

The vices of intemperance and gambling, with all their train of concomitant evils. are but too prevalent in this community, and the power of the aw should be brought to bear upon those who encourage the commission of these vices, without infringing upon private rights or individual privileges as well as the proper respect of which is essential. the suppression of vice. Extremes on all subjects are dangerous, inas such as they are too often calculated to create a re-action in public sentiment upon those very subjects in favor of which they are intended to operate. A firm determination to enforce the laws regulating communities. and ac tion consistent therewith, without loud hypocritical professions and flaming proclamations, is what in civilized community is calculated and will prove most efficient in preventing crune. The law to prevent the sale of intoxicating quors on Sunday, and the various laws for the supreasion of gambling, are calculated, to exert salutary influence in society if efficiently carried ut; and the most practicable and feasible means for their enforcement should engage our attention and require strong effort at our hands. But in our disposition of this subject, our duty only requires that we shall share the responsibility with the invidual members of community, and not assume the entire responsibility. It is a duty devolving upon every man who has the means of ascertaining any instances of the violation of the law to take the proper steps to bring such act of delinquency to the notice of the proper officers in a legal way. in order that punishment may be certainly inflicted, and the salutary examble of the law inculcated. It is a duty we owe o ourselves to combat the too prevalent error that individuals are totally without responsibility in this respect and have nothing to do with the bringing to punishment those who are guilty of infractions of the laws. Individuals cannot thus shrink from the consequences of a solemn obligation imposed by the relation which exists between every memoer of ociety, for all know that officers, judicial and ministerial, are constituted as instruments for the execution of the laws and punishment of offences which individual vigilance may detect, as well as to act as conservators of the peace and morals of society.

Let me indulge the hope that my wishes and endeavors to promote the good of our City by the ompt and efficient use of the extent that the power of the Mayor goes, secure the suforcement of such laws as are intended and calculated to restrain vice and immorality, will receive your co-operation and hearty support. and by the enactment of such measures as will give more efficiency to the acts of the Executive author-Among the measures which are easential to carry out practically these principles of reform is the establishment of an efficient police force. and a thorough organisation of all the Executive depart-The utmost vigilance of one man is total ly inadequate to the detection of and bringing to justice those who are constantly engaged in violatting the laws and inflicting irreparable injury upon community by their example. I then must carnestly recommend the appointmen of a police force composed of individuals who are com-petent, and in whose laithfulness and integrity we can repose the most implicit confidence; and the organization of such force in a manner as will, in your opinn, promote its efficiency and usefulness. In order to give still greater efficiency to the efforts of the Executize to subserve public interests, I would further recommend, that application be made to the Legislature, to give the Mayor additional powers, by conterring upon his judicial capacity final jurisdiction in all cases of asseult, assault and battery, petty riots, kc., originating within the city, with power to inflict fines and carry out its sontence by imprisonment in the County Jail or such other place as you may designate for that purpose. In vain would be the efforts and good intentions o the Executive authority if not invested with power to carry out his intention and enforce those laws which are enacted with a view of producing a salutary and wholesome influence in society, by inflicting punish-ment upon delinquents. This extension of the judicial jurisdiction of Mayor, would thus enable him to carry into effect, any projects of retorm which he may, with your advice and counsel, desire, by giving the force and sanction of law to his exertions. In connection with this recommen dation, if carried into effect, we would, with great dif fidence, suggest the propriety of appropriating a small sum as a salary for the Mayor. The expenses neces sarily attending the establishment of a Court, and ineident upon the carrying out such regulations as may be adopted for the reforcement of law, should in some way or other be defrayed out of the City Treasury, or repaid to the Mayor, if borns by him. Under the syswould go into the treasury, and in all probability would replenish any deficit shich might be made by the appropriation of a salary to the Mayor. For the purpose of giving every citizen ample op obtaining redress for wrongs inflicted, and in order that no individual should have ground or even a chance of complaint. we would suggest that every person who, by any means, becomes aware of any it fraction of City regulation, that a note of the sam may be made in writing in a book which will be pro vided at the office of the Mayor, for that purpose which will be constantly accessible to all, and open fo registration of complaints and the inspection and that of the wife of the heir apparent, which ublic. This system has been found to have a benefiial tendency in other cities, and will, no doubt, have similar effect bure. I have thus briefly alluded to those subjects which may come under our supervision and require our at-tention, and upon which we may be called upon to act ficially : and have briefly indicated the course which in my opinion, it may be proper to pursue. In con-clusion, let me s dd that, while I have the honor to preside over the E.zecutive department of this City, I shall endeavor to preserve good order and enforce, so far as can be done with the means in my power, the laws; and I here call upon all those who MAKE LOUD PROFESSIONS OF NORALITY and TEMPERANOR, if they have any constatuter, HUNESTY OF SINCERITY, to cooperate with use in this laudable undertaking. The swood in position on the famous "Temperance usket," the man who didn't like our reference to his claims upon "temperance" votes, shows at once his sympathies by selecting the Constitution instead of the Gasette is the vehicle of reply. The inference is just, that his consurulatey, the 241 who voted against the people's candidates, look with a lenient eye in the same direction. Now, don't understand us as complaining of all this, but simply as insisting, after the example of Old Hickory, that things ought to be called by their "right names" If the opposition to Brie is to be Know Nothing and Shaughai combined: for heavens sake dou't hapthe it with the christian name of Temperance. Gentlemen of the Select and Common Council :

In assuming the functions of the Chief Executive department of this City, I must bespeak in advance our indulgence for any want of ability on my part, and at the same time ask your a.d and cooperation in the discharge of the multifarious and innortant duties which, the responsible position to which our common constituency have called us, ren ders incumbent on me. Feeling a diffidence in my own ability, and my inadequacy to the task of a faithful and intelligent performance of all the functions of the office, and mpressed with a profound sense of the responsiility thus devolving upon one placed by the suffrages of the people iu a position of honor and manding influence, in which the interests of that people are to be faithfully watched and properly cared for. I humbly claim your assistance to such an extent, as will alleviate the burdens thus imposed, and produce at least a partial exemption from the embarrassments usually attending the action of one who presides over the deliberations of this body. In view of the responsibility, and the interests thus concentrated, it becomes proper and essentia to make in advance, so far as circumstances will permit. a distinctive and emphatic expression of principle by which my action will be guided. in dication of the course which a sense of duty may require me to pursue. It is unnecessary for me to refer to the great and all absorbing question which has agitated the entire community-and which has formed the principal element in all our deliberations, agitations, &c. the proper final disposition of which forms a chief f interest on the part of our citizens, act-
