To Louis Offon Goelicke, M. D., o Germany, [Europe] belongs the imperishable honor of adding a new and precious doctrine to the Sciences of Medicine—a doctrine which, though vehemently opposed by many of the faculty, (of which he is a valuable member,) he proves to be as well founded intruth as any doctrine of Holy Writ—a doctrine upon the variety of which are suspended the lives of millions of our race, and which he boldly challenges his opposers to refute, viz: Consumption is a disease always occasioned by a disordered state of Vis Vitos (or his principle) of the human body: often secretly lurking in the systemfor years before there is the least complaint of the Lungs—and which may be as certainly though not so quickly, cured as a common cold or a simple headache. An invaluably precious doctrine this, as it imparts an important lesson to the apparently health of both sexes, teaching them that this insidious foe may be an unobserved immate of their "clayey houses" even while they imagine themselves secure from its attacks, teaching them that the great secret in the art of preserving health is to pluck out the disease while in the blade, and not wate till the full grown ear.
