T. W. Dyott in Prison.

Our readers will remember, in the day shinplasters, to have seen those of the "Manual Lubor Bank" issued by T. W. Dyott. We never handled them, because we knew, that they were as worthless as brown paper. We were right. He has circulated some hundred thousand dollars of them, on a specie basis of $266. Independent of this, he received into his Bank pendeat of this, he received into his Bank seventy-two thousand dollars of the savings of the poor laborers, and widows, & such industrious poor as could lay away a penny for a rainy day. Where all this has gone, no body knowns. After it was conveniently disposed of, like other great senen, he wanted to take the Benefit; but he failed, and is in a tair way to get his deserts. He was held to bail in ten thousand dollars, to answer the charge of fraud alent insolveney. He could not get it, and was obliged to take a residence in Moyamensing prison, to await his trial Our verdict is, served him right. What a pity all such rascals cannot get their

On the presentation of the new Senator for admission to the Senate, he produced his returns, Charley Pray likel, out his pocket! A question arose, as to the propriety of admitting him until the reruturns were received regularly through the Secretary's office. We regret to see that the Senate agreed to take them! Thus showing a very great inconsistency in their course as comyared with their conduct on another occasion; and still more dorson the derest of the seat of the seat of the propriety of admitting him of the seat of the propriety of admitting him of the seat of the propriety of admitting him of the seat of the propriety of admitting him of the seat of the propriety of admitting him of the seat of the propriety of the seat of the propr

Harvey, we believe thought at first that he could frighten the Yankees out of their rights and wits both, by a little of Johny Bull's blustering. An armed force was talked about by way of putting on a martial air. But brother Johnathan naturally a peaceable, cool old customer, began to gather up some of his boys, and drill them to the old tune—"yankee doofle," determined to show at once that he was as ready for fight as fun, and the upshot af the business is, that Maine will admiral, the object of which was not known.

An American Consul murdered under sanetion of Mexican authorities.—We have seen a letter addressed to one of our most respectable commercial houses in this city, from the coast of Mexico, from undoubted authority, which states that Wr. Langdon, the American Consul for Laguna De Terminas, died a few days previous from blows received from a negroe at Laguna. (under sanction of one of their Justices) & after being most cruelly treated he was sent to a dungeon where he remained three nights with condemned criminals, from whence he succeeded in making his escape with his lady to a small village between that and Campeachy, where he died of his wounds. His lady had gone up to Campeachy, and an order from the old Judge had followed her to bring her back to Laguna to answer the charges against her husband.

A Duel.—We learn through the Nashville Whig from the Somerville and La Grange papers, that a duel was fought near Moscow, Fayette county, Tenn., a few days previous to the 8th inst., between Alex. J. Donelson, (the adopted son of Gen. Jackson.) and Henry Robeson; both were slightly wounded. A second meeting was talked of the next day, but the officers of justice probably defeated it.

Distressing Occurrence.

Distressing Occurrence.

The Bridgeton Chronicle of Saturday last says: "On Tuesday evening of last week, the wife of Mr. David Elwell, of Stoe Creek township, about six miles from this place, left her bed in dishabille, while the family were eating supper in another part of the house. Mrs. Elwell, we understand, had been confined to her room for two years past, and during the last year, the greater part of the time to her bed, and almost helpless. She made her egress from a window same feet from the ground, and from the impression of her socks which she wore, upon the ground, she was tracked to within a short distance to fan adjoining mill pond, into which it was supposed she plunged herself, and which proved to be the melancholy fact—leaving a kind and affectionate husband to mourn his loss. Every effort to find her had proved unsuccesful until Thursday morning last when about sixty of our citizens voluvteered their services for a general search which proved successful. She was found in the middle of the pond in about nine feet of water."
