LIVER COMPLAINT.

Cured by the use of Dr. Harlich's Compound Strengthening and German Aperient Pills Mr. Wm. Richard, Pittsburg, Pa. entirely cured of the above distressing disease: His symptoms were, pain and weight in the left side, loss of appetite, vomiting, acrid eruptions, a distention of the stomach, sick headache, furred tongue, countenance changed to a citron color, difficulty of breathing, disturbed rest, attended with a cough, great debility, with other symptoms indicating great derangement of the functions of the liver. Mr. Richard had the advice of several physicians, but received no relief, until using Dr. Harlich's medicine, which terminated in effecting a perfect cure.

DYSPEPSIA! DYSPEPSIA!

More proofs of the efficacy of Dr. Harlich's Medicine.
Mr. Jonas Hartman, of Sumnerstown, Pa. entirely cured of the above disease, which he was afflicted with for six years. His symptoms were a sense of distension and oppression after eating, distressing pain in the pit of the stomach, nausea, loss of appetite, giddiness and dimness of sight, extreme debility, flatulency, acrid eruptions, sometimes vomiting, and pain in the right side, depression of spirits, disturbed rest, faintness, and not able to pursue his business without causing immediate exhaustion and weariness.
Mr. Hartman is happy to state to the public and is willing to give any information to the afflicted, respecting the wonderful benefit he received from the use of Dr. Harlich's Compound Strengthening and German aperient pills. Principal office No. 19 North Eighth street Philadelphia. Also for sale at the store of Jacob Miller, Huntingdon.

SYMPTOMS.

Dyspepsia may be described from a wan of appetite or an unnatural and voracious one, sometimes bilious vomiting, sudden and transient distensions of the stomach after eating, acid and putrescent eructations, water brash, pains in the region of the stomach, costiveness palpitation of the heart, dizziness and dimness of sight, disturbed rest, tremors, mental despondency, flatulency, spasms, nervous irritability, chilliness, salowness of complexion, oppressing after eating, general languor and debility; this disease will also very often produce the sick headache, as proved by the experience of those who have suffered of it.

LIVER COMPLAINT.

This disease is discovered by a fixed obtuse pain and weight in the right side under the short ribs; attended with heat, uneasiness about the pit of the stomach;—there is in the right side also a distension—the patient loses his appetite and becomes sick and trouble with vomiting. The tongue becomes rough and black, countenance changes to a pale or citron color or yellow, like those affected with jaundice—difficulty of breathing, disturbed rest, attended with dry cough, difficulty of laying on the left side—the body becomes weak, and finally the disease terminates into a more serious nature, which in all probability is far beyond the power of human skill. Dr. Harlich's compound tonic strengthening and German aperient pills, if taken at the commencement of this disease, will check it, and by continuing the use of the medicine a few weeks, a perfect cure will be performed. Those who can testify to this fact.
Certificates of many persons may daily be seen of the efficacy of this invaluable medicine, by applying at the Medical Office, No. 19 North Eighth street, Philadelphia.
Also, at the Store of Jacob Miller, who agent for Huntingdon county.

TREATMENT.

The principal objects to be kept in view are 1st, to free the stomach and intestines from offending materials. 2d, to improve the tone of the digestive organs and energy of the system in removing noxious matters from the stomach, and obviating costiveness. Violent drastic purgatives should be avoided and those aperients should be used which act gently and rather by soliciting the peristaltic motions of the intestines to their regularity of health, than by irritating them to a laborious excitement. There is no medicine better adapted to the completion of this than Dr. O. P. HARLICH'S GERMAN APERIENT PILLS. To improve the functions of the debilitated organs and invigorate the system generally, no medicine has ever been so prominently efficacious as Dr. Harlich's Compound Tonic Strengthening Pills, whose salutary influence in restoring the digestive organs to a healthy action, and re-establishing health and vigor in enfeebled and dyspeptic constitutions; have gained the implicit confidence of the most eminent physicians, and unprecipitated public testimony. Remember Dr. Harlich's Compound Tonic Strengthening Pills, they are put up in small packets with full directions.

Also for sale at the store of Jacob Miller who is agent for Huntingdon County.

RHEUMATISM.

