IMPORTANT ARRIVAL AT

The girl, Olive, is near twenty years of age She is a modest young, intelligent woman, but bas evidently suffered greatly from the hardships she has been compelled to undergo during a captivity of six years. Her chip bears the "chief's mark," a species of tattooing, set in fine parallel lines, ranging downwards from the lower lip— The savage embellishment does not materially enchance the personal charms of the lady, but it And in fact EVERYTHING worn by Men is an indelible evidence of the scenes she has the party interested. The history of the family is briefly, as follows:

Mr. Royce Catman, the father, was a native of watern New York. Soon after he came of age, his parents removed to the town of Labarpe, in Illingia, and the son afterwards joined them Is this phope, the sea was married to Miss Mary Ada Sparry, thee a girl of 18. The young couple lived two years on a farm near Laharpe, and having accumulated means removed to a residence in the town, where Mr. Oatman entered into messable business. The crash of 1837 destroyed his hope of success in that quarter; the com-partition fortune he had amassed, disappeared; and at the succession of friends, he removed to the augustion of friends, he removed to the Cumberland Valley in Pennsylvania. His love for the free life of the Western prairies, however, drew him back, and in 1846 the family returned to Illinois, settling in a log-cabin, not far from the village of Fulton. In 1849, an effort was mode to organize a party to emigrate to that portion of New Mexico lying between the Colorado and Gila. Mr. Oatman cast in his lot with the company, and in the Spring of 1850 started for bis new home. Including his own, nine families constituted the party. In August, they had progreened on their journey as far as Council Grove, on the pid Sents Fe road. At this point, the first dissensions broke out among the party.— The difficulties widened, until finally the Oatman family found themselves nearly alone. Nothing depends they paramed their journey. At the limited they took the Cook and Kerney route and in Bebruary, 1851, reached the Pimo village. The two families who had remained with them thus far, now resolved to stop. The Catmans resolved, unhappily for themselves, to continue their route alone, hoping to reach Fort Yung in California. On the 18th of March they reached a camping ground on the Gila River, at a moint about eighty miles from Fort Yuma. On the following day, they forded the river.

While still encumped a party of Apiches visited them; making professions of friendship, and desiring to smoke the pipe of peace. Mr. Oatman made every exertion to secure the good will of the sayages, offered them food, and gave them the entertainment his means afforded. Their prying and inquisitive manner, excited his anspictons, and the withdrawal of the party to a shert distance. the holding of a council among themselves. He had been shown to be a shert distance. He od his family of their peril, burst upon them, with a teri without warning of a moment, masmored the father, mother, and four of the children. Lorenzo (one of the survivors) was left for dead. The two younger girls, Olive and Mary Ann. were reserved for another fate. With these eastives the Indians departed, after robbing the wagon and tent of the family of all that was val-

The lad Lorenzo 'recovered his senses, after the departure of the Indians, only to find a mass of ruins, smidst which lay the bodies of the murdered family. He was afterwards met by a party of friendly Indians, one of whom he had seen before. He was humanely taken into their protestion. After these Indians had visited the other are, lst. His sisters, however, were now beyond the vessel of human help: Whither their savage capters had gone it was impossible to tell; that a fate worse than death awaited them was certain. For five years one of these young girls was subjected to all the drudgery of savage life and codared referrings which language is too feeble to portray. A Very Valuable and Mach needed improvement.

L. B. WHITE'S PATENT LEVER TRUES.

A N entirely new article in the Truss line, differing radically form any axit all others in the world, and is really the only instrument of the kind worthy of the pame. A short trial of this Truss by those that have worn the old or ordinary kind, will fally prove the truth of this attatement. They are very light and very small, and the lad can be readily adapted to fit any person, and the pressure axily adapted to suit the convenience or necessity of the wearer.

These where you designed as a recommendation of the wearer. Those who are so unfortunate as to require the aid of such an inatru treat will do the members a factor by examining this article, a few of which are left with the authorised Agents in Eris.
