Democratic Harrison STATE CONVENTION.

The members of the Democratic Harrison party of Pennsylvania—those who unite with them as allies in the achievement of that glorious political victory in 1840, the result of which was the election of that pure, venerated and much lamented patriot, GENERAL WILLIAM HENRY HARRISON, to the Presidential Chair—those who have hitherto consistently battled for "the Supremacy of the Laws," who are opposed to all mysteries, whether of the Government or otherwise, which are inaccessible to the public eye—those who are opposed to favored classes and monopolies either of office or power—those who are tired of experiments upon the Commerce, Manufactures and currency of the country, and all others who are convinced of the necessity of so reforming the abuses of the State and National Government as to secure their prompt, faithful, economical and energetic administration, with a strict accountability to the people, on the part of those by whom they are administered, are requested by the State Central Committee of the Democratic Harrison party, to meet in their several Counties and Districts, and in conformity with former usages, to elect Delegates in proportion to the number of Senators and Representatives in the State Legislature from such Counties and Districts to a STATE CONVENTION to be held at Harrisburg on MONDAY, the 4th day of MARCH next, at 12 o'clock, M., to nominate a suitable candidate or Governor, to be supported by the friends of good order at their next General Election, and to do such other acts and things as may be deemed necessary.

The several County Committees will be careful to give the proper notice in their respective counties.

HUNTINGDON CO., Feb. 2, 1844.

THRO. FENN, Esq.:—Your paper of the 27th ult. contains a communication signed "Old Millin," which I object to, for the reason that it is unfair, uncalled for, and untrue, and was, no doubt, designed for the purpose of placing the friends of some two or three prominent candidates for the gubernatorial chair, into belligerent positions so that the favorite of the writer—nor brought into the controversy—may gain vantage ground thereby. In the same paper, in an editorial notice of the communication, you state that your "press is open to a discussion of the merits of all the candidates spoken of." I ask, therefore, the use of your columns for the purpose of setting Gen. IRVIN and his friends, who have been assailed by your correspondent, in his and their proper light before the public. In so doing, I shall not detract one iota from the fair fame of any of the distinguished gentlemen who have been named in connexion with the office of Governor; nor shall I indulge in fulsome or undue praise of the assailed; but merely to show that "Old Millin" has misrepresented and endeavored to injure Gen. Irvin.

Your correspondent commences with hypocritical cant about the importance of canvassing the pretensions of candidates for office, to abstain from any thing that might have a tendency to generate hostile feelings among the respective aspirants. "This is, no doubt, a wholesome precept; but in his practice, "Old Millin" is diametrically opposite to it; for he asserts that "it has lately been deemed necessary to disparage his (Judge Banks') popularity for the purpose of advocating the pretensions of a new candidate, who PRESENTS HIMSELF to the people, under the imposing sobriquet of "the popular Congressman." Now, in the above quotation your correspondent asserts two falsehoods which are not even marked with plausibility. Where is the evidence that Judge Banks' popularity is disparaged, and disparaged, too, as the language implies by the friends of Gen Irvin? I never heard or saw any such evidence, and your correspondent cites none. You are told that Gen Irvin "presents himself," &c., but you are not favored with any thing more than bare assertion. The fact is, Gen. Irvin is not, and never was an office seeker, as the people of his own district, and every one else who knows any thing about him, can attest. I never yet knew a man to be popular in this section of the State, if he was known to be, or even suspected to be an office-hunter. I am confident that Gen. Irvin never sought the nomination for Chief Magistrate of Pennsylvania. He was nominated without his knowledge or consent; and, but for the earnest solicitations of numerous friends, he would have had his name withdrawn from the list of candidates immediately after its announcement.

From another paragraph in the same communication, I extract the following: "The gentleman who has thus appropriated to himself the imposing cognomen of "the popular Congressman," was not known out of his own district at the beginning of the present session of Congress, either personally or by reputation, to five hundred individuals in the State or Union, or in both together! Now in the space of six short weeks he is the "popular Congressman," known far and wide." A bright idea, truly! Gen. Irvin, the man who in 1840 beat his opponent in a district that had previously, almost from time immemorial, elected a Locofoco to Congress! He who was re-elected in 1843, by the triumphant majority of 1336, having received 25,725 votes. He who stood up in Congress during the late session, in defence of Home Industry and Home Manufactures, and made speeches on the Tariff Bill, that were published far and wide, by the newspaper press. He who is known throughout the State and the Union as "the popular Congressman," of Pennsylvania. He it is, that you are gravely told, "was not known out of his own district at the beginning of the present session of Congress, either personally or by reputation, to five hundred people in the State or Union, or in both together!! I do not know the real name of your correspondent, nor am I aware of his locality, as he dates nowhere; but, from the degree of ignorance he betrays—if it be not something worse—I would judge him to be either a Jew or a Hottentot.

"Old Millin" asserts that the wonderful popularity of Gen. Irvin was wrought "by the magic influence of letter writers, who for a proper consideration paid, can magnify the smallest dwarf into the largest giant, and affix to brass a higher value than to unalloyed gold." In the same paragraph, your correspondent "objects too, to some half dozen men at Washington city, assuming the right of determining for whom the people of Pennsylvania shall vote for Governor." "It is well known," says he, "in this part of the State, that the 'public opinion' which it signifies designates Gen. Irvin as the Whig candidate for Governor, has been made to order at Washington." What an effluvent flood of light must have burst suddenly upon the benighted vision of your correspondent! Letters have been written in favor of Gen Irvin; and it has even reached Washington city that Gen Irvin the "Popular Congressman," is designated as the Whig candidate for Governor! Most wonderful discovery!! But "Old Millin can have more light still. I can inform him that in many parts of the State the people; the real sovereigns, assemble in County meetings and Conventions; and with one voice declare in favor of the "Popular Congressman;"—they instruct their delegates to the 4th of March Convention, to use all their influence to procure his nomination; and the newspapers, too, even they fall into the crowd, and team with the evidences of his popularity. It is the people—the hard-fisted yeomanry of the country—that take the lead for Gen. Irvin; while the old politicians—the would-be and self-styled leaders of the party—stand back and wince.

