

"General, we have got him snug at last!" "Well," said the General to his friend "fellow-citizens the chase is up; the fox is in my possession, and I hope that you will be satisfied that the major and I will take good care of him, and give a good account of him. He is not in condition just now to be held up by the tail, he has had a hard run and is considerably sick, but he'll do no more harm, let all go home and let their poultry out as in good times. You will not be troubled for a good spell to come, and if you are, it's your own fault, not mine." And with that they all joined in three hearty cheers for Tippecanoe and Tyler too, and thus ended one of the greatest fox chases ever heard of on shore, and I have only told a very small part of it.

Yours, fellow-citizens,
J. DOWNING, Major, &c. &c.

Democracy TRIUMPHANT!

THE FEDERAL PARTY DEFEATED.

Sound the loud trumpet o'er CORRUPTION'S dark sea.
The PEOPLE have triumphed, the NATION is free.

OLD TIP Swept the Board.

It is now an historical fact that the result of the recent contest has proved the most splendid triumph of Democracy ever obtained over the trained bands of the Federal party now in power. The money of the nation and promises of place and power were used to defeat the voice of the People—calumny, fraud and corruption, were more than ever put in requisition—but to no avail. The People in their sovereign majesty have called their servants to account.—Democracy rejoices in the triumphant election of William Henry Harrison for President, and John Tyler for Vice President of the United States. Look at the returns, fellow citizens—East, West, North and South,—all have come to swell the triumph of Democracy. As we anticipated the popular majority for Harrison is the largest ever given to any President since the days of Washington.

We rejoice in the victory that has been achieved—not from personal feeling alone, but from the fact that the People have still an abiding faith in the true principles of the Old School. It fully demonstrates that when the People govern they can & will peacefully overthrow any attempts to encroach upon their liberties under whatever garb such attempts may be made—that though they may have been deluded for a season with the name of Democracy, they have seen their error, and in the spirit of Democracy they rally and overthrow the base counterfeits, and choose a relic of the revolution to ensure the re-establishment of the glorious principles that have actuated the sires of our Country. Gen Harrison was no partisan candidate, but he was the People's choice—he has no partisan preferences to gratify, but when the time arrives he will assume the duties of Chief Magistrate of this great nation, determined only on making it what it was intended it should ever be—"Great, Glorious and Free."—Evening Star.

A BLOODY TRAGEDY.—The Olive Branch of the 13th ult., published at Monroe, La., contains the account of a fatal and bloody rencontre which lately occurred in Bayou Mason, in the Parish of Carroll. The particulars were given to the editor of the Olive Branch by a gentleman from Lake Providence:

It appears that suspicions had long been entertained of a secret association of robbers on Island No. 92, in the Mississippi. The whole country was rife with accounts of their depredations. After the late murder of a Mr. Webb, on Bayou Mason, it became the determination of the people to use every means for their extermination. One of the clan, a man by the name of Lavery, was known to be at the house of Garret P. Rollins, on the Bayou, and was extensively known as a negro thief. Mr. Wm. A. Coleman, deputy sheriff of Carroll, determined to arrest him, and for that purpose started in company with three others, in pursuit. On arriving near the house they separated, Coleman and one of the men going in front, and the other two to the back part. Lavery, in the meantime, had been informed that there was a warrant out for him, and when he spied Coleman and his companions nearing the house, he snatched up a double barreled gun and rushed to the door.

Colman commanded him to surrender. He then asked Colman if he intended to shoot him. Colman replied that unless he surrendered he most certainly would. At this instant they both raised their guns and fired so nearly together that the difference could scarcely be distinguished. Colman was shot with a double barreled gun, and fell dead on the spot, one buck shot entering his throat, another his chin, and twelve just below the nose. Lavery was shot with two rifle balls, both entering on the left side, one just below the nipple, and the other about two inches to the right a little above. He did not fall, but grasped his gun with a desperate firmness, and attempted to cock the other barrel. He was then fired on by Colman's companion, who missing him, rushed forward and knocked him down with the butt of his gun. At this instant one of the men who had gone to the back part of the house came up, and placing the muzzle of his gun against Lavery's head, fired, scattering his brains over the yard. The neighbors soon assembled under a great deal of excitement, a hole was dug in the earth, and Lavery, his boots, hat and all were pitched in and covered up.

A POETESS GONE.—We notice in the papers the marriage of Miss Catherine H. Waterman, the poetess. She is a gifted young woman, and it she can concoct a good pudding, as readily as she can a good poem, we envy the fortunate gentleman that has secured her for a companion.—Times.

EXCESS OF MODESTY.—The New Orleans Native American says that a young gentleman, lately bathing in the Mississippi river, on observing some ladies suddenly approaching, instantly drowned himself from motives of extreme delicacy. This was very proper and very delicate.

The following new version of "Cock Robin," said to be an improvisation, was sent to the editor of the New York American, by a young lady of that city:

- I
Who killed small Matty?
We, says Tippecanoe,
I and Tyler too;
We killed small Matty.
- II
Who saw him die? O!
I, says Ohio,
With my big Buckeye! O!
I saw him die.
- III
Who made the shroud?
I, says Delaware,
I made it with great care,
I made the shroud.
- IV
Who dug his grave?
I, says sturdy Maine,
I would do it again,
I dug his grave.
- V
Who tolled the bell?
I, says Jersey Blue,
And pretty loudly too,
I tolled the bell.
- VI
Who carried the link?
I, says Arkansas,
With my bowie knife in paw
I'll carry the link.
- VII
Who'll carry him to the grave?
I, says big New York,
He's light as a cork,
I'll carry him to the grave.
- VIII
Who'll bear the pall?
Missouri and Illinois,
Must try and find two more
To help bear his pall.
- IX
Who'll be chief mourner?
Says the State of Isaac Hill,
I claim that honor still,
I'll be chief mourner.
- X
Who'll be the parson?
I, says Kentucky,
And I think my text is lucky
MENE, TEKEL, EUPHRASION!
- XI
Who'll be the clerk—
I, said Pennsylvania,
Who have done as much as any,
And I'll be the clerk—
- The last verse we add ourselves, to make it complete.—Evening Star.

