A MOIST CLIMATE.

John Phonix, poet, philosopher, humorist, and a correspondent of the Knickerbocker Maga. sine, has been so journing in Oregon, and thus gives utterance to his experiences in that climate in a letter of an August date, from Portland,

Oregon Territory:
"I gives me unfeigned pleasure to inform you that I am about to quit the gloomy and never:tounnecessary delay," to D-, on our borders -; Yes, sir, I'm off: "services" no longer required on these inclement shores—shores which, when you read of in Irving's "Astoria," you naturally wish to behold, and admire old Astor's pluck in making establishments thereon, and which, when you reach, you wish you had'nt, and admire still establishment up and quitting while there was vet time.

Rain is an exceedingly pleasant and gratifying institution in its way, and in moderation. It causes the grass to grow, the blossoms to flourish, and is a positive necessity to the umbrella-maker, but when you get to a county where it rains incessantly twenty six hours a day for seventeen months in the year, you cannot revist having the conviction forced upon your mind that the thing is elightly overdone. That's the case in Oregon It commenced raining pretty heavily on the third of May, when it set in for a long storm, which isn't fairly over yet. There's moisture for you! Congress has named the northern half of it, the new territory, Washing ton on account of its wetness, I suppose, as I can divine no other rea-Sound. Pacific shore.

The consequences of this awful climate are just what might be supposed. The immense quantity of the protexide squirted about here causes trees, buildings, streets, every thing to present a diluted appearance. The women lose their color, the men their hair, (washed off, sir,) and the animals, by constant exposure, acquire scales and fine like the natives of the great deep. In fact, all the inhabitants of this Territory have a generally scaly appearance and rejoice in a pe-Neely Johnson, not more terrible, nor those of Lady Suñola and Mosow longer or stronger, which is a state of the state of which is a slightly mixed mataphor of a very happy description So, upon the whole, I'm glad I'm off; yes, I am quite sure of it; and I long to get to D-, where the people enjoy the light of the blessed sun, and where I can enjoy it also, and dry my things, and read Irving's "Astoria."

Howbeit there are many interesting and curious things in Oregon; many odd and entertain-ing people also therein; and I have seen much to this tavern, cold, wet and hungry, and called that was funny, and laughed thereat, and should for dinner. He was told rather roughly by the have laughed louder and longer if my mouth landlord, that the dinner hour had passed, and had not filled with rain before I had half finish- he must wait till tea. He then asked for a cold ed; and I might perhaps regret leaving a country lunch, as he was faint and hungry After some in which I have had so much positive enjoyment grumbling this was brought on. The stranger in which I have had so much positive enjoyment were it not that I have chronicled all these amus-ing things and peculiarities, and shall be glad to "Fifty cents," was the reply, in a growling ing things and peculiarities, and shall be glad to over them. Such a thing as "dry humor" in of season, and you must pay fifty cents." Oregon is of course a physical impossibility.

Depopulation of Ireland.

The commissioners appointed to take the census of Ireland in 1851 have just made their final report. They give not only a minute account of the famine of 1846.'7, but tables of all the great seasons of scarcity and pestilence since the historical age of the world began. The total mortality from fever in Ireland between the end of 1846 and 1849 is estimated in the report at a million and a half. The decline in population between 1841 and 1851, as actually determined by the census-takers, was 1,622,789—a decrease of 19 85 per cent; this falling off, the committee in France hardly worked more radical alterations in the distribution of land, the shifting of population, and the character of agriculture than the Irish potato rot of 1846. No less than 357-131

We have faish in this remedy, even houses, have been built, so that, notwithstanding after a felon has made considerable progress. the extirpation of so many roofs, the people are said to be better lodged than formerly. Another striking change is in the number of persons engaged in agriculture. These have fallen of twenty-four per cent.; yet in their place there visited Philadelphia, and while there his room at have been more than one million seven hundred thousand acres of additional land brought under cultivation. Cereal grains also are more generally able watch and some money. The editor subsecultivated. Wages have considerably increased. ### An Interesting Murder Case.

