

THE HUNTINGDON JOURNAL.

"One country, one constitution, one destiny."

Huntingdon, Pa.

Wednesday morning, Aug. 2, 1843.

J. V. B. PALMER, Esq. (No. 104 S. Third Street, Philadelphia,) is authorized to act as Agent for this paper, to procure subscriptions and advertisements.

Delegate Election.

By the notice of the County Committee, published in this paper, it will be seen that the Delegate Election is to be held in the several boroughs and townships, on Saturday next, at the usual places of meeting.

It is of great importance that these elections should be attended to, so that the sovereign voice of the People—expressed fully, fairly and unequivocally—may come up in the County Convention, on the following Wednesday, and present a Ticket to the Democracy of numbers in "Old Huntingdon" that will meet with their hearty approbation, and secure their united and active support on the Second Tuesday in October. Let this be done, and our word for it, we will triumph over all opposition let it assume whatever name it will.

The ensuing general election will be an important one; and sound judgment should therefore be exercised in all its preliminaries. The County Convention will be called upon to nominate candidates for the following offices:

- Two persons for Members of the House of Representatives;
- Two persons for County Commissioners—one to serve for one year and the other for three years;
- One person for County Treasurer;
- One person for County Auditor;

The Convention will also appoint Congressional Conferees to nominate (in conjunction with conferees from the counties of Centre, Mifflin and Juniata) a candidate for Member of Congress in this district.

And also two Delegates to the State Convention to meet at Harrisburg for the purpose of nominating three candidates for Canal Commissioners, and Conferees who, in conjunction with conferees from Bedford county, are to appoint a Senatorial Delegate to represent Huntingdon county in said Convention.

Mr. Wise intends making his 42nd Balloon ascension, from the city of Lancaster, on Saturday next, the 5th day of August. He has given notice that he will take as a passenger any person who will pay $100, and make known his intention ten days before the ascension. We do not know whether any one has agreed to go as a passenger.

The Comet. A letter from Onabate, published in the Providence Journal, gives an account of the comet, which was very brilliant and caused great alarm to the simple Islanders. It was first observed on the 17th of July, rising from the verge of the horizon to the height of thirty degrees, illuminating the ocean as far as the eye could reach. The natives at first thought a neighboring island was on fire. It measured fifty-four degrees in length and four degrees in breadth. It was supposed there that the temperature had risen very materially from the proximity of the celestial visitor.

Fire at Sing Sing Prison, New York.—A fire was discovered, on Wednesday morning, breaking out in three places, within the wall of the State Prison at Sing Sing, New York, and before it was extinguished, destroyed property to the amount of $10,000. The buildings destroyed are the brass shop, in which are manufactured stirrups and other articles used in the completion of harness, the plain maker shop, and the stone cutters shop, which had been fired in three places, by an incendiary. Fortunately the prisoners, to the number of 769 males, many of whom are men of desperate characters, were each confined in the separate cells at dinner, at the time the fire was discovered, or the consequence might have been the breaking loose of many desperadoes on the community in the confusion which the fire occasioned. There is something wrong in the management of this establishment.

Cumberland County—New Developments. The last Carlisle Herald says:—We learn from a correspondent that Gen. Thomas C. Miller, of Dickinson township, has recently discovered in sinking a shaft, in one of his Ore Banks at Cumberland Furnace, an immense deposit of pure red Ochre, the stratum or vein being twelve to fourteen feet thick, and of the finest quality, second only to the finest Venetian red, and quite superior to the Spanish brown or Baltimore red.

The General is now preparing it in large quantities for the market. It is so pure that he need do nothing more than dry it on scaffolds in the sun, and grind it through his mill, which prepares it for the finest kind of painting. His apparatus for drying, though very simple, is capable of preparing a ton a day. From the appearance of the mine, it is supposed there is an amount sufficient to supply the whole United States. It is now coming into general use in the immediate neighborhood, and painters using it pronounce the quality excellent, both for body and brilliancy of color, and there appears to be no doubt but it will soon supersede all other red paints now in use for barns, gates, wagons, ploughs, harrows, common tables, desks, and for all other common purposes.

