

new; and yet "great and immediate repairs are indispensable." Well, that is something strange. Both statements cannot be true. If the first be true we suppose he wants a large repair fund to "lay pipes" with his ten day boys on the line of canal, as he would like to secure his election again. If the latter be true of course the first is not.

In another place he "forcibly admonishes" the Legislature not to incur "additional responsibilities" without a corresponding increase of means to meet them. He then shows plainly that there is no way by which the increase of means can be obtained. This is all very well, so far as it goes, and sounds very well until you read on a little farther, when you find that he has forgotten all about his opposition to the "additional responsibilities," and hints that a "further subscription to the Bald Eagle and Spring Creek Navigation Company" would accord with his views. Then he notices the Williamsport and Elmira rail-road, as one that he thinks could stand a little "additional responsibility;" and others he says might be noticed. Then he wants an appropriation to assist the "Spectators," or, as they are scientifically called, the State Geologists.

Whatever may have been the views as to the Geological survey of the State, we feel confident that now the opinion is established that the promised benefits were mostly imaginary, and the money expended has been of little or no service to the people, and is merely expended to pay some dozen or more "soap locked" gentlemen to ride about the country in the summer and sip mint juleps through a straw, and occasionally to pack up the end of some old stone wall or a few quarry stones in a box and send them off to lay in some warehouse till they are unceremoniously thrown into the street; or if examined, they turn out as did the mysterious "A. D. L. L." on the hollow stone of the antiquary when explained by the learned Edie Ochiltree. To the former in his imagination it told of the mighty men of some ancient empire; and to the honest old beggar it meant simply "Akin Drum's Lung Ledge."

We have already written more than we intended on the subject of the message. Let us, however, add an earnest solicitation, that every man who loves to see precept and practice agree, who professes to admire principle, above the violated pledges of a man; will read all Gov. Porter's message—will examine his conduct; and then see if he can satisfy his conscience that he is consistent or honest in his political course.

Pennsylvania Legislature.

On Tuesday of last week, the Legislature of this State assembled. In the Senate, after the preliminary business, C. B. Penrose was elected Speaker and some preliminary business transacted, when Brown, of Philadelphia co., moved to restrict the number of news papers for the members to one, lost 23 to 9. In the House, W. A. Crabb, (whig) was elected Speaker.

On Thursday in the senate a petition was presented from the Commissioners of this county to be authorized to borrow money. The following committees were announced by the speaker:

- ON ACCOUNTS.—Messrs. Cochran, Kingsbury, Snyder, Brooke, Maclay.

PUBLIC BUILDINGS.—Messrs. Brooke, Hays, Snyder, Hiestler, Killinger.
The bill to borrow money in this county passed committee of the whole. Geo. W. Hamersley was elected Clerk, who nominated S. W. Pearson, of Somerset, as assistant, confirmed. S. T. Williams was elected Sergeant-at-arms, and J. D. Wade Door keeper. In the House, A. Ramsey was elected Clerk, and David Todd made assistant. J. G. Patterson was elected Sergeant-at-arms, Geo. Shaffer Door keeper. A Resolution was offered by Mr. Broadhead directing the State Treasurer not to pay any more money to the "Stone rollers"—laid on the table.

On Friday, In the Senate the Bill to authorize the Commissioners of this Co. to borrow money finally passed. A long debate was had on the subject of electing printers. The State Treasurer, A. H. Read, sent in his report, and a motion made to print the usual number of copies, (one for each member of the Senate.)—Wm. B. Reed Esq., advocated the motion, and said :

The report said Mr. R. is elaborate—very elaborate. But the part relative to the finances is comprised in very few pages. The rest is vague, speculative theory on the subject of political economy. And there is much curious matter in it. Mr. R. then referred to several particular passages of the report, particularly those in favor of State and National debts, and which declare that national debts are national debts are national blessings. He said that he did not intend to quarrel with the doctrines advanced, but thought them strange, coming from the source they did. But, he said, he found, on looking at the journal of the House of Representatives of 1852, that a report was then made from the committee of Ways and Means on the finances, and that the report now sent in, as coming from the State Treasurer, is, in many striking passages, the very same that was sent from the committee. He did not, however charge the Treasurer with plagiarism, as he believed the same gentleman who is now State Treasurer was then Chairman of the Committee referred to.

