Where silver willows fringe the pool; And from the forest still and gray, Its marmur rises fresh and cool. Leaving the sunny world below

The passine's starry bads to seek, l feel it gently clasp my brow, And lightly play upon my cheek That lingering hand sweeps around the room O'er dark recess and quiet mook, Through loose leaves rustling in the gloom, And wandering down my open bool

Nor voiceless do th it from me sweep, To seek the bright free world again; And in my bosom thrilling deep. An echo answers to its strain. That mocks the lonely toil of books,

And whispers me away—away' Where waving leaves and reshing brooks Are glancing in the long bright day Away above the green earth's breast,

Away above the blue deep wave, Whose billows, in their hourse unrest, Chant o'er the sailor's shroudless grave Where silver sails cleam far and white. And becken in the moon's cold ray-The wild wind following or their flight, till whispers me away-wway!

Capt Marcy, whose march from Santa Fe to Campt Scott, across the plains in the winter, was successfully accomplished, gives an interesting account of the incidents of the long and perilous trainp On the route he heard of a remarkable mineral spring, which those acquainted with it, call the "Fountain that boils" Cipt M went twenty miles to see it, and says of it:

"It is one of the greatest natural currosities I ever met with. There is a very round and smooth rock, elevated several feet above the earth with an ovel top, and directly upon the summit is a round basin, like an artificial found tain, into which comes from the bottom a stream MILLER & HENRY of water as large as my arm, with as much force as if thrown by a fire engine The basic remains filled constantly, but does not run over, having a subterraneous outlet. On tasting this water; much to my astonishement, I found it very simi lar to Congress water, only much more pleasant I drank large quantities of it, and it produced a delightful sensation, giving me a voracious ap petite for the hunter's dinner, which my guide set before me, in the shape of a deer's head. roasted before the fire, without salt, bread or any condiments whatever. We made a most sumptuous repast, and returned to our camp much pleased with our day's excursion.

"If this spring was placed in any of our Eastern States, it would be decidedly more popular than the Congress Spring, I have no doubt is supposed by the people in the country to be pure soda water, but it probably contains other salts. The Indians call it the "Big Medicine Spring," and whenever they pass it, they put a propitiatory offering into it in the form of kettles, oups, arrows, &c

"We have great abundance of game here, and indeed, we have not been without deer, antelope, turkeys or bear meat, for the last three weeks. This with onions, potatoes, &c., make our fare better than it was on our trip over the mountains last winter "

"GOOD NIGHT" "GOOD NIGHT, PAPA!" These are the words whose music has not left our regular and easy breathing of those little lungs in the next room, heard through the door ajar. We dropped our pen, folded our arms, and sat gazing on the lazy fire, while the whole panorams of a life passed before us, with its many "good nights" It is a great thing to be rich, but it is a rich thing to have a good memory—provided that memory bears no unpleasant fruit, bitter to the taste; and our memory carries us back to many a pleasant scene—to the little arm ma of a life passed before us, with its many "good nights" It is a great thing to be rich, but it is a rich thing to have a good memory—provided that memory bears no unpleasant fruit, back to many a pleasant scene—to the little arm chair by the fireside; to the trundle bed at the foot of the bed; to the lawn in front of the house, to the butter cups, and the new clover, and the chickens and the awallow. and the strawberries, and the many things that nothing of of the mysteries of the starry skies, and the weird gloom of the moaning forest. But, then, there were the the "good nights," and the weird gloom of the moaning forest. But, then, there were the the "good nights," and the little prayer, and the downy bed, on which slumber fell as lightly as a snow flake, only warmer, and such dreams as only visit perfect innocence! The household "Good night!" Somebody, in whose brain its rich music still lingers, has writ-

"Good night!" A loud clear voice from the stairs said that it was Tommy. "Dood night!" murmurs a little something from the trundle bed -a little something that we call Jenny, that filled a large place in the centre of two pretty litabout six years ago.

I pray the Lord my soul to keep; and the small bundle in the trundle bed has dropped off to sleep, but the broken prayer may go up sooner than many long petitions that, set out

And so it was "good night" all around the homestead; and very sweet music it made, too, in the twilight, and very pleasant melody it makes now, as we think of it; for it was not yesterday nor the day before, but a long time ago-so long that Tommy is Thomas Somebody, Esq., and has forgotten that he ever was a boy, and wore what AMBROTYPE the bravest and richest of us can never wear but once, if we try-the first pair of boots.

And so it was "good night" all around the house; and the children had gone through the ivory gate, always left a little sjar for themthrough into the land of dreams.

And then the lover's "Good night" and the parting kiss! They are as prodigal of the hours as the spendthrift of his coin, and the minutes depart in golden showers, and fall in dying sparks at their feet. "Good night." - N.

" DEAD HEADING."-On Saturday last, when the Chicago train reached Freeport, a passenger coach was detached and placed on a side track, it not being required for the train going west from that noint. One of the employees happened to look inside the car, when he discovered an ordinary sachel hanging up, which he supposed had been forgotten by some passenger Of course it was his duty to take it and put it in a place of safety, which he undertook to do, when, to his astonishment, the contents of the sachel appeared to be imbued with rather more animation than is usual with a stock of shirts and collars, or dimity and petticoats Several convulsive kicks, and a squall of the most infantile falsetto, induced an examination. The suchel was opened, and a fine healthy child, about two months old. was found it, It is supposed that the guilty parents at some one of the way stations stepped on board the cars, and left their offspring to the mercy of the Fates .- Gal. Con.

Mrs. Caroline Woodman, whose intimacy with her "Dear Baby,"—otherwise Mr. Gardiner Farnise—caused much scandal in New York, some months ago, is again before the public .-Her husband has applied for a diverce to a New Orleans Court. The ovidence in the case is unfit for publication; but it is quite sufficient to secure the object of the injured husband, and the press of the "Crescent City" seem to entertain no doubt that the application will be granted .-There is no excuse for the lady's conduct, but colors enables me to suit the taste of all.
