The President and Mr. Douglas.

It is well in politics as in navigation to take observations, and determine latitudes and longitudes. It is not easy to say where we are going, without knowing where we are. The difference which exists between the political reckonings of the President and Mr. Senator Douglas ought surely to be fully examined. They start from the same point, and have a common destination. They are both identified with the same great party, and there is at least a strong presumption that they are equally interested in its preservation and triumphs in the future. These facts go far to render it possible that any differences of opinion which may exist between them touching the reception and treatment of the Lecompton constitution may be removed. At all events, it is the obvious duty of the leading men sympathizing with either side to comprehend the exact nature of the case, and to remove all possible extraneous causes which may exist, tending to widen the breach.

How, then, does Judge Douglas differ from the President? They concur in the principle that the majority should rule. They equally endorse the policy of submitting State constitutions to the people for ratification or rejection.—They regard the Territorial Government of Kansas as a legal government. They concede that the Territorial Legislature was fully authorized and empowered to call into existence the Lecompton convention, and, of course, that that convention legally, if not numerically, represented the people of the Territory. They do not essentially differ upon the facts connected with the action of the people in calling and electing that convention. They both understand that there was and is now in the Territory a strong party, possibly embracing a majority of the people, who have sought to defeat all efforts to organize a State system through the agency of the Territorial authorities. Up to this point there is no essential divergence of opinion between the President and the distinguished Senator; and it must be confessed that inasmuch as they agree substantially upon a basis so broad, there ought to be strong hopes that they may yet come together.

The Lecompton constitution having been framed by a duly authorized and organized convention, and having determined upon the submission of the slavery question to the people, Mr Buchanan, who is officially identified with the Territorial Government—standing in legal contemplation at its head—felt it his duty, without submitting to Congress any special recommendation in connection therewith, to say that in his judgment the constitution just framed had received all the legal sanction required to render it a valid judgement of the people, in their movement towards the establishment of a State government. It is exceedingly difficult to understand how he could have said less, and how, in what he did say, he can be condemned by any candid man who regards, as he does, the success of the party as a primary object of government in this country. He had employed a large force of the army to maintain the Territorial laws, he had instructed Federal officers to protect the people at each recurring election he had crippled the Utah expedition, that the constituted authorities in the Territory might be able, fully and impartially, to enforce the existing system of [illegible] we repeat, he was the head. Was it expected that he would stultify himself by rebellious opposition to the laws he had labored so strenuously to maintain? Was he to disregard and trample under foot a constitution framed by a convention, the delegates to which were elected under a fair law emanating from the people at a general election, which was the subject of direct sanction by his Administration, and by the whole Democratic party of the country? What excuse could be have offered for insisting upon a fair vote of the people in June, had he denied the legality of that election after the delegates had performed their work? The least he could [illegible] was to express his opinion that the constitution which had been framed was the work of a [illegible] constituted convention, and binding as [illegible] upon the people of Kansas.

Judge Douglas, taking substantially the same view of the case, arrives at a widely different conclusion. His position, if we understand it, is this: that the people of the Territory have their power to organize a State government from Congress; that although the Territorial system was perfectly legal for all mere local [illegible], it possessed no authority without an enabling act from Congress to organize a State government. It is easy to see from this position that Judge Douglas appeals to the terms of the Kansas-Nebraska act of 1854, as obligatory and binding upon the people of that Territory to the extent that Congress undertook, in that act, to direct them in what manner they might establish a State constitution. In this view of the relations subsisting between the Federal and Territorial authorities, Judge Douglas insists that by the terms of the last mentioned act the Lecompton Convention was bound to refer to the people any organic law they might frame preparatory to their admission into the Union as a State—that such was the letter and spirit of the legislation of 1854, such the intention of Congress and the country. If we concede the premises of Judge Douglas, it will be found quite impossible to avoid his conclusions. By the Kansas bill, Congress repealed the act commonly known as the Missouri Compromise. That act undertook to define the limits within the public territory where slavery should be prohibited, and to point out where it might be established. Its repeal was intended to establish, on the other hand, the doctrine of Congressional non intervention; if Judge Douglas is now right, to assert, at the same time, the complete sovereignty of the people touching the organization of their State systems.

