

THE HUNTINGDON JOURNAL.

One country, one constitution, one destiny. Huntingdon, Wednesday morning, Nov. 2, 1843.

Y. B. PALMER, Esq. (No. 59, Pine street below Third, Philadelphia) is authorized to act as Agent for this paper, to procure subscriptions and advertisements.

Once more our glorious Banner out Upon the breeze we throw; Beneath its folds, with song and shout, Let's charge upon the foe!

FOR PRESIDENT, HENRY CLAY, OF KENTUCKY.

FOR VICE PRESIDENT, JOHN SERGEANT, OF PENNSYLVANIA.

FOR GOVERNOR, GEN. JAMES IRVIN, OF CENTRE COUNTY.

Subscribe and Read! The approaching November Court will afford those who wish the "Journal" sent to them during the winter, an excellent opportunity for subscribing.

Election of Canal Commissioners. We have full returns of the late election of Canal Commissioners in this State, but we have not yet received as follows: Leocofos, Whigs, 96,454; Tweed, 96,454; Miller, 111,073; Weaver, 95,774; Foster, 111,256; Guilford, 96,725.

Ladies' National Magazine. We have received the November number of this elegant and popular periodical. It is embellished with two beautiful steel engravings and the usual plate of fashions for the present month.

Godley's Lady's Book. The number for November, of this long established and popular magazine, is before us. It is an excellent number, and the embellishments are in a high degree rich, and in good taste.

Important to Contractors. By a reference to our advertising columns it will be seen that proposals for building a Presbyterian Church in this place will be received up till the 25th of December next.

Dartmouth College. Through the favor of BENJAMIN FULLERTON MILES, we have received the Catalogue of the Officers and Students of Dartmouth (N. E.) College, for the academic year 1843-4, by which it appears that this Institution continues in a flourishing condition.

For the "Journal." To ALEXANDER GWIN, Esq. Sir—As you declared publicly on the election ground, in this borough, on the day of the election, that JAMES IRVIN, M. C. "voted against giving the poor man the right to vote, and that you could prove it by the Journal of Congress," I now again call upon you to point me to the evidence. Until I see it myself I shall not believe your assertion.

Huntingdon, Oct. 31, 1843.

The Cleveland Herald says that in the Ohio Legislature, the two parties on joint ballot, are a tie, as the Whigs have four majority in the House, and the Locos four in the Senate.

The Whig Convention of Delaware urge the nomination of John M. Clayton, of that State, as Vice President.

Newspapers.

A newspaper, says a contemporary, is a school in a family, worth ten dollars a year. Even the most barren paper brings something new. Children read or hear the contents, gain intelligence of the affairs of the world, and acquire useful knowledge of more importance to them than a present of fifteen acres of land.

Commodore Elliott. By the following correspondence, which appears in all the West Chester papers, it will be seen that the verdict of suspension for four years from the 4th of June 1840, against Commodore JESSE D. ELLIOTT, has been removed by President Tyler.

NAVY DEPARTMENT, October 19th, 1843. Sir—The President of the United States, having carefully considered the facts in your case, in connection with the evidences recently furnished, and considering also, the long period of your suspension from the public service and the gallantry exhibited by you on more than one occasion during the late war with Great Britain, has thought proper to remit the remaining period of your suspension, and to restore you to the public service.

I am respectfully, Your obt. servant, DAVID HENSHAW.

Com. J. D. ELLIOTT, U. S. Navy. WEST CHESTER, PA., October 20th, 1843.

Hon. DAVID HENSHAW, Secretary of the Navy. Sir—Your communication, dated 19th inst., informing me that the President of the U. States, has thought proper to remit the remaining period of my suspension, and to restore me to public service, with your direction to consider myself as being restored to the public service, is received.

From the "Hollidaysburg Register." The Encampment. The Military Encampment at this place, as most of our readers know, like the summer, is over, past and gone, and the several companies, we trust, are safely arrived at their respective homes, delighted with their excursion and with their taste of Military life.

And while speaking in complimentary terms of the deserving, we may say here, in short, that while we are free to confess there was much to blame; much that every lover of sound morals and good order deeply regretted; much that, for the honor of all concerned, we heartily wish had not occurred, nevertheless we honestly deem high praise due to the citizen-soldiers of Camp Warren, as a body, for their good deportment and soldierly bearing.

Greater the Truth, Greater the Lie. The Pottsville Emporium, in speaking of the law of libel, says:—Thus stands the law of Pennsylvania based on the common law of England. Here the truth is a libel—the truer the statement the more libellous it becomes.

Loss and Gain.—A man of wit once said, rightly enough, "He who finds a good son-in-law gains a good son—he who finds a bad one, loses a daughter."

