LIVER COMPLAINT.

Cured by the use of Dr. Harlich's Compound Strengthening and German Aperient Pills. Mr. Wm. Richard, Pittsburg, Pa. entirely cured of the above distressing disease. His symptoms were, pain and weight in the left side, loss of appetite, vomiting, acrid eructations, a distention of the stomach, sick headache, furred tongue, countenance changed to a citron color, difficulty of breathing, disturbed rest, attended with a cough, great debility, with other symptoms indicating great derangement of the functions of the liver. Mr. Richard had the advice of several physicians, but received no relief, until using Dr. Harlich's medicine, which terminated in effecting a perfect cure.

INTERESTING CURE PERFORMED BY DR. SWAYNE'S COMPOUND SYRUP OF PRUNES, VIRGINIANA, OR WILD CHERRY. Having made use of this invaluable syrup in my family, which entirely cured my child. The symptoms were Wheezing and choking of Pleura, difficulty of Breathing, attended with constant cough, Spasms, Convulsions, &c. of which I had given up all hopes of its recovery, until I was advised to make trial of this invaluable medicine. After seeing the wonderful effects it had upon my child, I concluded to make the same trial upon myself, which entirely relieved me of a cough that I was afflicted with for many years. Any persons wishing to see me can call at my house in Beach street, above the market Kensington, Phila. JOHN WILLCOX.
OBSERVE—The only place where this medicine can be obtained, is at Jacob Miller's store Huntington.

Diseases present themselves in various forms and from various circumstances, which, in the commencement, may all be checked by the use of Dr. O. P. Harlich's Compound Strengthening and German Aperient Pills, such as Dyspepsia, Liver Complaints, Pain in the Side, Spasms, Convulsions, Debility, Female Diseases, and all Diseases to which human nature is subject, where the Stomach is affected. Directions for using these Medicines always accompany them. LIVER COMPLAINT.

This disease is discovered by a fixed obtuse pain and weight in the right side under the short ribs, attended with heat, uneasiness about the pit of the stomach;—there is in the right side also a distention—the patient loses his appetite and becomes sick and troubled with vomiting. The tongue becomes rough and black, countenance changes to a pale or citron color or yellow, like those afflicted with jaundice—difficulty of breathing, disturbed rest, attended with dry cough, difficulty of laying on the left side—the body becomes weak, and finally the disease terminates in a most distressing disease, which in all probability is far beyond the power of human skill. Dr. Harlich's compound tonic strengthening and German aperient pills, if taken at the commencement of this disease, will check it, and by continuing the use of the medicine a few weeks, a perfect cure will be performed. Thousands can testify to this fact.
Certificates of many persons may daily be seen of the efficacy of this invaluable medicine, by applying at the Medical Office, No. 19 North Eighth Street, Philadelphia.
Also, at the Store of Jacob Miller, Huntingdon.

DYSPEPSIA AND HYPOCHONDRIA.

Cured by Dr. Harlich's Celebrated Medicines.
Mr. Wm. Morrison, of Schuylkill Sixth Street, Philadelphia, afflicted for several years with the above distressing disease, sickness at the stomach, headache, palpitation of the heart, impaired appetite, acrid eructations, coldness and weakness of the extremities, emaciation and general debility, disturbed rest, a pressure and weight at the stomach after eating, severe flying pains in the chest, back and sides, costiveness, a dislike for society or conversation, languor and lassitude upon the least occasion. Mr. Morrison had applied to the most eminent Physicians, who considered it beyond the power of human skill to restore him to health, however, as his afflictions had reduced him to a deplorable condition, having been induced by a friend of his to try Dr. Harlich's Medicines, as they being highly recommended, by which he procured two packages, he found himself greatly relieved, and by continuing the use of them the disease entirely disappeared—he is now enjoying all the blessings of perfect health.

LIVER COMPLAINT.

Ten years standing, cured by the use of Dr. Harlich's Compound Strengthening and German Aperient Pills.
Mrs Sarah Boyer, wife of William Boyer, North Fourth Street above Callowhill, Philadelphia, entirely cured of the above distressing disease. Her symptoms were, habitual costiveness of the bowels, total loss of appetite, excruciating pain in the side, stomach and back, depression of spirits, extreme debility, could not lie on symptoms indicating great derangement in the functions of the liver. Mrs. Boyer was attended by several of the first Physicians, but received but little relief from their medicine—until a friend of hers procured a package of Dr. Harlich's Strengthening and German Aperient Pills, which by the use of one package, induced her to continue with the medicine, which resulted in effecting a permanent cure beyond the expectations of her friends.
Principal Office for this Medicine is at No. 19 North Eighth Street, Philadelphia.