Mr. R. then called upon the clerk to read a passage from the State Treasurer's report, which being done he took up Hazard's Register and read the same passage from the old report of the committee to which he had referred.

This said he, in but a single specimen. If the Senate will refer to the report it will be that of eleven pages to be found in it, 10 are copied from the old House of Representatives document. He then quoted a passage used in the Treasurer's report relative to the "nuptials of the waters of the east and west," which same passage word for word, is to be found in the document from the committee of Ways and Means.

Now, said Mr. R., gentlemen talk of form and economy, and yet an officer of the Government sends us in here an old worn out Journal of the House of Representatives, copied into manuscript, as a Treasurer's report !!! He thought it was a trifling away of the dignity of the Treasurers office, and a waste of the public time as well as money, because if the facts to which he alluded had not been accidentally discovered, the document in its new dress would doubtless have been printed.

From the Boston Chronicle, Jan. 10
We see by an advertisement in another column that Messrs. Comstock & Co., the American Agents for Oldridge's Balm of Columbia, have deputies to sell that article in Boston and elsewhere. He know a lady of this city whose hair was so nearly gone as to expose entirely her phrenological developments, which, considering that they betokened a most amiable disposition, was not in reality very unfortunate. Nevertheless she mourned the loss of locks that she had worn, and after a year's fruitless resort to miscalled restoratives, purchased; some months ago, a bottle or two of Oldridge's Balm, and she has now ringlets in rich profusion, glossy, and of raven blackness. We are not puffing, none of the commodity has been sent to us, and indeed, we do not want any, for though we were obliged to wear a wig a year ago, we have now, though its virtue, hair enough, and of a passable quality, of our own.
To the Bald Headed.—This is to certify, that I have been bald about twenty years, and by the use of the genuine Balm of Columbia, my head is now covered with hair. I shall be happy to convince any one of the fact that will call and see me Delhi village. The above article I bought at Griswold, Case & co's store, who had it from Comstock & Co.
JOHN JAQUISH, Jr.
DARING FRUD
The Balm of Columbia has been imitated by a notorious counterfeit. Let it never be purchased or used unless it has the name of L. M. Comstock, or the signature of Comstock & Co, on a splendid wrapper. This is the only external test that will secure the public from deception.

DR. Swayne's Compound Syrup of Prunus of Virginia or wild Cherry
This syrup highly beneficial in all pectoral affections; also, in diseases of the chest in which the lungs do not perform their proper office from want of due nervous energy; such as asthma, pulmonary consumption, recent or chronic coughs, hoarseness, whooping cough, wheezing and difficulty of breathing, croup and spitting of blood, &c. How many sufferers do we daily behold approaching to an untimely grave, wrested in the bloom of youth from their dear relatives and friends, afflicted with that common and destructive ravager, called consumption, which soon wastes the miserable sufferer until they become beyond the power of human skill; if such sufferers would only make a trial of Dr. Swayne's invaluable medicine, they would soon find themselves benefited; than by gulping the various ineffective certain remedies of which our newspapers daily abound. This syrup immediately begins to heal the ulcerated lungs, stopping profuse night sweats, mitigating the distressing cough at the same time inducing a healthy and natural expectoration, also relieving the shortness of breath and pain in the chest, which harass the sufferer on the slightest exercise, and finally the hectic flash in the pallid and emaciated cheek will soon begin to vanish, and the sufferer will here perceive himself snatched from a premature grave, into the enjoyment again of comfortable health.
