July 22nd 1840.

Our article to Farmers and Mechanics, together with much interesting variety, has been driven out by the great press of advertisements.

How Very Strange.

The Loco Focos have got a letter they say from Jackson, saying, that, this erection of Log Cabins is very disreputable...

Changes.

The Loco Foco papers are busy reporting the names of changes for Van Buren. Some they enumerate have been bought by office—others by promises...

I. O. U.

We ask our patrons to examine the letters at the head of this article, and then ask themselves if they do not apply to them? I OWE YOU, we know must be the thoughts of many of these when they take my paper.

There are some hundreds of our subscribers that we have repeatedly told to "put money in their purse"—to "fork up"—to "pay the printer," and to do the decent thing, still they forget to remember, three little words, "I Owe You."

To those who have long been our patrons and friends—who have always punctually paid the printer, we wish to say that our insinuations are not meant for them.

To those who have so long been holding on to the hard earned dollars of the poor printer, we shall plainly say they shall get none of our thanks until we see some of their money.

Our next shall be a LEGAL DUN, The August court will soon be here and a favorable chance will be presented to "hand over."

R. M. Johnson.

Our readers are well aware that the Van Buren party refused to nominate this gentleman a second time for the office he now holds.

It was supposed that he was too honest to suit the pliable consciences of the party at Washington; and they are anxious to get some other one less honest to fill his place.

They, to carry out their measures, invited Col Johnson to visit this State. He came; and was invited to address the party at Harrisburg which he did.

This was gall and wormwood to the Loco Focos. Because they know that Harrison was the General there;—and Johnson has again pronounced the guilty slanderer of his old General liars, when they say he was a coward.

Menagerie.

The extensive collection of living animals, belonging to June, Titus, Angevine & Co., will be exhibited in our borough on Thursday the 23d. inst.

There are no exhibitions that is calculated to create more real amusement, than such as composed of the wonders of nature. Others afford a momentary pleasure, while the living monsters of the forest and the desert are calculated to make a lasting impression upon the minds of the young and old; and we have held that no money is misspent which is used in learning, what are the characters and dispositions of the great varieties of animals in the world—all created for some great and good purpose.

FOR THE JOURNAL.

"Hard Cider & Log Cabins."

MR. EDITOR,—

It seems the Loco Focos are getting sick at the sight of log cabins and hard cider. The other day my attention was called to an article bearing the above caption in the Venango (Loco Foco) Democrat...

The Globe traces the origin of the hard cider and log cabin "humbug" to John Adams' Cunningham letters. Perhaps the reader will here stop short in astonishment at what I have asserted.

Well may the Globe and the whole office holders' party be sick and tired of the phrase of "log cabins and hard cider!" not indeed because it originated as the Globe would fain have it appear. Its origin is similar to that of "Yankee Doodle."

insinuation that the opponents of Van Buren and his host of office holders indulge in "the free use of hard cider, that is strong drink, in all their conventions and public meetings."

It was not my intention, Mr. Editor, when I took up my pen to write, to tax your columns with a lengthy article; but I would ask your indulgence and the attention of your readers while I review another feature of the article under consideration.

It seems that since the cry of bank aristocracy and the golden promises of the Administration have lost nearly all their virtue, the grave of John Adams must be robbed of its cold tenant, for the Administration have taken it into their heads that with him they can terrify and keep in awe their deluded followers.

Now, suppose the question whether Adams did or did not utter these sentiments, thrown aside, or admitted; and let us proceed to examine how they have thus far held good. The following are facts known to every one, and substantiated by history.