CITIZENS OF PENNSYLVANIA,

you have now before you Dr. PETERS' CELEBRATED VEGETABLE PILLS. These Pills are no longer among those of doubtful utility. They have passed away from the hundreds that are daily launched upon the tide of experiment, and now stand before the public as high in reputation, and as extensively employed in all parts of the U. States, the Canadas, Texas, Mexico, and the west Indies, as any medicine that has ever been prepared for the relief of suffering man. They have been introduced wherever it has been found possible to carry them; and there are but few towns that do not contain some remarkable evidences of their good effects. The certificates that have been presented to the proprietor exceeds twenty thousand upwards of five hundred of which are from regular practising physicians, who are among the most competent judges of their merits.

Often have the cures performed by this medicine been the subject of editorial comment, in various newspapers and journals; and it may with truth be asserted, that no medicine of the kind has ever received testimonials of greater value than are attached to this.
They are in general use as a family medicine and there are thousands of families who declare they are never satisfied unless they have a supply always on hand.
They have no rival in curing and preventing Bilious Fevers, Fever and Ague, Dyspepsia, Liver Complaints, Sick Headache, Jaundice, Asthma, Dropsy, Rheumatism, Enlargement of the Spleen, Piles, Cholera, Females Obstructions, Heartburn, Furred Tongue, Nausea, Distension of the Stomach and Bowels, Incipient Diarrhoea, Flatulence, Habitual Costiveness, Loss of Appetite, Blotched or Sallow Complexion, and in cases of torpor of the bowels, where a cathartic or aperient is needed. They are exceedingly mild in their operation, producing neither nausea, griping nor debility.

Extract of a letter written by Dr. Francis Bogart, of Providence, R. I. Dec. 17, 1838.—Peters' pills are an excellent aperient and cathartic medicine, those effects being produced by the difference of the quantity taken, and are decidedly superior to Lee's, Brandreth's or Morrison's Pills.
Extract from a letter by Dr. Hopsen of Bangor, Me. Jan. 9, 1839. They are a peculiarly mild, yet efficient purgative medicine, and produce little, of any griping or nausea. I have prescribed them with much success in sick headache and light bilious fever.
Extract of a letter by Dr. Joseph Williams of Burlington, Vt. July 9, 1837.—I cordially recommend Peters' Pills as a mildly effective, and in no case dangerous, family medicine. They are peculiarly in costiveness and all the usual diseases of the digestive organs.
Extract of a letter from Dr. Edw. Smith of Montreal, U. C. Sept. 27, 1836—I never knew a single patent medicine that I could put the least confidence in but Dr. Peters' Vegetable Pills, which are really a valuable discovery. I have no hesitation in having it known that I use them extensively in my practice, for all complaints, and they are not a few which have their source in the impurity of the blood.
Extract of a letter from Dr. Dye of Quebec, L. C., March 6, 1837. For bilious fevers, sick head-ache, torpidity of the bowels, and enlargement of the spleen Dr. Peters' Pills are an excellent medicine.

Extract of a letter from Dr. Gurney N Orleans, La., Oct. 9, 1837; I have received much assistance in my practice; especially in jaundice and yellow fever, from the use of Peters' Pills. I presume that, on an average, I prescribe 100 boxes in a month.
Extract of a letter from Dr. Prichard of Hudson N. Y. June 3, 1836; I was aware that Dr. Peters' was one of the best chemists in the U. States, and felt assured that he would some day (from his intimate knowledge of the properties of herbs and drugs) produce an efficient medicine, and I must acknowledge that his Vegetable Pills fully respond to my expectations. They are indeed a superior medicine, and reflect credit alike upon the Chemist, the Physician, and Philosopher.

Extract of a letter from Dr. Wains of Cincinnati, Feb. 2, 1838; your Pills are the mildest in their operation, and yet most powerful in their effect, of any that I have. There action on the chyle, and hence on the impurities of the blood is evidently very surprising.
Extract of a letter from Dr. Scott of Baltimore, Dec. 17, 1836; I am in the daily habit of prescribing them (Peters' Pills) and they in nearly all cases answer my purposes. I have directed other medicines, some of them very good ones, in their favor.
Charlotte, N.C., June 1, 1837.
Dear Sir: I have frequent use of your Pills in the incipient stage of bilious fever and obstinate constipation of the bowels, or, in the enlargement of the spleen, chronic disease of the liver, sick head-ache general debility, and in all cases have found them to be very effective. J. D. Boyd Mecklenburg Co. Va. Feb. 7, 1837.
Having used Dr. Peters' Pills in my practice the last 13 months, I take pleasure in giving my testimony of their good effects of cases of dyspepsia, sick headache bilious fevers, and other diseases, produced by inactivity of the liver. They are a safe and mild aperient, being the best article of the kind I ever used.

