Democratic State Convention.

Whereas, the General Assembly of Pennsylvania, at its late session, enacted a law by which the Freeman of the State are required, at the general election in October next, to elect, by a popular vote, a Board of Canal Commissioners: And whereas, it is important that the democratic Harrison party should preserve a full and complete organization of all its forces by the presentation of honest, faithful and competent candidates, distinguished for their integrity, in favor of a prudent and economical management of the public works, and opposed to the wasteful expenditures and flagrant abuses of the present administration, to the free and independent voters of the State, for their support:—The undersigned State Committee, therefore, call upon the members of said party, in the different counties to elect at such times and places as they may think proper, in conformity with the usages of the party, Delegates from each Senatorial and Representative District, pursuant to the provisions of the Senatorial and Representative Apportionment Act, passed at the recent session of the Legislature, and equal to the number of Senators and Representatives from such county or district, to meet in General Convention, at Harrisburg, on WEDNESDAY, THE 6th DAY OF SEPTEMBER, NEXT, at 12 o'clock, M., to nominate suitable candidates for CANAL COMMISSIONERS, to be supported by the Harrison Democratic party of the State, at the ensuing general election.

GEORGE FORD, Lancaster, HENRY MONTGOMERY, Harrisburg, WILLIAM M. WATTS, Erie, WM. F. HUGHES, Philadelphia co., JOHN G. MILES, Huntingdon, JOHN TAGGART, Northumberland, HARMER DENNY, Pittsburg, JOHN S. RICHARDS, Reading, JACOB WEYGANDT, Easton, May 17, 1843.

FOREIGN NEWS.

Arrival of the Acadia.

The steamship Acadia arrived at Boston on Thursday, the 1st inst. in 12 1/2 days from Liverpool. There appears to be but little interest by her, except the following:

Progress of repeal in Ireland—Wellington's threat of a Resort to Arms—O'Connell's Preparation for defence—Troops pouring into Ireland.

The agitation for the Repeal of the Union is making strides in Ireland very alarming to the Government. Mr. O'Connell has remained at home organizing his plans for moving his countrymen, and he has succeeded effectually. Tens of thousands are congregated under the Repeal Standard, and the country is in the same fearful state of agitation as in 1829.

By the fast sailing brig Elizabeth, Captain Romington, we have received papers to the 21st ult. but see but little interest in them. The news from Campeachy is not so late as we have via New Orleans.—The city was tolerably healthy for the season, and the markets well supplied with American produce. Freights to Europe were not plenty, and had declined.

We notice in the Diario de la Habana, a very neat cut and full description of the celebrated aerial machine, which has generally appeared in the English and American newspapers.

The Monterey Affairs. A Mexican paper, the Conciliador, alluding to this affair, says that "the public have already pronounced their judgment, and whilst the United States refrain from condemning in a formal and explicit manner, the conduct of Commodore Jones, until the manifests which he published on landing his force, shall be disavowed officially, a manifesto declaring that his operations were conformable to orders from his superiors, the Mexican Government will have reason to doubt the good faith of its Northern neighbors, and for our part we shall believe that the attack was made in consequence of a plan long ago concerted by the U. S. Government."

The British Corn Laws.—The repeal of the Corn Laws has been again agitated in the British House of Commons without any result that promises favorably for the future success of the agitators.—The debate arose upon a motion of Mr. VILLIERS that the House resolve itself into a committee for the consideration of those laws, "with a view for their immediate abolition." The discussion continued for four nights, when Sir ROBERT PEELE in a closing speech announced his intention to make no change in the existing laws. The motion was lost by a vote of 381 to 125, giving the Ministers a majority of one hundred and fifty-six. It thus appears that the present House of Commons stands more than three to one in favor of the Corn Laws as they are.

It may be safely concluded, we presume, that so long as the government of Great Britain rests upon its existing basis, and under the control of a landed aristocracy, so long will the corn law system, or one similar to it, continue in force.