Bedford. The Bedford Gazette of the 20th ult. says:—We are gratified to be able to state that there are now about 200 persons at the Bedford Springs, which is an unusually large number for this stage of the season. There is yet an abundance of room both at the springs and in town, and the accommodations are far superior to what they ever have been heretofore.

On the morning of the 12th of July, there was not only a heavy frost, but thin ice in the State of Michigan.

Of two hundred convicts in the penitentiary at Columbus, Ohio, one hundred and sixty are sick of the influenza.

Alphonso Smith, the Pickpocket.

The New York Tribune says:—"A fellow named Alphonso Smith went this afternoon on board the steamer Independence, Capt. Forbes, at pier No. 2, North River, and thrusting his hand into a gentleman's pocket had his pocket book nearly out, when Capt. Forbes sprung forward and caught him by the throat, and aided by officers Bliss, conducted him to the Police Office, where he was committed to prison. The gentleman who had his pocket picked, and who disappeared in the crowd, is particularly requested to call at the Police Office and make affidavit that the culprit may be punished.

This fellow, Smith, was pardoned out of the Philadelphia Penitentiary about three weeks since by Governor Porter, having been sentenced for three years to that prison for picking the pocket of Mr. Gideon Seull, of Philadelphia. Who is accountable for the last pocket picking, the thief Smith, or Governor Porter?"

More Riots in Canada.

A riot took place at Kingston, Canada, on the 12th ult. between a party of orangemen and their opponents, in the course of which fire arms were used, and a lad named Robert Morrison was killed. The troops were called out to quell the disturbance, and the Kingston Statesman says that three of the military were wounded, besides several men and boys. Both parties charge each other with the origin of the trouble.

Mr. Thibodeau, a gentleman holding some office under the Government, was arrested on the charge of having given order to fire when the lad Morrison was killed; but the Chronicle intimates that the charge was without foundation.

During the day, the Orangemen were celebrating the Battle of the Boyne by a grand dinner.

The New York Journal of Commerce says the Rev. Roosevelt Bailey, late Episcopal Rector at Herlem, has renounced Protestantism and become a Catholic.

Letters speak of the prevalence of Influenza in London. Whole families were down. The disease appears to be the same as in this country.

Camp Meeting.

The Hollidaysburg Register says:—"We understand that the Methodist Congregation intend holding a Camp Meeting near the 'Big Spring' at the Natural Tunnel, two miles east of this place; to commence on the 8th of September next."

The Philadelphia Gazette of Saturday last says that a new counterfeit 10 dollar note on the Kensington Bank has been put in circulation—the execution is excellent.

At the election in Louisiana, it appears the Loco Focos carried the four congressional districts by small majorities.

Hints to Parents and Rich Men.

The Forum of the 25th ult. says:—"We lately noticed a magnificent act on the part of Mr. Potter, of Princeton, (N. J.) in presenting his four children with $200,000 each on the 4th of July. This is said to be the second act of the kind on the part of Mr. P. We need no better proof of the sound sense and kindly heart of Mr. Potter. When parents have fortunes to bequeath to their children, it is much better to divide them before death. We have frequently observed with pain the ill-feelings engendered in families where children expect fortunes from their parents, and are obliged to await their demise before they can realize them. A hypocritical strife takes place for the affections of the parents—those who are from home are misrepresented and prejudiced by the children at the fire-side—the father is frequently persuaded to unnatural neglect of his elder born offspring by the younger members of the family, who are always present with him, and a degrading jealousy invariably disturbs the harmony of the household.