If we take away part of this principle of Federal interference in the Territories, it seems clear that we must take the whole. If we divest Congress of all right to intervene, we must not now come to decide at this distance questions which are purely local, and which, in the very nature of things appertain solely to the people of Kansas. The right of Congress in reference to the subject [illegible] under a specific provision of the Federal Constitution, by which that body is authorized to admit new States into the Union, and is limited to the single question, whether the government established is or not republican in form.—[illegible] intervention means anything, it certainly carries with it the absolute right of the people to establish their own institution in their own [illegible]. Congress, then, having denounced its authority over the subject, the inference is inevitable that the people of Kansas ought to be regarded as free to do as they please. By their acts, through their own local legislature, and by the [illegible] of the people, they constituted a convention [illegible] empowered it to frame a constitution, without imposing upon it any limitation touching the [illegible] of its submission to them for ratification or rejection. Now; it is hardly fair to deny the right of Congress to enact the Missouri Compromise, which was a limitation or restriction imposed by that body upon the people of the Territories, by which they were prohibited from exercising their own will upon a given subject, and at the same time to dictate to that people the mode in which they shall organize their own government.

The 14th section of the act repealing the Missouri Compromise expressly declares that it is the true intent and meaning of this act not to legislate slavery into any Territory or State, nor to exclude it therefrom, but to leave the people thereof perfectly free to form and regulate their domestic institutions in their own way."—[illegible] know of no other construction to put upon [this] language than that Congress intended to leave the people to establish their own institutions disavowing all authority in the premises. The repeal of the act of 1820 was a part of the system of legislation then settled and fixed—[th]ere was no virtue in that repeal, if we now determine that the Territories are still dependant on the National Legislature for authority to establish their "domestic institutions" or [illegible] the right to intermeddle in their local [affairs]. The Territories and States are distinctly [recogn]ized to as equal in political independence and [illegible], so that the disavowal of Congressional authority in the act of 1854, and the assertion at at this time of the authority of Congress over both, are to be taken together. It is manifest, indeed, that it was the intention of Congress to place the Territories and the States upon an equal footing in respect to the establishment of their local institutions.

If this is the true construction of the Kansas-Nebraska act, how is it possible to go behind the Lecompton Constitution without a clear violation of its provisions? The obvious purpose of that act was to effect the entire separation of Territorial from Federal politics, and to settle the principle, without touching questions of detail, such as needful numbers and local organization, upon which new States are to be organised and admitted. We see no necessity for enabling acts, if Congress is divested of all right to interfere in Territorial affairs. The principle of non-intervention being settled, and Territorial and State independence, in reference to all domestic institutions declared, what reason is there to be urged in favor of special permissory legislation?

HOWARD ASSOCIATION,
PHILADELPHIA.
A Benevolent Institution, established by special endowment for the relief of the sick and distressed, afflicted with Virulent and Epidemic diseases.

TO all persons afflicted with Sexual Diseases, such as SPERMATORRHŒA, SEMINAL WEAKNESS, IMPOTENCE, GONORRHŒA, GLEET, SYPHILIS, the Vice of ONANISM, or SELF ABUSE, &c, &c.

The HOWARD ASSOCIATION, in view of the awful destruction of human life, caused by Sexual diseases, and the deceptions practised upon the unfortunate victims of such diseases by Quacks, several years ago directed their Consulting Surgeon, as a CHARITABLE ACT worthy of their name, to open a Dispensary for the treatment of this class of diseases, in all their forms, and to give MEDICAL ADVICE GRATIS, to all who apply by letter, with a description of their condition, (age, occupation, habits of life, &c.,) and in cases of extreme poverty, to FURNISH MEDICINES FREE OF CHARGE. It is needless to add that the Association commands the highest Medical skill of the age, and will furnish the most approved modern treatment.

The Directors, on a review of the past, feel assured that their labors in this sphere of benevolent effort, have been of great benefit to the afflicted, especially to the young, and they have resolved to devote themselves with renewed zeal, to this very important but much despised cause.

