

News of the Week.

Congress meets Monday next, and adjourns the 4th of March. Nothing is expected from this Congress but the winding up of the session...

The Cincinnati Commercial relates a most astonishing case of infanticide in that city. It says that on Tuesday a young woman made her appearance at the residence of David Gibson, Esq., on Vine street between Sixth and Seventh streets...

The Cleveland Plaindealer of the 25th, says that on the morning of that day, the steamboat of the Cleveland and Columbus depot, bearing a cargo of the best of the steamer, raised the window with his fist and discovered a robbery of the steamer...

Relief to Kansas.—The Legislature of Vermont has appropriated twenty thousand dollars for the relief of the oppressed and famishing people of Kansas. This is sensible; and it is the first sensible thing we have known any black republican body to do...

A Shocking and Mysterious Murder in Albany. Our citizens were startled, this morning, at the announcement that the corpse of a murdered woman was found lying in one of the streets...

A True Account of Lane's Movement by Once a Free State Man. We make the following statement as dictated by Mr. Wm. W. Moore, heretofore a conservative, labor-abiding Free State man. He has resided in Nemaha county in this Territory, at the crossing of the Nemaha river, for near three years...

A NEW PARTY.—The Syracuse (N. Y.) Courier understands that a new political organization is on foot in the North for the purpose of bringing about a coalition of all the parties...

Very Much Excited.—The Gazette is very much excited—it always is over small matters—because Mr. R. Barwell Rhet, of S. C. has written a diatribe letter, and the Observer has said any thing about it...

The Murder of John Kirk.—The Rev. John Kirk voted in Ohio on the 14th of last month, and coinciding there was greater need of his vote in Pennsylvania on the 4th inst., he declined to vote in either of the States...

WOMEN VOTING.—A German Wisconsin paper says the election at Racine, as well as in Walworth county, Wisconsin, were actually conducted by women. The women were actually elected to the office of electors...

Looking Against Hope.

It seems to us the extreme of folly to expect that Buchanan's Administration will accomplish what the Republican party struggled for. The Gazette never uttered a true sentence than the above—it is folly to expect that Buchanan's Administration will accomplish what the Republican party struggled for...

We frequently see it asserted in the papers devoted to "Freedom and Liberty," that it is the design of the Southern Democracy to revive the African slave trade; and the Richmond Enquirer is frequently pointed to for proof of the charge. Passing by the impossibility of any such project, because of the Constitutional impediment, we call attention to the following demoralizing story as far as that paper is concerned...

THE SLAVE TRADE.—If the Charleston Standard and the New York Sunday Times will examine our article on the "Slave Trade," with more consideration, they will discover that it is written in a strain of irony and satire. The Times, that organ of the Southern Democracy, has written an article advocating the revival of the African Slave Trade...

When the redoubtable General cried in the Fremont convention that "so help him God" he was for resistance at the point of the bayonet. We could not "sleep o' nights." Even when told that the General spoke only for himself, and that he intended to make this bayonet charge alone, we were not quite reassured...

There were marks of violence on the body.—There is a severe bruise on the head, near one of the eyes, and the throat bore appearance of having been compressed in a grasp. The affair is enveloped in the most impenetrable mystery.

The Chinese Millet, or Sorco Grass, is attracting the attention of the press, and some experiments have been tried with it which warrant the belief that it may be successfully cultivated in this country. The editor of the Baltimore Patriot has received specimens of the plant from Mr. Duane, near that city...

Some of the more sensible of the Black Republican journals—like the New York Times, for instance—have discovered since the election that Mr. Buchanan is a very proper man, and will force neither slavery nor "Sharp's rifles" upon Kansas. Not so with the Gazette, however; it cannot forgive the "favorite son" of Pennsylvania for depriving its party of the spoils, and hence continues to growl in beautiful harmony with that pink of malignant abolitionism, the Tribune.

The Gazette is very much excited—it always is over small matters—because Mr. R. Barwell Rhet, of S. C. has written a diatribe letter, and the Observer has said any thing about it; and this fact, our excited neighbor, with that wisdom for which it is famed, gravely assumes "proof of the Observer's" subject subversion.

THE MURDER OF JOHN KIRK.—The Rev. John Kirk voted in Ohio on the 14th of last month, and coinciding there was greater need of his vote in Pennsylvania on the 4th inst., he declined to vote in either of the States...

MY FRIENDS, LORD CLARENDON AND JAMES BUCHANAN.

Mr. BUCHANAN'S ADMINISTRATION.—It is very natural that great anxiety should exist in relation to the policy of Mr. Buchanan's administration, and it is equally natural that those who are acquainted with the personal relations which exist between the writer and Mr. Buchanan should wish to inquire to learn that we think of the future of the country, and of the welfare of the slave.

When the redoubtable General cried in the Fremont convention that "so help him God" he was for resistance at the point of the bayonet. We could not "sleep o' nights." Even when told that the General spoke only for himself, and that he intended to make this bayonet charge alone, we were not quite reassured...

Five of the party went to a neighbor's, Mr. Hicks, and tried to catch his horse, but they were wild, and running, but could not be caught.

Five of the party went to a neighbor's, Mr. Hicks, and tried to catch his horse, but they were wild, and running, but could not be caught. They threatened to serve Hicks and every pro-slavery man in the country, the same way they had served Moore. They made declarations that they had murdered men, women and children, and that they have ravished females. And in some instances had made the "slave drivers" stand by and see them gratify their beastly lusts upon their wives and daughters. This is no fancy sketch, but what can and will be proven upon these fiends in human shape, under oath. The half has not yet been told. Horses are being stolen every day, that pass through the town of Aurora, in Nebraska, on Lane's thoroughfare or military highway. Another chapter hereafter will be given of the horse thieves and their operations.—Leavenworth Herald.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26. The Cabinet had another long session to-day, and it is understood that they will continue their daily until the meeting of Congress. The President has authorized the message, as he has also the Secretaries reports. The propriety of printing the reports with the message and sending them for distribution, has been discussed, but not determined. To-morrow will decide what course they will pursue.