Besides this, there is, humiliating as may be the fact, a secret longing for the death of the testator, who is to enrich his heirs. The thirst for independence and riches knows no bounds, and often renders its victims callous to the ordinary feelings of human nature. The progress of time is carefully noted—the lapse of years and hours enters into the selfish calculation of the duration of human life, and every moment which protracts the delay of the rich man on the stage of life is regarded with jealous envy by his expectant heirs. We have witnessed many such scenes, and they are a part of every day history.

How much better would it be for the testator, as Mr. Potter, to distribute his fortune, while living, among his children? How much more congenial to a generous mind to see, before death, his descendants in the enjoyment of independent ease—to witness his offspring, by the aid of his own well directed bounty, rising to honorable position in society—to behold them through the influence of character and wealth become the ornaments of their family and the benefactors of society. We know of nothing more cruel than the spectacle of a parent living in affluence, with children struggling in poverty and distress against the buffetings of the world, refusing to extend to them the least aid from his own abundant stores. These observations will apply equally well to the man of competency, as well as the millionaire. Advancing age freezes the blood and dims the eye, but why should it dry up the heart and drown all the good feelings of our nature in avarice and selfishness? Why should age lose its sympathy with youth, and stinginess or parsimony take the place of generosity and good nature? Let us hope that the good example of Mr. Potter may have imitators.

Forgery in Boston. The Boston Times says that Mr. Charles Cole, Jr., a young and hitherto respectable merchant of that city, has been arrested on a charge of having committed a series of extensive and heavy forgeries. The notes were discounted by the Massachusetts Bank—one for $402, membership to Magellan, by Peters & Co.; a third for $1200 signed Winsor Pay, and one for $594 signed by Cole, and purporting to be endorsed by Fay. He was formerly President of the Mechanics' Bank and has held several posts of considerable mercantile responsibility. He has been bound over in heavy bonds for trial.

From St. Johns, P. R. By the supercargo of the brig Vesper, which left St. Johns, P. R., we are sorry to learn that the yellow fever prevailed to some extent among the shipping. American vessels had not suffered much, but nearly the entire crews of two English vessels had fallen victims to the disease. The crop of sugar and molasses was mostly shipped off, and freights dull, at 45 per cent. Markets well stocked with American provisions.

Coincidence. We were struck the other day, in looking at a work called the "Lives of the Presidents," with a few curious coincidences of numbers which relate to the line of five Presidents, beginning and ending with an Adams. Here is a table, for instance, of the periods in which they were born and went out of office:

Born.	John Adams.	Retired.
1735	John Adams,	1801
1743	Thomas Jefferson,	1809
1751	James Madison,	1817
1759	James Monroe,	1825
1767	J. Quincy Adams,	1829

Now, it will be seen by this that Jefferson was born just eight years after his predecessor Adams; Madison eight years after his predecessor Jefferson; Monroe eight years after Madison; and John Quincy Adams eight years after Monroe. Another curious fact to be observed is, that Adams was just sixty-six years old when he retired; Jefferson was sixty-six; and John Quincy Adams had been elected to a second term, would have been sixty-six—Adams, Jefferson and Monroe all died on the 4th of July.—N. Y. Post.

"One day whilst working at my plough."

MARRIAGE AND PLOUGHING.—On the 2d ult., Esquire Miller, Magistrate in the borough of Tarentum, Pa., went to the house of a man living five miles back of that place, according to previous arrangement, to marry a couple. He arrived at the appointed time, and finding no preparation for the wedding, he began to think he was hoaxed. He consequently went to a field where a man was ploughing, to see what was wrong. On his arrival the man stopped his plough, saying he would see if she was coming, and after walking a few steps, with his eyes fixed on a little hill at a short distance, they saw a beautiful girl of about sixteen, descending its heights, and wending her way towards them. It was her; and on her arrival, they were united in bonds of matrimony on the spot, and he went on with his ploughing! The man was said to be about thirty-six.

An Affecting Scene.