Justice and Charity.
Translated from the French by Nathaniel Greene.
Duty extends to all beings; for all have their place in the universe; all discharge, according to the will of the Supreme Wisdom, functions which it is forbidden to disturb; and all have a right to the enjoyment of the divine gift. To destroy one single being by mere caprice, or to inflict on him needless suffering, is a wrong, an act opposed to the laws of order.
Respect God in the least of his works, and let your love, like his, embrace all that live and breathe.
If, by giving intelligence to man, he has made him the lord of creation, He has not willed that he should be its tyrant. His eye which nothing escapes, has also a paternal regard for the poor sparrow palpitating under your hand.
Without duty no society is possible, for without it there can be no relations between men. As you have seen, it comprises justice and charity.
Not to do to others that which you would desire others to do to you, is justice.
To do unto others, on all occasions, as you would have them do to you, is charity.
A man lived by his labor,—himself, his wife, and his little ones, and as he had good health and strong arms, and easily found employment, he met with no great difficulty in providing subsistence for himself and those who were dear to him.
But it happened that the country experienced great commercial and financial difficulties, and the demand of labor diminished because it could no longer be profitably employed, and meanwhile the necessities of life increased price.
The laborer and his family began to suffer. Having exhausted his moderate savings, he was compelled first to sell his furniture piece by piece, and the articles of clothing, and when all had thus gone, having no other resources hunger stared him in the face. Nor did hunger enter his cottage unattended: sickness came with it.
Now this man had two neighbors, the one very rich, the other less so.
He went to the first and said—We are in want of the necessities of life, myself, my wife and my children: have pity on us.
The rich man replied:—What can I do in the case? When you labored for me, did I either refuse or defer payment? I have never wronged you nor any one: my hands are pure from all iniquity. Your sufferings afflict me, but every one must look out for himself in these hard times; who knows how long they may last?
The poor father answered not, but, with an aching heart, was slowly returning to his desolate home, when he met his other neighbor who was less rich.
The latter seeing that he was pensive and sad, thus accosted him:—What is the matter you? There are cares upon your brow, and tears in your eyes.
The father with a faltering voice, explained to him his unhappy situation.
When he had finished, Why said the other to him, do you grieve so much for this? Are we not brothers? And how can I abandon my brother in distress? Come and share with me that which I hold from the goodness of God.
The suffering family was thus sustained until they could themselves provide for their own wants.
After several years passed the two rich men appeared together before the sovereign Judge of human actions.
And the Judge said to the first. My eye has followed thee on the earth; thou hast abstained from injuring others, from violating their rights; thou hast rigorously fulfilled the strict law of justice; but, in fulfilling it, thou hast lived only for thyself, thy impenetrable soul has not comprehended the law of love. And now, in this new world where thou enterest poor and naked, it should be done to thee as thou hast done to others. Thou hast reserved for thyself all the goods that have been lavished on thee; thou hast given nothing to thy brothers; neither shalt any be given to thee. Thou hast thought but of thyself, thou hast loved but thyself; go and in some solitude live off thyself.
Then, turning toward the second, the Judge said to him:—Because thou hast not been just alone, but charity has penetrated thy heart; because thy hand has been open to scatter among thy less happy brethren the wealth of which thou wert the depository, that the tears of them that wept might be wiped away—greater good shall be given to thee. Go and receive the recompense of them that have fully accomplished their duty, the law of justice and the law of love.

Getrost! Getrost!

Through night to day!
And when the solemn fold
Of darkness wraps creation all;
Trust on! Trust on!
For sunrise bright and bold
Shall break and burst the midnight pall.
Through Death to Life!
Aye, through this vale of tears
The thorny path of being hurled,
High, high above,
We reach Heav'n's wedding feast,
The joy, the gladness of a better world.
Through Storm to Calm!
And when through earth and sky
The wind god drives his thundering wheel,
Trust on! Trust on!
The wind god drives his thundering wheel,
For sweet and gentle calm
Shall o'er the wildest tempest steal!
Through Frost to Spring!
And when the northern blast
Shall freeze the very marrow of the earth,
Trust on! Trust on!
For through the ice bound sod
Spring's breezes give sweet flowers birth.
Through War to Peace!
And when mid bristling spears
A thousand deaths beset thee near,
Trust on! Trust on!
For close on slaughter's din
Flow songs of peace and freedom's cheer.
Through Sweet to Sleep!
And when the mid day sun
Wears thee and wastes with sultry heat,
Trust on! Trust on!
Soon blows the evening wind
To rock and sooth thy slumber sweet.
Through Cross to Cure!
And when the ill's of life
Like demons haunt thy weary bed,
Trust on! Trust on!
Soon shall, mid direst griefs,
The peace of God be o'er thee spread.
Through Wo to Joy!
Weep'st thou at morning tide?
And still to tears at midnight giv'n?
Trust on! Trust on!
Trust to thy Father's care,
Who keepeth constant watch in Heav'n!
The good or ill hap of a good or ill life,
Is the good or ill choice of a good or ill wife.

