

I am laboring under a physical disability, that I beg for a quiet home for the few weeks I stand before you. By this call I am more surprised than my bosom friend, whom I have elevated to the Vice Presidency of the United States, [Cheers] for he had an auxiliary call to be honored by the Democracy. His election is the preliminary announcement of Kentucky's return to ancient Democracy. Brockenridge upheld the resolution when John Breckenridge upheld the resolution of '98. Your union is a sign of that John Breckenridge. [Cheers] The omens are all of victory. The honor you have done me in this call to speak, is an earnest of the magnificent regard for all that party band of old Whigs, whose honorable existence as a party having closed, had now to choose between the factions - I will not call them parties that are clinging for political secondary, and the conservative party of the nation - the Democrats. We all know the type of men, and we know that they must swell the ranks that today are ranged under the banner borne by Buchanan and Breckenridge. [Cheers] I can speak for them, for I was one of them while there was a Whig party, clear of sect and of disorganizing factions. I joined your standard without capitulation or compromise, asking no special honors, asked to be again in concert with the conservators of the Union and the Constitution.

I and the omens were fair. The Democratic period is more glorious today, than when it secured an Empire in Louisiana. More glorious than when it secured Texas to the Union and the Union for Texas, or when it coupled the continental breadth of the Republic with golden California. Yes, Mr. President, grandeur like Democratic party today is a thing of no proud epochs, because it has found an honored, and by today's action has consummated the destruction of a fact in the center of America, and more dangerous than any that had ever threatened her eastern shores or western frontiers. [Cheers]

As the voice of this Convention reaches the remotest neighborhoods - and its echoes are spreading over those sublime wastes, pointing to the stars rising out from the telegraph lobby, as they reach the rear and the central centers of population, you shall see the "Old Guard" of the Whig party will recognize the patriotic principles announced, and reaffirmed here, and will swear, eternal fidelity to the Democratic cause. To that band who have chosen to stand outside of all parties rather than to stand against the progressive spirit of a severely rational bigotry, or the false philosophy of the fact that they would oppose the fact that the nation of these States - to that noble band of old Whigs with whom I once acted, I say invigorate your adhesion to the Democratic party by a prompt support of Buchanan and Breckenridge. Say not in Bunyan's halting creak, but recognize the organization that embodies all that is national in America, all that is noble in politics, all that is true in the hearts of the people, especially in the North, a company of gallant men who when the genius of Douglas's comprehend the danger that was looming in the immediate future, and when he provided for the change by leading the forlorn hope in the Nebraska-Kansas bill, thereby securing to the South his glorious, then there were no company of brave Democrats who stood by the Union, who were not misled down by the side of sectional selfishness, and who by the national capital's black and white feeling, wanting only the power of a stable nation. Let us not now be maddened by any coming hour of victory. The years lying between the last of the Union and the last of the Union are the most important years of our life.

After the transaction of some other important business, the Convention adjourned to meet on Monday, June 14th, at 10 o'clock.

Down with Monopolies!
WHILE the nation is in the throes of a great industrial and commercial revolution, it is not surprising that the people should be alarmed at the prospect of a new era of monopolies. The people are entitled to know the truth about the matter, and the following facts will show that the danger is not imaginary.

Hardware, Crockery, Glassware, China, do.
The people are entitled to know the truth about the matter, and the following facts will show that the danger is not imaginary.

DR. G. NEWCOMER, Fracturing Physician and Psychologist.
The people are entitled to know the truth about the matter, and the following facts will show that the danger is not imaginary.

LAND WARRANTS.
The people are entitled to know the truth about the matter, and the following facts will show that the danger is not imaginary.

Watches, Clocks and Fancy Goods.
The people are entitled to know the truth about the matter, and the following facts will show that the danger is not imaginary.

Administrator's Sale.
The people are entitled to know the truth about the matter, and the following facts will show that the danger is not imaginary.

NOTICE.
The people are entitled to know the truth about the matter, and the following facts will show that the danger is not imaginary.

ERIE CITY LOTS AT ADMINISTRATOR'S SALE.
The people are entitled to know the truth about the matter, and the following facts will show that the danger is not imaginary.

Another Boat In!
The people are entitled to know the truth about the matter, and the following facts will show that the danger is not imaginary.

300,000 lbs. Wool Wanted!
The people are entitled to know the truth about the matter, and the following facts will show that the danger is not imaginary.

200,000 lbs. Butter Wanted!
The people are entitled to know the truth about the matter, and the following facts will show that the danger is not imaginary.

NOTICE.
The people are entitled to know the truth about the matter, and the following facts will show that the danger is not imaginary.

Persons Intending to Paint.
The people are entitled to know the truth about the matter, and the following facts will show that the danger is not imaginary.

Warren's Hat Store IN FULL BLAST AGAIN!
The people are entitled to know the truth about the matter, and the following facts will show that the danger is not imaginary.

300,000 lbs. Wool Wanted!
The people are entitled to know the truth about the matter, and the following facts will show that the danger is not imaginary.