From Nassau, N. F. By letters of recent date from Nassau, received via Baltimore, we learn that six or eight slaves had stolen a fine pilot boat sloop from Key West, and made good their escape to New Providence, or some one of the neighboring islands. They were pursued up to Nassau by the owners, but neither they nor the vessel could be found. The latter may probably be recovered, but the negroes on reaching a British colony, are at once free, as has been seen in several instances. Such occurrences are well calculated to keep up an angry feeling on the part of the southern States towards the English government, for thus encouraging runaway slaves without making any remuneration for the loss of property.

The Government House, the residence of Sir Francis Cockburn, was near being blown up lately from the carelessness of a soldier, who, with three or four others, were at work in the cellar. The soldier, accidentally dropped from his pipe a coal of fire among some loose powder, which exploded, dreadfully wounding, if not killing the men, and setting the building on fire, but by the prompt exertion of the garrison and citizens, the flames were extinguished without very great injury.—This building was erected by the colony at great expense, for the residence of their Governors, and would have been a serious loss if destroyed. There is no other news of importance.

The Sandwich Islands.

The "Courier des Etats Unis" (French paper here,) calls attention to the English seizure and occupation of the Sandwich Islands. It analyses the charges alleged against the King, and rebuts them at length. The Courier justly adds, there is a great difference between Admiral Dupeut Thouar's occupation of the Marquesas, and the Society Islands, "uncultivated, almost uninhabited, and upon which has not penetrated yet the civilization of Europe," and this seizure of the Sandwich Islands, which have so long been open to civilization, and which have made such rapid progress. The Sandwich Islands, it adds, like France, the United States and Great Britain, have their churches, their schools, their juries parliamentary government, which the English have seized upon, while France has only taken rocks, which she is transforming into asylums for all the navies of the world.—The Courier also calls attention to the fact, that the French Captain Mallet in the French corvette, the Embuscade, who presented himself in the port of Honolulu to demand a reparation for injuries inflicted upon the French, retired, even after an ultimatum when assured that an Ambassador had gone to Europe to settle their difference.—N. Y. Express.

We find the following pertinent note in a New York paper: "We lean that Messrs. Richards and Hallio are expected to return to the Islands shortly from Europe, having been successful in the object of their mission—that is, the acknowledgment of their independence."

The Trouble in Cuba.

The New Orleans Republican doubts the correctness of the reported rebellion in Cuba. It says—"We learn that several Spanish gentlemen who left Havana six days ago, declare they had not heard of an actual insurrection in the neighborhood of Santiago de Cuba. Their version of the story runs thus: The Governor of Santiago having received information that English abolitionists contemplated making an expedition from Jamaica, with the intention of creating a servile war on the Southern side of Cuba, sent an express to the captain-general at Havana. The letter thereupon ordered the Spanish vessels of war and steamers then in Havana to repair with due diligence to Santiago.—No overt act of revolt had occurred."

From Havana. By the fast sailing brig Elizabeth, Captain Romington, we have received papers to the 21st ult. but see but little interest in them. The news from Campeachy is not so late as we have via New Orleans.—The city was tolerably healthy for the season, and the markets well supplied with American produce. Freights to Europe were not plenty, and had declined.

A FRIENDLY HINT.

It is now more than a year since I disposed of the "Huntingdon Journal," and during that time, I have been waiting patiently upon those who are in my debt, for subscription and advertising. I have been living on promises; and what is more, those to whom I am indebted, have been obliged to take 'promises' from me; and they like myself, are getting out of patience with this kind of a 'credit system.' Now by way of a hint I wish to say to all who know themselves to be in arrears to me, that I must have my accounts closed; and there is another part of the story—I will, I am not disposed to be ill-natured, but mind I tell you all, I am out of money—nearly out of credit—and a settlement must be had between this and August Court—or—well I won't say what. A. W. BENEDICT. Huntingdon, May 3, 1843.—tac.
