SATURDAY MORNING, DEC. 8, 1855.

Congress.

It will be seen by our Washington news that all our predictions have been verified. The opposition, notwithstanding their numerical force, well known to the careful observer of events, is are nowariass, except for evil. Who will be elected Speaker, or when an election will take place, is a matter beyond the powers of prophery to foretell. It is very evident, however, that the Democrats, although they do not possess the numerical force necessary to decide the matter in favor of one of their number, do possess the moral force to so shape the election when it does take place that neither the fanaticism of modern Republicanism, nor the narrow bigotry of spurious Americanism, will rule the destinies of the nation Already, it will be seen, has one of the proposed. To this end, at a late meeting of the main pillars of Anti Nebraskaism in Pennsylvania. Henry M Fuller, found that there are rights to be protected, in all sections of the Unionhence he has unreservedly declared that he will go for the admission of Kansas, whether her Constitution protects or prohibits slavery But we need not comment-our readers have the facts, and can judge for themselves.

Some time after dark on Saturday night, Mr

Martin heard a noise in the vicinity of the stable. and repaired there for the purpose of ascertaining them about thirty feet distant. The noise was a the occasion of it. He had been in there just sufficient time to observe a lot of apples which lav in a heap on the floor, when the negro who had called upon him in the afternoon, and who was secreted in the stable, jumped toward him, and ere he could offer any resistance, inflicted two very dangerous wounds on his person with a their party, by solemnly resolving to stand from knife, one on the breast, and another in the lower nart of the abdomon, after which he ran off.

Martin placed his hands over the wounds, and managed to walk to his dwelling, a short distance off, where he arrived bleeding and faint. He was placed in bed and Dr. Herron sent for who soon arrived and dressed his injuries. The Docor pronounced the wounds of a very dangerous character and fears they will prove fatal. A search was at once instituted which led to the arrest of the negro, who it is believed by the police, is an old offender. Numerous keys, knives and other suspicious articles were found on his person

The last advices represent Martin's recovery as impossible