Friendship is a dangerous word for young ladies; it is love full fledged; and waiting a fine day to fly.

A Venerable Patriot.
In the report of the (N. Y. Herald's) proceedings of the Whig national Convention, we find the following admirable address from an aged patriot, who bidding defiance to storm and weather, amidst the infirmities of old age, made his way of the capitol of our State, reckless of all consequences that might ensue or befall him. He was a Democrat of '98, and is a Whig of '39! He is now an admirer of Henry Clay, and a faithful advocate of Gen Harrison. From a long and intimate acquaintance with Van Buren, he knows him thoroughly, and strongly depicts him as a public plunderer and a political tyrant! We have read a vast deal in our time, but we never remember to have perused so touching and beautiful a sketch as this of the venerable Livingstons. Good old man how we venerate thy virtues! how we esteem and admire thy aged patriotism—honesty crowned with the glorious diadem of grey hairs; eloquence made more eloquent by the force of virtue. When such men step forward to breast the torrent of corruption, there can no longer be a doubt but the Republic is safe—that corruption is out of fashion—that political tyranny is about to receive its death blow, and that public plunderers are coming to their final punishment—the retribution of the people; the just vengeance of the law!
He says, 'I know Harrison well—my native State will go for him.'
'I know Van Buren well—he will make slaves of you unless you arrest the march of Executive usurpation.'
With a beautiful simplicity, a Spartan brevity, and an attic seasoning; he describes every thing by a single touch of the pencil. Honor and gratitude, we say to Peter R. Livingston of N York.
The Hon Peter R. Livingston, of N. Y was called for from all parts of the house Mr. L. came forward, trembling with the infirmities of age, and embarrassed by the flattering testimonials of respect and affection with which he was greeted.
Mr. President, said he, my voice is very feeble, and I must beg your indulgence if I am unable to make myself heard.—Where am I? In Harrisburg, Pennsylvania. What brought me here? Love of country—an ardent desire to see the powers that be prostrated, and a sincere belief that every honest man is bound to contribute his exertions to produce this result. I am a very old man, Mr. President, and nothing but the perilous situation of my country could have drawn me from home at this inclement season. I was a democrat of '98, and have been always in the harness, and we must bring the government back to the simplicity of that day, or the republic is lost. It is not for me to speak of that splendid statesman, Henry Clay, I envy Kentucky. She will have his ashes, and the country will have his fame. I know Harrison well. In the compliments that have been paid to him here, every thing is true—nothing is over colored, or falsely depicted. I know his patriotic attachment to his country, his ardent love of freedom. My native State will go with him; and I strongly indulge the belief that the Keystone will yet be found the arch of the republic. I should like to draw the character of Van Buren, for I know him well, but my health will not permit. I should have not one word to say in his favor, and it would require hours to delineate his vices. He has robbed you of your money, and he will eventually make slaves of you all, unless you arrest the march of executive usurpation. Rotation is every thing.—The great Franklin said that when republics got radically wrong, they will get radically right. We are now radically wrong—set us right—overturn this corrupt dynasty, and I shall go down to the grave in peace.

No Time For Reading!
Go into the houses of some of our farmers and you find no newspaper, no periodical of any kind, and hardly a book. Ask such men to subscribe for a paper, and they will tell you that they have no time to read one. But who is so constantly employed as to find no leisure for the employment of his mind? Not the farmer; for the long winter evenings afford him several hours every day, which he might devote to reading. Not the mechanic; for instances are frequent where the industrious artizans have attained an eminence in the sciences, merely by giving their leisure to study.
One of the most original scholars of the age is professor Lee, one of the English Universities, and yet all his education was acquired during the moments of leisure which he found while employed as a journeyman carpenter.
Egmont—'Sir, do you mean to say that I speak falsely,' said a person to a french gentleman. 'No, sar, I say not dat; but, sar, I say dat you walk round the truth ver much!'