PAIN OR WEAKNESS.
In all cases of pain and weakness, whether it be chronic or recent—whether it be deafness, or pain in the side—whether it arise from constitutional, or from some immediate cause—whether it be from internal or external injury, it will be cured by persevering in the use of Brandereth's Vegetable Universal Pills—because, purging with these Pills those humors from the body, is the true cure for all these complaints and every other form of disease. This is no mere assertion, it is a demonstrable truth, and each day it is extending itself far and wide—it is becoming known and more and more appreciated.

When constant exercise cannot be used, from any cause, the occasional use of opening medicines, such as one as Brandereth's Vegetable Universal Pills, is absolutely required. Thus the conduits of the blood, the fountain of life, are kept free from those impurities which would prevent its steady current ministering to health. Thus morbid humors are prevented from becoming mixed with it. It is nature which is thus assisted through the means and outlets which she has provided for herself.

BRANDRETH'S PILLS.—This medicine is acknowledged to be one of the most valuable ever discovered, as a purifier of the blood and fluids. It is superior to Sarsaparilla whether as a sudorific or alterative, and stands infinitely before all the preparations and combinations of Mercury its purgative properties are alone of incalculable value, for these pills may be taken daily for any period, and instead of weakening by the cathartic effect, they add strength by taking away the cause of weakness. They have none of the miserable effects of that deadly specific Mercury. The teeth are not injured—the bones and limbs are not paralysed—no; but instead of these distressing symptoms, new life and consequent animation is evident in every movement of the body.

Brandereth's Pills are indeed a universal remedy; because they cleanse and purify the blood. Five years this medicine has been before the public in the United States wherever it has been introduced, it has superseded all other remedies.
Dr. B. Brandereth, No. 8 North 8th St Philadelphia, Pa.
Purchase them in HUNTINGDON, of Wm. STEWART, and only in the county of agents published in another part of this paper. Remember every agent has a certificate of agency, dated within the last twelve months. If of an earlier date do not purchase.

STAGNATION OF THE BLOOD.—The repeated changes in the atmosphere, by acting as they do upon the consistence and quality of the blood, give occasion for the most fatal and malignant disorders. The blood from a state of health becomes stagnant and is plunged into a state of corruption.

Thus it loses its purity; its circulation is impeded; the channels of life are clogged; the bowels become costive, and if not an immediate attack of some malignant fever, headache, nausea, loss of appetite, and a general debility of the whole frame are sure to follow.

It requires the tempest and the tornado to bring about a state of purity in the ocean, when its waters become stagnant; and it will require repeated evacuations by the bowels before the blood can be relieved of its accumulated impurity.

From the Boston Chronicle, Jan. 10

We see by an advertisement in another column that Messrs. Comstock & co., the American Agents for Oldridge's Balm of Columbia, have deputies to sell that article in Boston and elsewhere. We know a lady of this city whose hair was so nearly gone as to expose entirely her phenological developments, which, considering that they betokened a most amiable disposition, was not in reality very unfortunate. Nevertheless she mourned the loss of locks that she had worn, and after a year's fruitless resort to misallied restoratives, purchased; some months ago, a bottle or two of Oldridge's Balm, and she has now ringlets in rich profusion, glossy, and of raven blackness. We are not puffing, none of the commodity has been sent to us, and indeed, we do not want any, for though we were obliged to wear a wig a year ago, we have now, though its virtue, hair enough, and of a passable quality, of our own.

To the Bald Headed.—This is to certify, that I have been bald about twenty years, and by the use of the genuine Balm of Columbia, my head is now covered with hair. I shall be happy to convince any one of the fact that will call and see me Delhi village. The above article I bought at Griswold, Case & co's store, who had it from Comstock & Co.

JOHN JAQUISH, Jr.

DARING FRUD

The Balm of Columbia has been imitated by a notorious counterfeiter. Let it never be purchased or used unless it has the name of L. M. Comstock, or the signature of Comstock & co. on a splendid wrapper. This is the only external test that will secure the public from deception.

CAUSE OF DYSPEPSIA.

This disease often originates from a hab. of overloading or distending the stomach by excessive eating or drinking, or very protracted periods of fasting, an indolent or sedentary life, in which no exercise is afforded to the muscular fibres or mental faculties, fear grief, and deep anxiety, taken too frequently str ng purging medicines, dysentery, mias, carriages, intermittent and syasmodic affections of the stomach and bowels; the most common of the latter causes are late hours and the too frequent use of spiritous liquors.

SYMPTOMS.

Dyspepsia may be described from a want of appetite or an unnatural and voracious one; sometimes bilious vomiting, sudden and transient distensions of the stomach after eating, acid and prurulent eructations, waterbrash, pains in the region of the stomach, costiveness palpitation of the heart, dizziness and dimness of sight, disturbed rest, tremors, mental despondency, flatulency, spasms, nervous irritability, chilliness, salowness of complexion, oppressing after eating, general languor and debility; this disease will also very often produce the sick headache, as proved by the experience of those who have suffered of it.

J. Fisher & A. K. Cornyn. ATTORNEYS AT LAW.

WILL carefully attend to all business committed to their care in the Courts of Huntingdon & Mifflin counties. Mr. Cornyn may be found at his office, in Market St., opposite the Store of Mr. Dorris, in the borough of Huntingdon.