Just Published by the Association, a Report on Spermatorrhœa, or Seminal Weakness, the Vice of Onanism, Masturbation or Self Abuse, and other Diseases of the sexual organs, by the Consulting Surgeon, which will be sent by mail, (in a sealed letter envelope,) FREE OF CHARGE, on receipt of TWO STAMPS for postage.

Address, for Report or treatment, Dr. GEORGE R. CALHOUN, Consulting Surgeon, Howard Association, No 2 South Ninth Philadelphia, Pa.

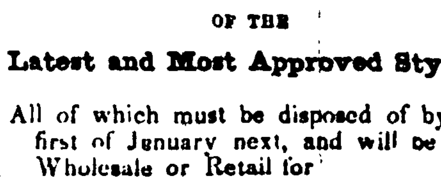
The Season is Here Again
WHEN Colds, Coughs, Catarrhs, etc., are beginning to prevail, and now is the time to test the character of CARTER'S BALM OF GILEAD, which so many pronounce to be the most certain, safe and effectual remedy for such afflictions. It costs but three shillings per bottle. Nov. 14.

WEEKLY ARRIVALS AT



FULLERTON'S
NEW
Boot and Shoe Store.
FULLERTON'S CHEAP — FULLERTON'S CHEAP

NO 2, HUGHES' BLOCK, STATE ST.

NOTWITHSTANDING the "hard times" "children are still born without shoes," and consequently from infancy to old age, there is a never ending demand for CHEAP BOOTS AND SHOES. To satisfy this want, the subscriber has opened up, at the above named place, one of the largest and cheapest stocks ever brought to this city. To prove this he invites a comparison of prices and stock. For instance—Men's Hungarian, boots, double soled, he is selling for $3,50; Kip Boots, from $2,50 to $4,50 per pair. Men's coarse Boots, from $1 to $1,50. Men's Calf, from $2,50 to $4,75; also Men's calf Brogans, from $1,25 to $1.75. BOYS' Boots he has a great variety: Kip, from $1,25, to $2; Calf, from $[illegible] to $2,75, shoes in abundance, of various sizes and qualities at remarkable low prices. LADIES' and MISSES' Fine Kid Boots, Shoes, Gaiters, Buskins, &c. His stock of Ladies' Wear comprises an endless variety:—all Boots, with heels, from 9 to 12 shillings; Enameled Boots at 10 shillings; Morocco Boots and Buskins at prices cheaper than ever before offered in this market. Gaiters he sells at the low price of $1 per pair, also the latest styles with heels at low figures. Ladies' Fine [Kid] Boots, with heels, Kid Slippers, Sandalls, over [shoes], &c. &c.

MEN'S RUBBER BOOTS and SHOES in large variety at the lowest rates.

His stock having been bought for Cash since the depression of the money market he flatters himself, that as Hard Times have surely come, and his prices are correspondingly low, he offers inducements to the citizens of Erie and of the county sufficient to give him a large share of their trade. Please call and see, at No. 2, Hughes' Block, State street.

NOW FOR THE HOLLIDAYS!
T. M. AUSTIN in the Paragon Building, North Side of the West Park, near French street; is now opening the finest and best assortment of rich Gold, Silver and Fancy Goods for Christmas and New Year's, he has ever offered to the Public.

Having purchased these Goods since the great downfall of prices in New York, inducements to buy are now offered to purchasers, such as are not often found.

With a new location, new Goods and new hopes for the future, the kind patronage of all, especially those who at least once a year exchange those little tokens of Friendship and Love is solicited, with the assurance that low prices and unsurpassed facilities are offered as inducements to obtain an early call for purchases.
Erie, Jan. 1, 1858—1t

T. M. AUSTIN offers to any one in want of good mechanical work in making new or repairing any part of clocks, watches, jewelry or Silver Ware, the services of competent workmen. Critical work on watches and jewelry of the trade is solicited and at much lower prices than formerly charged. All the latest styles of clocks, watches, Jewelry sets, Port Monies, card cases, coin & silver and Plated Goods, silver tea and fruit knives, razors, scissors, and a little of everything can be bought low, and almost all kinds of money will be received at par. Call and see.