At a meeting of the Officers held on Saturday evening, MAJ. GEN'L. JOHN POTTER was elected Commander-in-Chief, with power to delegate his authority. At the same meeting the companies were divided into two Regiments, and the following field officers appointed for them, respectively: 1ST REGIMENT.

Col.—R. C. Hale, Lieut. Col.—J. B. Evans, Major—M. Cresswell, " Lot W. Irvin, " Dr. Lewis Hoover, " Surgeon—A. P. Lusk, " Sergeant Major—Samuel Milkken.

2ND REGIMENT. Colonel—William Williams, Lieut. Colonel—John R. Edie, Major—James Reamer, " J. Potts, Surgeon—R. W. Christy, Adjutant—John King, Sergeant Major—S. L. Russel, Quarter Master—A. L. Holliday.

CAPT. HEMAN, of the Williamsport Band, was appointed Principal Musician, and Rev. D. M'KINNEY and Rev. E. A. ALLEN, Chaplains.

On Monday, by order of the Major Gen'l, COL. WILLIAMS was in the command of the whole; on Tuesday, COL. HALE; on Wednesday, COL. GREGG.

On Monday the Troops were reviewed by Brig. Gen'l. James Potter, and staff; on Tuesday by Brig. Gen'l. S. M. Green, and staff; on Wednesday by Maj. Gen'l. John Potter and staff; and afterwards by the Governor on a dun horse.

Morning and evening parades were turned off regularly during the Encampment; and were followed by Regiment drills, which would have done honor to the Queen's brag troops in Canada. To the Regimental officers, in our opinion, high praise is due for the able manner in which these drills were conducted; and to the company officers and their men, for the prompt and skillful execution of the various orders.

The marches and countermarches, the wheels, and turns, and ever changing positions of the line, now displayed at length, and in a trice broken into echelon, or some other of the thousand beautiful positions assumed by Military corps, presented a scene lovely to us beyond description.

The Reviews, it is true, looked well;—the gallant bearing, and the rich and splendid uniforms of the Reviewing Officers and their Aids-de-Camp, as their noble animals pranced along the line, took the eye of every spectator, and received much commendation; but to us the waving plumes and bristling bayonets of the rank and file, and their dexterity in performing the more grand and imposing.

Yet as we looked upon these, we thought of Washington and his barefoot, half-clad men when the cry was, "On, on to Princeton," and almost dropped a tear at the contrast. But a moment's reflection restored us, for in that glittering line, we doubted not, beat many a brave and patriotic heart, that even at this degenerate day, would brave a trial like that, in the cause of "Virtue, Liberty and Independence."

—nay; we even questioned if there was one in all that host, so recent to his duty, so cowardly and so base, as to lay down his arms if his country should call her armies to the field!

The weather continuing unfavorable, and some of the companies having already staid a day longer than they first intended, and others having made engagements to partake of public dinners on their way home, and all having a considerable distance to go, on Thursday morning fourteen companies took leave of Camp Warren;—leaving still in the field, the "Washington Guards" of M'Vetown, the "Montgomery Grays" of Alexandria, and "Washington Grays" of Hollidaysburg. These three companies remained in Camp until Thursday evening, when they formally struck their tents, and broke up the Encampment.

The justly eulogized Williamsport Band also left on Thursday morning; after having, by their gentlemanly conduct, their generosity in behalf of the poor, and the rich melody of the Music, won the admiration and esteem of all at Camp Warren. The "Martha Washingtons," we think, owe them a card, or some other token of their high estimation of them as gentlemen and as Musicians.

The Alexandria Band is also deserving of commendation for their assistance at the Martha Washington meeting. The "Mozart Band," of Hollidaysburg too, did credit to themselves by their excellent performances and gentlemanly conduct during the Encampment.

And while speaking in complimentary terms of the deserving, we may say here, in short, that while we are free to confess there was much to blame; much that every lover of sound morals and good order deeply regretted; much that, for the honor of all concerned, we heartily wish had not occurred, nevertheless we honestly deem high praise due to the citizen-soldiers of Camp Warren, as a body, for their good deportment and soldierly bearing.

But when next they meet in the Camp, we hope the "Washingtonian" flag will float at each Marquee, the signal of peace, and quietness, and purity within; giving a moral force to the Regulations of the Camp that will suppress every impropriety and afford the moralizing journalist no theme but praise, no story but of approbation.

Greater the Truth, Greater the Lie. The Pottsville Emporium, in speaking of the law of libel, says:—Thus stands the law of Pennsylvania based on the common law of England. Here the truth is a libel—the truer the statement the more libellous it becomes.

Loss and Gain.—A man of wit once said, rightly enough, "He who finds a good son-in-law gains a good son—he who finds a bad one, loses a daughter."
