AUDITOR GENERAL — Murray Whallon, Esq. of Erie, now a member of the Legislature, will be presented as a candidate for the nemination of Auditor General before the next Democratic State Convention. Mr. Whallon possesses eminent qualifications for that position.

We copy the above from the Pittsburgh Union for the purpose of endorsing the suggestion as well as pointing out the manifest propriety of The Democratic State Central Committee having called the nomination, should it be made by the Convention Six years ago, Mr. W was a candidate brought before the Democracy of the State but dence that, in the opinion of a very considerable hody of the Democrats of the State, he was then emmently fitted by position, capacity, and political character to preside over that department of the public affairs of the Commonwealth. Bon't Dear Responsibility.

The opposition begin to feel restive under the shoulders; and as a natural sequence, it is now seeking to shift its weight upon the glorious "74" who constitute the minority. The New York Times, for example, through its Washington correspondence and by editorial arguments, claims that upon the President and those who support Gen. Richardson alone rests the responsibility of non-organisation. It says the "President is the leader of the mob in Congress as he is the leader of the mob in Kansas." Party malignity and party medacity could not go farther if it tried. The President the leader of men who were elected as his opponents-of Havens, Mr. Fillmore's law partner-of Dunn, of Millward, of Fuller, of Scott Harrison, and the thirty five other anti-Banks men, who got into Congress through the people's fear of the Pope, or by fanatical tirades against that just and patriotic measure, they courteously designated as the "Nebrasks swindle." For weeks and months before Congress assembled this same Times, as well an the entire opposition press, teemed with boasting proclamations about the majority against the Administration in Congress. Daily we were told that the Administration had been condemned by the people-that when Congress assembled, so far from the Democratic party occupying the proud position it did a year ago, it would be miserable minority; and that the "wrongs and and outrages" perpetrated by the last Congress under the lead of the President and in the name of Democracy, would be redressed by the restors tion of the Missouri compromise. Indeed, se ortain was the Times and its adjuncts of a clear majority, ready to do the bidding of Seward. Giddings, & Co., that is was gravely proposed in many quarters to impeach the President.-And yet when Congress did meet, instead of reforming abuses, instead of restoring the Mis souri Compromise-instead of impeaching the President-instead of succoring the cause of "free dom in Kansas"-these patriots fell of wrang ling among themselves over the bone of place and the peuter-platter of official crumbs gathered about the Speaker's chair. And when they find the more they try to divide the spoils, the wide, their forces are divided, the hired scribblers of such papers as the Times fall to abusing the escape responsibility for the disgrace they are bringing upon the country, by shifting it upon