The New York Sun relates the following: A few days since, at Buffalo, a boat load of Germans landed from the canal, evidently direct from the "Faderland." Among them was an old lady and some three or four children, quite grown up; several tavern-keepers were around the boats, as is customary, to solicit patronage from the immigrants, and one of these approached the old lady, who immediately upon seeing him, threw herself upon his neck and wept, the children also embraced him, and tears and smiles alternately bore their sway; the explanation of the scene given was, that the old lady was on her way to Detroit in search of her husband, who had emigrated some years previous, and she had thus unexpectedly fallen upon him at this place. What a meeting! Who would not have been there to share in those feelings which overpowered the happy family with inexpressible delight, as the weary wanderers embraced the object of their search; as he recounted his deprivations and sufferings, his toils and efforts, to amass the means of bringing out his family; as the mother recounted the perils of her voyage, her alternate hopes and fears; and then as both surveyed their offspring, all poured out tears of joy at the happy event!—The conquests of a Napoleon furnish no delights to equal the happiness of a scene like this.

New Ground for the Exercise of Lynch Law.—One of the Louisville papers tells a story illustrative of new ground for the exercise of lynch law. A young lady of New Albany, Iowa, in the last stage of pulmonary consumption, who had been given over by the physicians of that place as incurable, was married on the 25th ult., after a short acquaintance, to a medical professional, under a solemn pledge that he would restore her to health; but the Albigans, believing him to be a humbug, gave him notice to quit, and he left the place in haste, to avoid a free suit of tar and feathers. The bride, who was obliged to sit in a chair while the vows were pronounced, was left behind.

Rebellion in Illinois. The St. Louis Era of the evening of the 5th, says:—"Two hundred citizens of Coles county, Illinois, have resolved in a public meeting that no heed should be paid to the decision of the Supreme Court of the United States setting aside the reapportionment law of Illinois; that all officers be advised not to carry out such decision in the sale of property; that they be asked to resign their offices if they cannot comply with such recommendation; and that they (the people) will oppose them by all fair and mild means, and if that will not do, they will oppose them by force of arms and all other means in their power; that committees be appointed to ascertain from such officers whether they will persist in such sales or will resign their places; that the meeting appoint officers to carry out the resolutions; that the decision of the Supreme Court is regarded as unjust, and not binding on the people of Illinois; and that they pledge their lives, fortunes and sacred honors to sustain their resolutions."

Another Breach of Promise. $20,000 had been served by Sheriff Stryker on a gentleman in Flauds for a breach of promise of marriage. Whether the arrest of the "gay Lothario" reminded one Miss Long of a promise made by one Francis Gerrity, both parties being natives of the Emerald Isle, is more than we can avouch, but that as it may, Miss Mary Long sued out a capias ad respondendum, against the faithless swain Francis, in the sum of $10,000, for refusing to complete an arrangement which had been made when on board ship, crossing, as Mary said, "a say as threacherous as Frank's own heart." The writ, duly tested, was placed in the hands of Sheriff Stryker, endorsed with the words following, viz:—"Let the defendant be held to bail in the sum of one thousand dollars."

The Sheriff proceeded to the whereabouts of Mr. Gerrity, and having found that worthy, informed him of his business. Mr. Gerrity launched forth a volume of epithets which it is utterly impossible to give with any degree of correctness. The Sheriff suffered him to partially exhaust himself, and then suggested that he might perhaps settle the difficulty by calling in the priest and fulfilling his promise to Mary by marrying her. Francis inquired if the sheriff would "go wid him" to Mary's residence, and the sheriff assenting, they trudged off in company. On arriving at the house of Miss Long, a fine buxom looking girl made her appearance, and after some conversation the sheriff and the parties proceeded to the residence of the priest and merged the suit in the abyss of matrimony.—Brooklyn News.

The Hollidaysburg Register of last week says:—"A mare and colt, the property of Mr. Jerome Dawson, of that place, were killed by lightning on Sunday morning last, in a pasture field near the head of Plane 10."