Entirely cured by the use of Dr. O. P. Harlich's Compound Strengthening and German Aperient Pills.
Mr. Solomon Wilson, of Chester co. Pa., afflicted for two years with the above distressing disease, of which he had to use his crutches for 18 months. His symptoms were excruciating pain in all his joints, especially in his hip, Shoulders and ankles, pain increasing all ways towards evening attended with heat. Mr. Wilson, was at one time not able to move his limbs on account of the pain being so great; he being advised by a friend of his to procure Dr. Harlich's pill of which he sent to the agent in West Chester and proceeded soon; on using the medicine the third day the pain disappeared and his strength increasing fast, and in three weeks was able to attend to his business, which he had not done for 18 months; for the benefit of others afflicted, he wishes those lines published that they may be relieved, and again enjoy the pleasures of a healthy life.

Also—For sale at the Store of Jacob Miller, Huntingdon, Pa.

CAUSE OF DYSPEPSIA.

This disease often originates from a habit of overloading or distending the stomach by excessive eating or drinking, or very protracted periods of fasting, an indolent or sedentary life, in which no exercise is afforded to the muscular fibres or mental faculties, fear, grief, and deep anxiety, taken too frequently, purging medicines, dysentery, mictions of the stomach and bowels; the most common of the latter causes are late hours, and the too frequent use of spirituous liquor.

From the Boston Chronicle, Jan. 10

We see by an advertisement in another column that Messrs. Comstock & Co., the American Agents for Oldridge's Balm of Columbia, have deputies to sell that article in Boston and elsewhere. We know a lady of this city whose hair was so nearly gone as to expose entirely her phrenological developments, which, considering that they betokened a most amiable disposition, was not in reality very unfortunate. Nevertheless she mourned the loss of locks that she had worn, and after a year's fruitless resort to miscalled restoratives, purchased; some months ago, a bottle or two of Oldridge's Balm, and she has now ringlets in rich profusion, glossy, and of raven blackness. We are not puffing, none of the commodity has been sent to us, and indeed, we do not want any, for though we were obliged to wear a wig a year ago, we have now, though its virtue, hair enough, and of a passable quality, of our own.
To the Bald Headed.—This is to certify, that I have been bald about twenty years, and by the use of the genuine Balm of Columbia, my head is now covered with hair. I shall be happy to convince any one of the fact that will call and see me Delhi village. The above article I bought at Griswold, Case & Co.'s store, who had it from Comstock & Co.

The Balm of Columbia has been imitated by a notorious counterfeiter. Let it never be purchased or used unless it has the name of L. M. Comstock, or the signature of Comstock & Co. on a splendid wrapper. This is the only external test that will secure the public from deception.

POETRY.

A NEW SONG.

Tune.—"Sittin' on a Rail"
Says he Mr. Loco, how d'y'e do,
Says I Mr. Foco how are you,
Don't you fear that the bugaboo
Will ride us on a rail.

Our specie friends have run away,
Like scattered sheep they've gone astray,
And left us all to Henry Clay
To ride us on a rail.

Our golden dreams, alas have fled,
Our darling hopes of spoils are dead,
And we from office shall be lead
To ride us on a rail.

Our silken purses long and green,
Well filled with mint drops once were seen,
But now the times are changed I wren,
And we must ride a rail.

The yellow boys with smiling pliz
Have seldom blessed poor people's eyes,
We office holders seize the prize,
For which we'll ride a rail.

Bentonian humbugs won't take,
Nor any panics we can make,
For the people now are wide awake
To ride us on a rail.

Both rich and poor, the people all,
Have joined to pin us to the wall,
And left us nought to break the fall,
But riding on a rail.

When we first war'd against the Banks,
The people gave us many thanks,
But now with purses lean and lank,
They'll ride us on a rail.

'Twas not our fault that Simple Van
Held on to Benton's specie plan,
So we must shun as best we can,
A ride upon a rail.

Besides I always did believe
That Biddle ever could contrive,
The people greatly to relieve,
When trotting on a rail.

Nick Biddle's notes were clever things,
They gave to enterprise her springs,
'Till Loco-Focos snapt the strings,
And set us on a rail.

O had I now of Nick's Bank rags,
Enough to line my saddle-bags,
I'd take French leave and off I'd wag,
A riding on a rail.

"THE LADIES ARE ALL WHIGS.—
GOD BLESS THEM."

