Mr. Cramer, editor of the Wisconsin, in resent letter to his paper from New York, gives the following facts in relation to a piece of smudal that has caused a good deal of group among the "upper ten" of Gotham: Factionable society is just now profoundly stirred by an elopement-in so calling high life. It is the talk of even this great city-for the sireumstances are most extraordinary and distressing. As the affair has got into the prints a few words will not be amiss The hero is Major K., who lost his arm in the Mexican war. He is separated from his wife, on account of the brutality of his tomper. She lives in Washington. Major K. is a man of large property-rated from $300,000 to $400,000, and on-account of his large means and his rank in the army, continued to be received in the best society. Some three years ago in Paris he met Miss Maxwell, then no more than sixteen years of age, a daughter of Hugh Maxwell, collector of the port of New York, and well known as an emigent wyer and one of the most esteemed citizens of New York He there common ced his attentions, and after her return to this city, persisted in them, notwithstanding his obligations as a married man His great wealth allowed him to be pertinacions, and be has finally so corrupted this fair young girl-after three years of pursuit -that a few days since they sailed for Kurope. She is about nineteen-very pretty, and sings like a syren. He is forty five, as our informant remarked, "ugly as sin," and brutal in his temper. Yet this girl, so highly hred and related, has abandoned parents, wealth, friends. bome and all, to follow this man no his loman. It is one of the most distressing cases that ever occurred in this country. It has created a start-ling sensation. The truth is, the admiration of money has become so excessive that its mero possession has hallowed men, who are pirates in heart, to be kindly received, even in religious families.

À BRAVE BOY.

It becomes our pleasing duty to record a case of unexampled heroism which occurred an Thursday last, on beard the steamboat Griffin, which was chartered by the Sabhath School of the Centenary Methodist Church of Brooklyn; for a pic nic excursion to Fort Lee. While proceeding up the North River, and when near the latter place, a little boy about seven years of age, son of a Mr. Ledley, residing in Sands street. acoidentally fell overboard and was rapidly carried down the river by the ebbing tide save the child seemed almost impossible. for he was alfendy far down the stream.

SINGULAR EFFECT OF ELECTRICITY ON NE-GROBS.-During the thunder storm of last Friday, a friend related the following :

A gentleman residing a few miles out of town, recently carried home a small electrical machine for making some experiments As soon as he got home, the negrous as usual flocked around bim, eager to see what master had got There was a boy among these darkies that had evineed a strong disposition to move things when they wanted moving, or in other words to pilfer or "Now Jack," says his master, " look bere;

this machine is to make people tell the truth, and if you have stolen anything, or lied to me first chosen by his comrades to be honored and hit will knock you down."

"Why, master," said the boy, "I never lied trusted the sun of his inner life suddenly set to "Why, master," said the b rise no more. The lady of his love sickened or stole anything in my life."

"Well, take hold of this;" and no sooner bad the lad received a slight shock, than he fell more hope of love for him. He had played on his knees and bawled out, "Oh, master !. I high for happiness and lost. The game was did steal your eigars and a little knife, and have lied ever so many times: please to forgive me." The same experiment was tried with like suc-A week man would have sunk down ruined and despairing. A heartless man would have cess on half a dozen juveniles. At last an old

The machine was then fully charged, and he way towards the witness box, and on being asked her business, requested to be sworn as a witness on behalf of the prisoner. These words were uttered in so low a tone, that they reached not the ears of him at the bar. Nothing remains to be told, except the sequel dammed by knowing too much, an' it's my' pin-ion dat his bard, then at the machine, and at last rolling his eyes, "Master," said he, "it ain't begt to know too much.
