

THE CAUSES.

The New York Commercial Advertiser philosophises most Jaques like upon the defeat of his party in the same State, and evinces a solemn determination to submit as cheerfully to the event as circumstances will allow.

Having, in our day, experienced some of the mortifications to which our contemporary refers, we find him one writ with us in our misfortune's book.

The loss having been made certain, our friend naturally makes the inquiry as to the cause. And he says, "In the first place, the loss of the State is not owing to Captain Tyler." That is the negative. Positively, it is said that dissatisfaction has sprung up with reference to the administration of the State—veto or no veto.

The Commercial then intimates it is evident that domestic dissatisfaction has produced the result. A correspondent of the paper, on the same day in which the editor thus speaks, closes an article by assigning another and quite a different reason for the defection.

"One word more. I do not believe the defection of Maine, Maryland and Georgia, has been caused by the veto. It comes of another cause. The Whigs did not fight against shadows. They fought the army of the office holders. Having vanquished them, and their commander, they cannot brook to see that army kept in place, to wag their tails, and shake their fingers, and screw their mouths at them, as their victors. President Harrison lost Pennsylvania before he died—and if President Tyler wishes to be sustained, let him dismiss the army of Van Burn, and appoint his own Whig officers. Here's the secret. Take my word for it. I am your friend.

"ANTI LOCOFOCO."

Now it is probable that truth may be found in and about all these reasons. We do not mean that the Whigs expected what "Anti-Locofoco" asserts; but while they look for some changes, they looked for a general principle upon which all could be made. Whereas it would seem that a part of the former Cabinet seized upon what each thought his share of the spoils, and gave it where it would tell best for himself, without discrimination as to public deservings, or without regard to anything like an equality of favour. In one place, the whole race of Locofoco office holders are retained—in another, they are all swept out. In one place, an editor is heaped up with office and in another he is denied the pitiful position of Postmaster, because he is an editor.

In one place a man has been denied office because, being a partisan, he may bring the general Government into collision with the State elections; and in another place, public officers have their income doubled by identical patronage, with a view to the efficacy of their political action.

These things, it strikes us, should enter into the calculation of any man who would account for the present calamitous appearances. It is, in our opinion, injustice to the Whigs as a party, to throw the censure on them, without inquiring as to their motives.

But these discomfitures are not defeats. These sudden reversions will result in strong reactions; and when the feelings of the Whigs have been expressed, they will return to their shoulder to shoulder position, and stand in the majority, as they ought to stand.—U. Gazette.

GEN. HARRISON POISONED.

We hardly know what to say or think of the following from the New England Review. The suspicion is too horrible to be entertained; and we are willing to respect it as perfectly idol, but still it belongs to the history of the times. The Review says—"we have learned from private sources that when the body of Gen. Harrison was disinterred, previous to its removal to North Bend, on opening the coffins in which it was enclosed, the head had swollen so large as to burst the glass case fitted around it. It was examined by medical men, and others, and the conclusion to which they came, left room for the horrible suspicion that he had been poisoned to death!

Of the fact, as we now state it, there can be no doubt, for we have the most positive proof, and it only seems strange to us that no further investigations were made at the time, to satisfy the mind in regard to any other evidence of murder having been committed. There is one established fact, however, which strongly favors the idea that such might have been the case, and that is, nothing but poison could have produced such an effect upon the head, and caused it to swell in such a manner. And if there be any disease which might induce such a swelling, still the disease of which it was generally thought and alleged he died, could not possibly be the cause.

The opinion that Gen Harrison was murdered, is becoming prevalent among the people of Washington, and the above is the reason which they assign for such a distressing belief. And yet in thinking over the matter, we can hardly convince ourselves that we are dealing with facts—but such is the case. The mystery is full of horror, and yet it is no phantom, no chimeras of the brain, but a real tangible, fearful reality.

The truth is not known—may never be known—save only by Him whose eye is upon all things, searching out even the thoughts of men, as well as being coadjutor of the deeds. What deeds of horror Eternity will bring to light which time has only served to cloak with the oblivion of secrecy and silence!

Death of the Hon. Jas. Merrill.

We regret to learn by a letter from New Berlin, Union county, that this gentleman died on the 29th ultimo. Mr. M. was a member of the Convention for amending the Constitution, and ran as the Harrison candidate in the 16th Congressional District last year. He was a native of Vermont, and a graduate of Dartmouth College, N. H.; possessed of fine talents, unassuming in his manners, and of unimpeachable integrity, he occupied a conspicuous station at the bar, and his premature death will be sincerely mourned by the many who were proud of his friendship.

A SUICIDE.—The Providential Journal says, "Remember Cole, watchman of the railroad depot, near the Pavilion, was found in the depot, yesterday morning, suspended by his neck, with his throat cut. He had apparently jumped from a ladder, after adjusting the rope and cutting his throat. He has left a wife and two children, and was a remarkably steady and industrious man. No reason is assigned for the rash act. His age was about thirty years."—The Inquirer.

TO SHOPPERS.—There is one rule to be observed by ladies and others in shopping, in which you never can be mistaken. It is this—those who have goods to sell are sure to advertise them—having determined to sell low, they wish to make it known. It is those who maintain the old continental prices that never advertise. Any announcement of new or cheap goods is apt to disturb them in their high, old fashioned profits. The rule to be observed then is, never buy from those who never advertise, unless you want to pay 20 per cent more than you should.—Pittsburg American.

COUGHS & COLDS.