200,000 lbs. Butter Wanted!
The people are entitled to know the truth about the matter, and the following facts will show that the danger is not imaginary.

NOTICE.
The people are entitled to know the truth about the matter, and the following facts will show that the danger is not imaginary.

Persons Intending to Paint.
The people are entitled to know the truth about the matter, and the following facts will show that the danger is not imaginary.

Warren's Hat Store IN FULL BLAST AGAIN!
The people are entitled to know the truth about the matter, and the following facts will show that the danger is not imaginary.

300,000 lbs. Wool Wanted!
The people are entitled to know the truth about the matter, and the following facts will show that the danger is not imaginary.

200,000 lbs. Butter Wanted!
The people are entitled to know the truth about the matter, and the following facts will show that the danger is not imaginary.

NOTICE.
The people are entitled to know the truth about the matter, and the following facts will show that the danger is not imaginary.

Persons Intending to Paint.
The people are entitled to know the truth about the matter, and the following facts will show that the danger is not imaginary.

NEW GOODS AT THE FERRY BLOCK.
The people are entitled to know the truth about the matter, and the following facts will show that the danger is not imaginary.

Van Amburg & Co's EXHIBITION.
The people are entitled to know the truth about the matter, and the following facts will show that the danger is not imaginary.

Two European American Circus Companies.
The people are entitled to know the truth about the matter, and the following facts will show that the danger is not imaginary.

The Famous Cook Family.
The people are entitled to know the truth about the matter, and the following facts will show that the danger is not imaginary.

John Henry Cook.
The people are entitled to know the truth about the matter, and the following facts will show that the danger is not imaginary.

The San Francisco Brothers.
The people are entitled to know the truth about the matter, and the following facts will show that the danger is not imaginary.

Clown, Ben Stone.
The people are entitled to know the truth about the matter, and the following facts will show that the danger is not imaginary.

The Menagerie.
The people are entitled to know the truth about the matter, and the following facts will show that the danger is not imaginary.

Latest Styles of Dress Goods!
The people are entitled to know the truth about the matter, and the following facts will show that the danger is not imaginary.

Plumber's Pills.
The people are entitled to know the truth about the matter, and the following facts will show that the danger is not imaginary.

Salen's New Mammoth Sky-Light.
The people are entitled to know the truth about the matter, and the following facts will show that the danger is not imaginary.

Outlet and Aurist.
The people are entitled to know the truth about the matter, and the following facts will show that the danger is not imaginary.

Silks! Silks! Silks!
The people are entitled to know the truth about the matter, and the following facts will show that the danger is not imaginary.

300,000 lbs. Wool Wanted!
The people are entitled to know the truth about the matter, and the following facts will show that the danger is not imaginary.

200,000 lbs. Butter Wanted!
The people are entitled to know the truth about the matter, and the following facts will show that the danger is not imaginary.

NOTICE.
The people are entitled to know the truth about the matter, and the following facts will show that the danger is not imaginary.

Persons Intending to Paint.
The people are entitled to know the truth about the matter, and the following facts will show that the danger is not imaginary.

Warren's Hat Store IN FULL BLAST AGAIN!
The people are entitled to know the truth about the matter, and the following facts will show that the danger is not imaginary.

300,000 lbs. Wool Wanted!
The people are entitled to know the truth about the matter, and the following facts will show that the danger is not imaginary.

GRAND OPENING.
The people are entitled to know the truth about the matter, and the following facts will show that the danger is not imaginary.

Embroideries.
The people are entitled to know the truth about the matter, and the following facts will show that the danger is not imaginary.

Concentrated Attraction.
The people are entitled to know the truth about the matter, and the following facts will show that the danger is not imaginary.

Thousands and Tens of Thousands of Women.
The people are entitled to know the truth about the matter, and the following facts will show that the danger is not imaginary.

New Goods.
The people are entitled to know the truth about the matter, and the following facts will show that the danger is not imaginary.

Chicago & Lake Superior.
The people are entitled to know the truth about the matter, and the following facts will show that the danger is not imaginary.

Daguerotypes for 35 and 50 Cents.
The people are entitled to know the truth about the matter, and the following facts will show that the danger is not imaginary.

Must have the Money.
The people are entitled to know the truth about the matter, and the following facts will show that the danger is not imaginary.

Notice to Housewives!
The people are entitled to know the truth about the matter, and the following facts will show that the danger is not imaginary.

Good Seed Potatoes.
The people are entitled to know the truth about the matter, and the following facts will show that the danger is not imaginary.

Plumber's Pills.
The people are entitled to know the truth about the matter, and the following facts will show that the danger is not imaginary.

Salen's New Mammoth Sky-Light.
The people are entitled to know the truth about the matter, and the following facts will show that the danger is not imaginary.

Outlet and Aurist.
The people are entitled to know the truth about the matter, and the following facts will show that the danger is not imaginary.

Silks! Silks! Silks!
The people are entitled to know the truth about the matter, and the following facts will show that the danger is not imaginary.

300,000 lbs. Wool Wanted!
The people are entitled to know the truth about the matter, and the following facts will show that the danger is not imaginary.