The fact of the conviction of a man Edward H. Ruloff for the murder of his child at Owego last week, has already been announced The evidence was closed on Wednesday, and on Thursday morning Joshua A. Spencer commenced summing up for the defence. He was followed by Daniel S. Dickinson, for the prosecution, and after an able and clear charge from Judge Mason, the cause was submitted to the jury, who retired, and were out about an hour, when they returned into the Court about six P. M., and rendered a verdict of Guilty of Wilful Murder. On motion of Mr. Spencer, the Court granted a stay of proceedings, and sentence was postponed to enable the prisoner's counsel to present the case at the General Term, to be held in Binghamton in January next.

This is a remarkable case, and different from any other known on record, as no direct proof was had that the wife and child of Ruloff ever died; but so strong was the circumstantial evidence. that it left no doubt upon the minds of the jury. It is eleven years since the transaction happened, and Ruloff has been in the State Prison at Auburn for the last ten years for the abduction of his wife; and now he stands convicted of murder! During the whole trial Ruloff is said to bave appeared cold and unconcerned, and no change was caused in his appearance by the rendering of the verdict or the subsequent proceedings in Court.

The following from the Owego Times, written while the trial was in progress, will further ex: plain the case:

"Some twelve years ago, Edward II Ruloff, the prisoner, came to reside in Lansing. Tomp kins, Co., with his family, consisting of his wife and child. His wife was a daughter of Mr. Schutt, of Dryden, whose family is of the highest respectability and intelligence, some of them having held stations of high official trust in their town and county Ruloff was a German and a stranger, but by considerable skill as a physician. and a gentlemanly deportment, he soon won many be-dried up sky of Oregou, and "repair, without | friends, and to all external appearance was happy in his domestic relations up to the time of the terrible occurence for which he is now on trial Some time in the Spring or Summer of 1845, his wife and child were missed from their home. but as she had previously appounded that she was going on a visit, no attention was given to the matter until several mouths had elapsed, more old Astor's good sense in breaking his when no tidings having been received from them suspicion began to be aroused and the matter to be sifted, but all attempts in vain. A variety of circumstances tended to fasten the suspicion of murder upon him, and he was arrested Suffi cient evidence constituot be adduced to convict him of the murder, as no traces of the bodies were found, and he was tried and found guilty of the abduction of his wife and sentenced to State Prison for ten years. During that long period no clue has been obtained that can unseal the mystery, and he has kept the terrible secret lock ed in his own breast during all his dreary imof last November and continued up to the fifteenth prisonment Immediately after his release at the expiration of his term, he was arrested and lodged in the jail at Ithaca, upon an indictment for the murder of his child. Upon the session of the August term of the Court of Oyer and Terminer, for Tompkins County, it was found imson for giving that name to a country on Puget's | possible to obtain a Jury, and the trial was trans ferred to Owego. The trial is conducted by Hon. D. S. Dickinson, for the people, and Hon Joshua

A. Spencer, for the Defendent. The appearance of the prisoner, E. H. Ruloff, is apparently about forty six years of age, dark brown hair, about five feet eight inches in height heavy and strongly built, thick neck, face rather flat, nose small and the eyes rather widely placel but bright and sparkling He is evidently in excellent licalth, and his long imprisonment (ten years in State Prison) appears to have made no culiar smell, a combination, I should say, of a impression upon him. He has, by no means, a fish bald and a fresh mudsucker. The rains of Oreindicates strong animal pa gon beat every thing in that line lever bearid or conceived of Those that felon! Even this, however, does not represent the full decreased for, if the famine had not set in, population would have increased in its old ratio, and if it had increased in its old ratio the existing population would have increased in its old ratio the existing population would have been in 1851 2,486,414 more than it was; and of course by this time it would have been proportionately greater. If the potate than it was; and of course by this time it would have been proportionately greater. If the potate disease had not appeared, neither familie nor pestilence would have followed, nor even emigration, at least to the extent it did; and the inhabitants of Ireland, in that event, would have probably numbered to day three millions more than they do.

The report reveals to a greater extent than any document yet published the social and conomical olanges which have taken place in Ireland within the last ten years. These changes, in fact amount to a revolution. The Reign of Terror in the distribution of land, the shifting of population in the distribution of land, the shifting of population in the distribution of land, the shifting of population in the distribution of land, the shifting of population in the distribution of land, the shifting of population in the distribution of land, the shifting of population in the distribution of land, the shifting of population in the distribution of land, the shifting of population was a constant of the same and the land the population of land, the shifting of population was a constant of the same and the constant of the same and the land the population of land, the shifting of population was a constant of the same and the land t The cording stops the circulation, and thus the