THE CAUSE OF CONSUMPTION. Simple as these complaints are usually considered, no one can deny their being the most common cause of this fatal and distressing disease. It is indeed a melancholy truth, that thousands fall victims to consumption every year from no other cause than NEGLECTED COLDS. Yet we find hundreds, my thousands, who treat such complaints with the greatest indifference, and let them run on for weeks and even months without thinking of the danger. At first you have what you may consider a slight COUGH or COLD; you allow business, pleasure or carelessness to prevent you from giving it any attention, it then settles on your breast, you become hoarse, have pains in the side or chest, expectorate large quantities of matter, perhaps mixed with blood, a difficulty of breathing ensues, and then you find your own foolish neglect has brought on this distressing complaint. If then you value life or health, be warned in time, and don't trifle with your COLD, or trust to no quack nostrum to cure you, but immediately procure a bottle or two of that famous remedy the "Balsam of Wild Cherry," which is well known to be the most speedy cure ever known, as thousands will testify whose lives have been saved by it.

Be very particular when you purchase for ask for "Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry," as there is also a syrup of this name in use. Prepared, wholesale and retail, by Williams & Co., Chemists, No. 33 South Fourth street, Philadelphia. Price $1.00 a bottle. Sold at Huntingdon, by Thomas Read, and at Hollidaysburg by James Orr.

READ WHAT IT HAS DONE.

And if you have a friend, relation, or know any one that is afflicted with that distressing disease, "CONSUMPTION," persuade them without delay to try that famous and unrivalled medicine, the "BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY," which has cured thousands of this complaint after every thing else had failed. Read the following undoubted proofs of its efficacy.

Roxborough, Sept. 1841.

Dear Sir,—Please send me two bottles more of your Balsam of Wild Cherry, like that you sent me before. I have taken nearly all of the first two, and confidently believe this medicine will cure me. I have used a great many remedies within the last year, but have never found any thing that has relieved me so much. It has stopped my cough entirely, checked my night sweats, and I sleep better at night and feel better in every way than I have for many months.

Yours, respectfully, JAMES KELLY. Holmesburg, Sept. 12, 1841. Friend Wistar,—I must again trouble thee to send me two bottles more of thy invaluable Balsam. I have now taken three bottles in all, and can assure thee that it has done me more good than all the medicine I have ever taken before. Send by the stage as soon as possible, and oblige thy friend, JACOB HOLLOWAY.

Bristol, September 8, 1841. Dear Doctor,—Hearing so many people talk about the wonderful cures your Balsam of Wild Cherry has made in consumption, I sent to one of your agents the other day for a bottle, and have found it to relieve me so much, that I want three bottles more sent soon, as I believe it will cure me for ever. I used a great many balsams of different kinds have tried Jane's Expectant and other medicines besides, but nothing has done me so much good as yours has. Send by the steamboat Bolivar. Yours truly, WM. THOMAS. Besides its astonishing efficacy, in Consumption, it is also the most effectual remedy ever discovered for Liver Complaints, Asthma, Bronchitis, Coughs, Cr-up, Whooping Cough, &c., as hundreds will testify who have been cured by it after all other remedies had failed.

COUGHS & COLDS.

This is the season when this destructive complaint attacks your interesting little children often rob you of those you fondly doted on, and carries hundreds to the grave. Every mother should, therefore, know its symptoms, watch them closely, and always be prepared with a remedy to cure it, as many are daily sacrificed by such neglect. At first the little patient is seized with shivering, it grows restless, has flashes of heat, the eyes become red and swollen, it breathes with difficulty, and then comes that fearful COUGH that will surely terminate in convulsions or death unless something is immediately given to check it. In this complaint the "Balsam of Wild Cherry," is well known to be the most speedy cure ever discovered. It is indeed a precious remedy—safe and innocent, and sure to give the little sufferer immediate relief, and quickly restore it to safety and health. Every mother who loves her children should always keep it in the house and give it to them early, by doing so you may often save the life of one you fondly love. Remember this is the famous remedy of that distinguished physician, Dr. Wistar, which have cured thousands of Croup, Whooping Cough, Asthma, Consumption, &c., after every other medicine had failed.

Be particular when you purchase to ask for "Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry," as there is a Syrup of this name advertised that is entirely a different medicine. Prepared only by Williams & Co., Chemists, No. 33 South Fourth street, Philadelphia. Price, $1.00 a bottle.

Sold in Huntingdon by THOMAS READ, and in Hollidaysburg by James Orr. Nov. 3, 1841.

TO THE PATRONS OF THE BRANDRETH VEGETABLE UNIVERSAL PILLS.—I have often found persons desirous to know how soon this medicine will cure them. It is impossible to say—it altogether depends upon the state of the blood and humors. One thing may be relied upon—that if the pills are persevered with according to the printed directions which accompanies each box, the cure will be effected much sooner than they expect could have expected. The many lingering chronic diseases we daily see, are owing either to mercury or bleeding, or to not having been properly purged in Fevers, Inflamations, Colds, Measles Small Pox, or lying-in. It is utterly impossible for us to attain or keep health without sound purging. We may fasten up the disorder by barks and tonics, but if it be in the body, it must come out before health can be enjoyed, and sooner or later it will break out of itself worse than ever, if this method of purifying the blood is delayed too long. No danger can arise from purging with Brandreth's Vegetable Pills. It has been proved, beyond doubt, that these celebrated pills and the human body are naturally adapted one for the other. By the use of this glorious medicine the contents of the body can be entirely evacuated, altered and completely regenerated; and in a manner so simple as to give every day ease and pleasure.

B. BRANDRETH, M. D. Stewart Huntingdon.
