LOOK BACK!

From the history of the past, we can most safely draw intraction for the future. The keenest vision may be deceived, the brightest intellect be clouded, when we attempt to "Look Back!" From the impershable records of our country—from its annals, its histories, and its press are we to judge of the past Look Back, and see who were its deelenders when war was threatening us with desolation—Look back, and see who were its deelenders when war was threatening us with desolation—Look back, and see who were its deelenders when war was threatening us with desolation—Look back, and see who were the demandered as fories in 1814—Look back and see how people delighted to honor William Henry Harshot and what has occasioned a change—Look back and see how matters have been broken hopes blighted, and sufferings derived by him—how he has swerred from the paths of democracy, and banded with those who advocate the anti republicand ctrimes first trimphic over by the lection of Jefferson! Look back, and see how rounders have been broken hopes blighted, and sufferings derived by him—how he has swerred from the paths of democracy, and banded with those who advocate the anti republicand cors—see the Ritchies, the Ritters, and the Posters, and the Davosons now ving with each other in the base task of degrading our country's defender, when deep defender, when have the roor of a stillery, the individual of the posters, and the Davosons now ving with each other in the base task of degrading our country's defender, when deep the past of the post of the post of the post of the past of the past