200,000 lbs. Butter Wanted!
The people are entitled to know the truth about the matter, and the following facts will show that the danger is not imaginary.

NOTICE.
The people are entitled to know the truth about the matter, and the following facts will show that the danger is not imaginary.

Persons Intending to Paint.
The people are entitled to know the truth about the matter, and the following facts will show that the danger is not imaginary.

Warren's Hat Store IN FULL BLAST AGAIN!
The people are entitled to know the truth about the matter, and the following facts will show that the danger is not imaginary.

STREET & CO.
The people are entitled to know the truth about the matter, and the following facts will show that the danger is not imaginary.

Embroideries.
The people are entitled to know the truth about the matter, and the following facts will show that the danger is not imaginary.

Concentrated Attraction.
The people are entitled to know the truth about the matter, and the following facts will show that the danger is not imaginary.

Thousands and Tens of Thousands of Women.
The people are entitled to know the truth about the matter, and the following facts will show that the danger is not imaginary.

New Goods.
The people are entitled to know the truth about the matter, and the following facts will show that the danger is not imaginary.

Chicago & Lake Superior.
The people are entitled to know the truth about the matter, and the following facts will show that the danger is not imaginary.

Daguerotypes for 35 and 50 Cents.
The people are entitled to know the truth about the matter, and the following facts will show that the danger is not imaginary.

Must have the Money.
The people are entitled to know the truth about the matter, and the following facts will show that the danger is not imaginary.

Notice to Housewives!
The people are entitled to know the truth about the matter, and the following facts will show that the danger is not imaginary.

Good Seed Potatoes.
The people are entitled to know the truth about the matter, and the following facts will show that the danger is not imaginary.

Plumber's Pills.
The people are entitled to know the truth about the matter, and the following facts will show that the danger is not imaginary.

Salen's New Mammoth Sky-Light.
The people are entitled to know the truth about the matter, and the following facts will show that the danger is not imaginary.

Outlet and Aurist.
The people are entitled to know the truth about the matter, and the following facts will show that the danger is not imaginary.

Silks! Silks! Silks!
The people are entitled to know the truth about the matter, and the following facts will show that the danger is not imaginary.

300,000 lbs. Wool Wanted!
The people are entitled to know the truth about the matter, and the following facts will show that the danger is not imaginary.

200,000 lbs. Butter Wanted!
The people are entitled to know the truth about the matter, and the following facts will show that the danger is not imaginary.

NOTICE.
The people are entitled to know the truth about the matter, and the following facts will show that the danger is not imaginary.

Persons Intending to Paint.
The people are entitled to know the truth about the matter, and the following facts will show that the danger is not imaginary.

Warren's Hat Store IN FULL BLAST AGAIN!
The people are entitled to know the truth about the matter, and the following facts will show that the danger is not imaginary.

Boots and Shoes.
The people are entitled to know the truth about the matter, and the following facts will show that the danger is not imaginary.

Embroideries.
The people are entitled to know the truth about the matter, and the following facts will show that the danger is not imaginary.

Concentrated Attraction.
The people are entitled to know the truth about the matter, and the following facts will show that the danger is not imaginary.

Thousands and Tens of Thousands of Women.
The people are entitled to know the truth about the matter, and the following facts will show that the danger is not imaginary.

New Goods.
The people are entitled to know the truth about the matter, and the following facts will show that the danger is not imaginary.

Chicago & Lake Superior.
The people are entitled to know the truth about the matter, and the following facts will show that the danger is not imaginary.

Daguerotypes for 35 and 50 Cents.
The people are entitled to know the truth about the matter, and the following facts will show that the danger is not imaginary.

Must have the Money.
The people are entitled to know the truth about the matter, and the following facts will show that the danger is not imaginary.

Notice to Housewives!
The people are entitled to know the truth about the matter, and the following facts will show that the danger is not imaginary.

Good Seed Potatoes.
The people are entitled to know the truth about the matter, and the following facts will show that the danger is not imaginary.

Plumber's Pills.
The people are entitled to know the truth about the matter, and the following facts will show that the danger is not imaginary.

Salen's New Mammoth Sky-Light.
The people are entitled to know the truth about the matter, and the following facts will show that the danger is not imaginary.

Outlet and Aurist.
The people are entitled to know the truth about the matter, and the following facts will show that the danger is not imaginary.

Silks! Silks! Silks!
The people are entitled to know the truth about the matter, and the following facts will show that the danger is not imaginary.

300,000 lbs. Wool Wanted!
The people are entitled to know the truth about the matter, and the following facts will show that the danger is not imaginary.

200,000 lbs. Butter Wanted!
The people are entitled to know the truth about the matter, and the following facts will show that the danger is not imaginary.

NOTICE.
The people are entitled to know the truth about the matter, and the following facts will show that the danger is not imaginary.

Persons Intending to Paint.
The people are entitled to know the truth about the matter, and the following facts will show that the danger is not imaginary.

Warren's Hat Store IN FULL BLAST AGAIN!
The people are entitled to know the truth about the matter, and the following facts will show that the danger is not imaginary.