ANECDOTE.—A few evenings since, the daughter of a respectable Loco Focogave a party, to which were invited a number of her male and female acquaintances. The evening passed off pleasantly, as a matter of course, although politics were frequently introduced during the evening. After the adjournment of the party, it fell to the lot of a young Lady, who was a strong Whig, to be escorted home by a young man, who was a Loco Foco. During their walk homeward, politics were again introduced, and he among his conversation, termed the Whigs Tories. In an instant the Lady withdrew her arm from his, and said—"Sir, my father is a Whig, and no Tory, and so was his father before him, and fought too, Sir, for the liberty which we enjoy. And further, Sir, I take pleasure in expressing to you, I have no more use for your services."

"But you are not going to walk such a distance as you have to walk, by yourself, are you?" "Yes, sir—sooner than walk with one who would disparage the name of Whig." And she did walk home by her self.—Baltimore Patriot.

REASONS FOR CHANGE.

The following extract from a recent letter of the Hon. John Ruggles, of Maine, not only defines his position, but contains matters worthy the serious consideration of every good citizen:

The foregoing considerations involve ample reasons, to my mind, for the total abandonment of Mr. Van Buren, by the Democratic party of Maine, and of the whole Union. The general voice of the country is loud for a CHANGE. It can not be for the worse. The people everywhere are preparing their minds for it. It seems hardly possible that any intelligent man can hesitate as to the result. The election of Gen. Harrison is placed beyond all rational doubt. In the elevation to the Presidency, of that illustrious Patriot and Statesman whose wisdom & bravery fill some of the brightest pages of American history, the country will be redeemed from misrule party corruption will be rebuked; popular liberty will be vindicated; party animosities will be assuaged; the government will be turned back upon those old Jeffersonian, democratic principles from which it has so widely departed; and returning confidence and prosperity will again gladden the hearts of all. The people will have a President, taking from among themselves, and possessing a common sympathy with them—one who has always mingled with his fellow citizens, farmers and laborers; fought the battles of his country with their side by side; followed the plough with them; and opened to them and to all, the door of kindness and hospitality; and who never knew the distinctions among men, which from any possible necessity, makes a President inaccessible to the people and insensitive to their wants and sufferings. In war, though a commanding General, he was the soldiers comrade and shared with him all his hardships and dangers. In peace he has always been the farmers companion and friend, participating with all classes of his fellow citizens, in the blessings which his own wisdom and labor so largely contributed to perpetuate. Such is Gen. Harrison. Such should be the President of the Union.

With heart felt offering of kindred sentiments to the "friends of Harrison in Waldo," I am, dear sir,
With true regard, your obt' servant,
John Ruggles.

Hon. JOSEPH WILLIAMSON.

Major Downing and the Scrub Pines.

We have just received the following letter from North Bend, in reply to the communication of "the Downingville Committee" sent through this paper a few days since. We hope "the grubbing" hint will not be lost upon the country, for we shall never see prosperity till that matter is attended to.

LOG CABIN—NOTH BEND,

SEPTEMBER 25, 1840.

To the Whig Committee at Downingville.
Respected Feller-citizens—I got your letter, telling me of your election down in Maine, and pretty considerable of a cleaning you have made of that business. Our old friend, the General was about as much pleased to hear on't as he was when he found the Ingins making tracks after they tried to corner him at Tippecanoe. "And now," says he, "Major, since your friends down East have begun 'the cleaning,' I hope they will plough deep, and plant a good winter crop by November." I was asking the General 'tother evening, whilst sitting together, and talking over matters, how it was that things went so badly of late years, and why one set of men couldn't govern the country as well as another set of men, seeing that some folks say "all men are born equal, in this free country."

"Well," says he, "Major I'll tell you,"—and with that he took his watch out, and says he—"there, I want you first to save me the trouble of taking that watch to Cincinnati to have it cleaned." "But," says I, "General, I can't clean that watch, I haint got the tools." says I. "Well," says he, "suppose I send for the tools, then you can—can't you?" "No," says I, "I don't think I can, because it aint my trade." "What," says he, "aint you born equal to that slim watch maker at Cincinnati?" Now this was a little of a puzzler, and it nettled me considerably. "But," says I, "General, I can chop down a tree, and lick him in the bargain, before he could split up an arm full of oven wood." "Well," says the General, "I suppose you could, Major, and that is about as high equality as you and the watch maker can come."

"But," says I, "General, how is it that folks now-a-days in office, don't seem to make things go as smooth as theyuster could?"

"Well, Major," says he, "I don't know how it is, unless folks thought that because when they were all little babies they were
