The Death of Bill Johnson.

The Iowa Reporter gives this account of the circumstances connected with the death of this individual:

"The Queen" (his daughter) in violation of the rules of 'royal etiquette,' contracted a matrimonial alliance with the son of a peasant, and taking advantage of the 'heretic's' absence, the knot was tied and the marriage consummated. At this very interesting period, 'William' made his appearance, armed and equipped for bloody strife, and with his usual violence and promptitude, made the 'Queen' arise and accompany him to the maternal cabin, at the same time holding the bridegroom in painful distress, by means of a cocked pistol, which had gained a frightful proximity to his person.—The lady obeyed—and her husband having procured a rifle, proceeded to Johnson's cabin, and shot the hapless villain through the heart. Mr. Peck is now in the jail of Washington county awaiting his trial."

The Infant's Tear.

At the funeral of a little child about two years old, his little sister only between the age of three and four years wept deeply, and refused to be comforted. It was a holy yearning of the young heart, after the lost one, when we might suppose the mind incapable of comprehending the nature of death or the saddened ties—and an exceedingly mourning scene.

I stood by the grave, amid the thronging crowd,
As the coffin was lowered down—
'Twas a child that fill'd the burial shroud,
For the sleep of the damp, cold ground.

And among the throng of the solemn mass,
That mourned a neighbor's grief,
Was the sister-child of the loved and lost,
In tears had sought relief.

Four years had not come to that little girl
With its culture or its care,
When she tasted the woes of a bitter world
And shed that mourner's tear.

As her soft dark eyes from her heart fill'd o'er
With its waters uncontrol'd,
I thought of the sun-dried tie that tore
Her bruised and tortured soul.

'Twas the last, hard cradle—sleep of him
Whose prattle had tun'd her ear,
And Laura wept—and her eyes grew dim
As they laid her brother there.

Few may have dropp'd a single tear;
Few thought of that grave-scene more—
One wept, at least, for her Howard there,
'Till her infant heart was sore.

PUBLIC MEETING.

A meeting of the citizens of the Borough of Huntingdon, friendly to the measures now in operation for the promotion of the observance of the Sabbath, especially along our public thoroughfares, was convened in the Presbyterian church, on Friday evening the 20th Oct., and organized by calling James Steel Esq., to the chair, and appointing G. Taylor, Esq. Secretary. The exercises opened with prayer by the Rev. John Peebles.

After an interesting address by the Rev. O. S. Powell, agent of the Philadelphia Sabbath Association, the following resolutions were moved, and after some interchange of sentiment amongst several persons present, unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That whilst we recognize the Divine origin of the institution of the Sabbath, and consequently requiring a most sacred observance, we perceive additional reasons why it should be kept holy, in the happy tendency it has to promote order and advance the best interests of society at large, as well as the moral, intellectual and physical well-being of individuals.

Resolved, That the history of mankind presents instances of the evil consequences of neglecting the Sabbath, too palpable and numerous to allow of a doubt that sooner or later the visitations of Divine reprobation overtake them who set at naught the precept, "Remember the Sabbath Day to Keep it Holy."

Resolved, That the prevalent desecration of the Sabbath, by traveling, and by the transportation of Merchandise, on our rivers, lakes, canals and railroads, is extremely alarming, as being productive of most unhappy consequences to religion and morals, and to all the best interests of our country, and calculated to call down the wrath of God, and therefore demands the active interposition of the patriot as well as the devoted of the Redeemer.

Resolved, That we hail with joy the introduction of organized efforts for the removal of this great evil, and the sending of Missionaries along the line of our great thoroughfares, and especially the manifestation of a disposition by numerous transportation companies and private merchants to co-operate in this benevolent design.

Resolved, That while we rejoice in the strict observance of the Sabbath, by one of the lines of transportation, on the Pennsylvania Canal, and the great diminution of Sabbath labor on the part of others, we feel it to be our duty to recommend to companies and individuals to abstain entirely from all labour on that holy day, and by example as well as precept aid in promoting the benevolent design we have in view.

Resolved, That we will endeavor to raise the sum of fifty dollars in aid of the funds of the Philadelphia Sabbath Association, for the present year.

Resolved, That the proceedings of this meeting be signed by the officers, and that the editors of this county, be requested to publish them in their several papers.

Closed with prayer by the Rev. M. Crownover. JAMES STEEL, President.

George Taylor, Secretary.

CHEAP CASH STORE.

HENRY L. ELDER,
No. 493 Market Street,—above 13th, PHILADELPHIA.
Respectfully invites the attention of those who buy for cash (as he sells on no other terms) to his very large and splendid assortment of Hardware and Cutlery, just received from England, in addition to his usual stock of Foreign and Domestic Hardware, of the best quality.

He earnestly requests them to examine elsewhere, and after ascertaining the lowest prices at which they can purchase, then to call notwithstanding the distance and unflinching by the remarks of interested dealers in the same business, and enquire the prices of the same goods at his store.
It is his fixed determination, and he wishes it so distinctly understood, not only to sell as cheap as any other store, but positively cheaper.

His arrangements are so made, he believes, as to enable him to do so, and yet make a small profit. At all events, cash purchasers will find it to their interest to call.
