-The special Weith free serrespendent of Colgressery a Press mys. If the second of the Mr. Backassa, in his first sensed metering in Coloring will take bold ground on the servicesy quanties; that he will re-aftern the principles pendent Treasury Bill. He believes that it was the intenfin of the hensers of the Constitution to establish a hardentressy, and that the action of Oungress since has been a steady departure from that intention. It will be his object, then, to retrace the false stops taken, and to bring the Government back to the true ground. The issue is made in the next Congress, whether Sinte banks havathe constitutional power to issue sirculating "promises to pay." There will be a large party to take the negative of the argument, who will not, it is said, yield until a dosiden has been given on the question by the Sepreme at of the United States. A general backrant law for the banks, will be presented for action. This will provide a fixed course for patting into liquidation insolvent banks all over the Union.

--- Charles Cowins, a youth zineteen years of age, was mirned het Wednesday in the Federal Court, at Norfulk. and when called upon to plead, arose as pale as death, and for some time his lips were sealed; at longth he said: "Gentionen of the jury-I plead guilty. In an unguardad moment I committed the act, and would afterward have given the world had I never done it. All I can ask, gintlemen, is that, as I am young, it may go some way in mitigating my punishment. Mr. Tas. Taylor, his counsel, made some feeling remarks, stating that this youth was the desiing of a food and doting mother. The evert, jury, and har seemed much affected, and many tears were shed. The jury found him guilty. The judge will, during the term, sectores him for not less than ten per more that breaky years-the minimum and maximum tearms. It will he remembered that his erime was rifling letters of money in the post office at Portsmouth, while employed there as a dert.

-In the case of the Commonwealth opt. McAllinter and Hose, recently carried to the Sapreme Court of Fennsylrania on a writ of error to the Court of Common Pleas of innerster county, it was decided that "when an adminisbrakes or tunstee deposits trust funds in his own name in a bank or savings institution which fills, the loss shall fall upon him, and not upon the "costoigne trust." The court held that "the liability of an administrator or trusstee for fands last by the failure of the bank or institution in which they have been deposited does not depend upon the good sich, pradence, or judgment with which he may have stad, har upon the fact that he has deposited his own a the same place. He is personally responsible for the loss of the money deposited in his name, because he did not make the deposit as administrator or trustes." Why is this?---why, with the land tooming with the products of the earth, and the mines of California sending forth their millions monthly, should public confidence all at fall, and bury beneath it the segacious morehant as well at the honest inborer who looks to his weekly stipend for the means to food his wife and little ense! The protectionist will answer that it is low daties-that we impor more than we export-and thus drive the gold from the sountry. We do not believe this; besides we never could understand why gold, at muchen product of the country as wheat, was not as legitimate an article of commerce .-Every merchant knows that specie only goes abroad when it is cheaper than exchange-that is to say, when it i chesper relatively to property here than it is un the other side of the water. . When prices are high, money is cheapor than property, and is exported in its stead. The whole commerce of the world, if the surrency in every country was perfectly healthy could be carried on simply by the interchange of commodities and the drawing of bills of exchange without the shipment to and fro of a dollar of specie. The fickle migrations of money, bask and forth, are wholly independent of and aside from that regular in terchange of sommodities between nations and continents which constitutes the great bulk of actual commerce. is the rise or fall of the value of money compared with property in one country above or below its value in anothor that produces the migration of specie. Thus, for a long perios of years we have been cursed in the United States by a system of high prices, property being dear and monsy choap; and during the whole period the cheap article as been dearer, while property which commanded such high prices with us, has some over to us in quantities larger than was required by the logitimate and natural nterchanges of cummerce. Money has never been shipped from this country abroad except when it has been relatively cheaper here and dearer abroad; and property has never come to us from abroad in quantities greater than the ant. ural interchange of commerce would have caused, except when is has been dearer here in comparison with money then it was sbroad. This mutual movement of specie and surplus morchaudize has had nothing to do with the tariff, nothing with gold as a staple product, but has depended absolutely on the value of money on one side and on the other as sompared with property.

This being so, the souniry arises - why has gold been cheap here-worth less here-than in Burupe, and thus sought a market there . The answer is plain, and it e reaser obvious to the vision of every political economist-it is simply because a vitiated and almost worthless curreney, made up of paper promises to pay, issued by irresponeirculating medium among the people. It is a fact within the observation of every body who handles two dollars is > loss value crowds out of circulation that of the most value Thus, the farmer, the merobant, or the mechanic, who recoives a sum of money composed in equal parts of Illinoi and New York bills and gold, will invariably pay out the Illinois first, the New York next, but the gold he will lay holds good throughout the world; and honce, the more seeks a market where it is wanted. And this theory extry, and gold came into domand as a circulating medium, starmer from Ragiand exhibits large consignments specie. And this will be so antil public honfidence H now give up from the of a week ritani of. There is the reason why labor does not find a market just now, that should I taken into esseridention by the meaninglaged. Henry other commedity is related below its scinal price by helders, is order to tompt investment. But ish over any possessed with the idea that their labor has on the not be subjected to the oppration of the laws of supply and domaind which regulation the prices of all other con modition. They will not under a voluntary reduction o priose and therefore infor softers as unusual inducement to capital. If mechanics and working men generally would consent to work at 25 or 30 per gent less than their old rates, there would be allorded an opportuality of erect ing buildings, manufactarily goods, etc., at unusually low rates, which would tempt the capitalist to invest his capital in such operations. Now the present crouble is that money is stagnant in the hands of capitalist. They have plenty of it but they dare not lend it to the porties, and the majority of them is lost. There is plenty of money in this city for which safe investments are wanted at less than the legal rate of internet. One of the reasons why constatists will not land to manufacturers and traders is coause the prices of goods in the market have sunk below the cost of production, as a general thing, and under such ircumstances increased production would be an unsafe avestment. What is the remedy? Reduce the cost of production. Then manufacturers can alford to held stock on hand for a better season. Builders can afford to erect houses and wait sales ustil the increased cost of building shall have increased the value of production. Therefore we say to the laborer, if you counct get a dollar a day, offer to work for fifty cents, and you will thus make a mar ket for your labor. And again, the reduced prices of all commodities render the expense of living lighter. The labor meetings of the week in the Park and Tompkins Square have developed some queer theories of social conousy, and the multiludes have been favored with the dvice of all sorts of blind leaders from the disciples o Albert Brisbane to a mad French woman who has a plan of supporting all the poor of the city of New York in a asgnificent hotel, the expenses of which were to be defrayed by the erection of a church! How this magical process of making one dobt pay for another was to be carried on the lady does not condescend to explain. The dischasions with report to the causes and effects of

The arrival of the Arabia was awaited with the intens at angioty by haspess men in this city, especially impor ters who are even curious to know how the manufacturer on the other side would leel when they received the int mation that their dubts due hore could not be liquids ted, for six months more; at least! But it seems they have not got the worst of it into their heads, even yet. It takes those Johnny Bulls some time to get an idea, good o bad, thoroughly through their skulla. They persist in supposing that our Banks have acted sensibly since the suspension, that money has become easy, and everything e going on at a plank road rate towards prosperity, whereas, since the Arabia's mails went out, we have been most utterly and entirely smashad, we have had our face, commercially speaking, thrust into the dust, you our very noses