"Old Millin," after stigmatizing Gen. Irvin as a "dwarf" who "presents himself to the people"—"as appropriating to himself the imposing cognomen of the "Popular Congressman"—"as paying hired letter writers to puff him into notoriety, &c. After all this, your correspondent has the unblushing impudence to tell you that he "does not desire to disparage Mr. Irvin in the slightest degree. He is a good meaning man." Who would say as much for "Old Millin?" "He is a good meaning man," says he, "but I do not wish to see him puffed into the dimensions of a Statesman by the breath of a few hired letter writers, at the expense of such men as Judge Banks, George W. Toland and others.

I would wager that "Old Millin" is not friendly to either of the gentlemen he names. Next, your correspondent states the votes given for Governor in 1841, in the counties of Huntingdon, Mifflin, Centre, and Juniata, the Congressional District which Gen Irvin represents; and also the votes given in the same counties in 1843, for Member of Congress; which statement shows nothing more nor less, candidly speaking, than that in a district in which Kickapoo Porter beat Judge Banks 651 votes, Gen Irvin beat Gen. McCulloch 1,336, making near 2,000 in favor of Gen. Irvin over his party vote.—But "Old Millin" in his insatiable desire to misrepresent and injure an open-hearted and generous opponent, makes an attempt to draw a most despicable conclusion from his statement—namely, that because Banks received more votes in those counties than did Irvin, therefore Banks is popular and Irvin unpopular! Every one knows that at elections for Governor more votes are polled than at any other elections, that of President of the United States not excepted. At the Governor's election in 1841 there were over 250,000 votes polled; while at the election last fall for Canal Commissioners, there were not as many as 40,000.

Would it not be fair to state the question of Gen. Irvin's popularity thus:—If a man can run ahead of his opponent 1336 votes in one Congressional District, composed of three Locofoco counties to one Whig how much could he run ahead in the 24 districts? I leave the question to your correspondent to solve.

It is idle for any one to pretend that the "Popular Congressman" is not popular. Gen. Irvin's qualifications are also grossly misrepresented by "Old Millin" as every one who knows the General can testify. A man who can manage his own business, when as extensive as Gen. Irvin's, and do it with so much advantage to himself, can safely be entrusted with the affairs of State.

In conclusion, I can safely assure you that if "Old Millin" expects to injure Gen. Irvin's prospects of a nomination, by these assassin-like stabs, he will fail in the cowardly attempt.

A Shocking Occurrence.

The Phila. Gazette of Friday says: This morning, about five o'clock the watchman at the corner of Fifth and Spruce streets, while going his round was alarmed by the cries of a female, and proceeding in the direction of the sound, discovered a woman lying upon the pavement in front of the house of Leopold P. Coursault, No. 117 Spruce street dreadfully injured and bleeding profusely—one of her legs being fractured, the large blood vessels of the limb ruptured, and her head exhibiting an awful contusion. The unfortunate female proved to be Mrs. Frontin, the second wife of Mons. Frontin, a French teacher. Frontin occupied two rooms at Mr. Coursault's house; and the wife's story is, that her husband had threatened to murder her, and that to escape his violence, she, in her fright, threw herself from the second story window. The poor woman has only been married a few weeks, and if her story be correct, she was frightened into the marriage and has been in such dread of her husband ever since, that she has been obliged to flee from his persecution, and keep herself concealed; and he has constantly pursued and sought her out. Mrs. Frontin is not expected to survive her injuries. Her husband has been arrested and committed to prison.

The first wife of the above named Frontin, died in this city only a few months since, and we have been informed that the second wife immediately after her marriage by a clergyman, refused to live with him, and persisted in this refusal for some time. Frontin became excited on the subject, said that he could not account for the conduct of his wife, and finding it impossible to reconcile the difficulty that existed between them, said that he was anxious to obtain a divorce. He is a Frenchman by birth, about 40 years of age, and one or two children by his first wife are now living.

FATHER MATHEW.—The New York Evening Post says.—"We learn that a correspondence has recently taken place between Father Mathew and Grinnell, Mintun & Co., of this city, owners of a London as well as a Liverpool line of packet ships, in relation to his contemplated visit to this city. They offered him a free passage in any one of their ships to America, which he has accepted, and has signified his intention to make the voyage in June."

SUDDEN DEATH, APOPLEXY, BURSTING OF VESSELS, &c.—Wright's Indian Vegetable Pills are certain to prevent the above dreadful consequences, because they purge from the body those morbid humors which, when floating in the general circulation, are the cause of a determination or rush of blood to the head, a pressure upon the brain, and other dreadful results.—From two to six of said Indian Vegetable Pills, taken every night, on going to bed, will in a short time so completely cleanse the body from every thing that is opposed to health that sudden death, apoplexy, bursting of blood vessels, or indeed any malady, will be in a manner impossible. Wright's Vegetable Indian Pills also aid and improve digestion, and purify the blood and therefore give health and vigor to the whole frame, as well as drive disease of every name from the body.
