

Salt-petre for Peach Trees.
The following is extracted from a letter of Lyttleton Phisic, M. D. to John S. Skinner, Esq., published in the American Farmer:—

"I wrote an article upon the use of salt and saltpetre for fruit trees, which was published in the Cultivator—I think it will be found in the number for August, 1841. I use one part of saltpetre to four from four to eight quarts of common salt, and apply, in its solid state, about half a pound of this mixture to a bearing tree, upon the surface of the ground, and in close connection with the trunk of the tree. I never disturb the earth about the tree. For a long time I applied it three times in the course of the year, though twice, I now think, will answer. I have heretofore applied it in April, June, and the first of September.

Of five hundred trees, three hundred were treated with salt and nitre, and two hundred left without its use. Those around which the salt and nitre were put, were apt still continue entirely exempt from worms; of those left without the use of salt and saltpetre, not one escaped the ravages of the peach worm.

In your address you speak of the practice of taking out the worms with a hooked wire. Allow me to suggest the proper time for destroying them, (which is from the 15th to the 25th of August with me,) when they have enveloped themselves in a cocoon, or otherwise, are in their chrysalis state. The envelope of the aurelia is made up of the tree, and resembles the outer bark in color, and will be found lying under the gum on the ground or in connection with the tree. I have taken in this way as many as thirty-nine of these worms from one tree, and have sedulously watched them building their cells for hours together. The greatest distance I ever observed one from the tree, was about 3 1-2 inches.

It is generally believed that this worm causes the yellows. This it may do, but I do not believe that such a case occurs once in a thousand. I have perceived the yellows in young trees about which there never was a peach worm, and upon taking them up have examined them, but no trace of that insect could be found."

The Cut Worm.

Salt has been repeatedly recommended in many of the agricultural papers as an infallible repeller of the cut worm. I have tried only one experiment, as follows:

Cabbage plants were encircled a few inches from the stem, with a ring of salt about an inch wide and a quarter of an inch thick; in other cases the salt was thickly strewn about them and in contact with the stems. In neither case, did the cut worms pay the least attention to the salt, but walked right through it and destroyed the plants. In one instance, a cut worm was found after having eaten off the plant, quietly reposing, with all the apparatus and indifference of a philosopher, in a white bed of nearly clean salt.

The best remedy appears to be the application of a roll of paper around the stems when the plant is set out, extending an inch above the surface, and three or four below. A burdock leaf wound round the stem, will answer the same purpose where cultivators are so fortunate as to have this plant on their ground.—Id.

White Daisy or Ox Eye.

This weed is a pest to the Farmer and as we see it rapidly spreading in all parts of the state, where it has obtained a foothold, we publish for the benefit of those on whose farms it is found, the following extract from an Essay, which obtained the premium offered by the Pictou, N. S., Ag. Soc., for the best means of destroying this weed. We cannot omit to urge upon farmers the necessity of paying attention to the first appearance of weeds on their farms, and of eradicating them effectually in the onset. The annual loss to the country from weeds in crops, is immense. We know of many farms where the prevalence of the thistle, steinkrout, Johnswort, daisy &c., &c., is so great as to preclude the hope of a good crop. Any weed is easily overcome on its first appearance; but when it gets firmly rooted and widely spread, as it soon will, if unremoved, it is eradicated with difficulty. We have never been troubled with the daisy, but the system here recommended for their destruction, appears reasonable and worthy of trial.

The writer of the Essay says—"I have had a good deal of experience with the daisy, (white or ox eye,) and would respectfully offer the following as the most effectual means of eradicating them when they have once got possession. Take a field that is as full of them as it can be; between the fifth and the fifteenth of July, take the hay off, and plow it about four or five inches deep with a flat furrow. Let the field lie 12 or 14 days; then cross plow it with a furrow one or two inches deeper, well set on edge. After it has lain four or five days, put on harrows with long sharp teeth, so that they may go down as deep as it is plowed.—Let the harrowing be done in angling directions through the field. Then with a hand rane, rake up the roots into small heaps and burn them. After a few days plow it into ridges for sowing. Between the 20th and 30th days of August, sow from three pecks to a bushel of clean timothy seed to the acre; harrow it with a light harrow, and water furrow it. If the land is wet, roll it with a light roller, and if dry with a heavy one. By these operations, I am satisfied that this and every other weed, as well as the eggs of insects, grass-hoppers, &c., are completely destroyed."—Id.

"She Won't Stay Courted."
"Why don't you pay attention to some of the pretty girls who look so invitingly as though they would almost ask for a beau?" says an old gentleman to his nephew who was already on the wrong side of thirty.

"Why uncle," replies the nephew, you know that I always love the girls and that in other years I courted some half a dozen of them in succession. But while I was seriously engaged in making preparations for marriage, they were as seriously looking out for another chap. It did no good; they wouldn't stay courted.

"Ah, Bill," exclaimed a successful candidate at the altar of Hymen, "you always remind me of the odd half of a pair of scissors. You have grown old and torpid by pressing the cold celibacy so long. Spruce up and take a wife; and be done with it."

"Rot em," retorts Bill, "you want to have me, jilted again, I suppose. I han't forgot the affair with Dorcassina Amelia Amanda Street-yarn; it is impossible to imagine what a loving time it was that snug bit of a courtship I had with her, Amanda sighed so languidly, sung so lovingly upon me and talked so sentimentally about love, friendship and eternal constancy, that I verily concluded she was all my own. About that time I took a trip for six months to see the world before I became bound for life. Well, when I returned Amanda had found a new flame. She now looked askew at me, as much as to say, 'your cake is all dough.'" She didn't stay courted.

"Report goes, Jack that you've put somebody's nose out of joint," whispers one crony to another, in a very confidential way, but that's in er nos. Now I advise you to strike when the iron is hot.—Remember! Once, she didn't stay courted.

"It is true!" soliloquises my friend, with the martial air and wide ruffle, then it stands me in the hand to look out, else my Dulcinea will slip through my fingers. For tho' I throw myself in her way as often as convenient—follow hard after her in the meeting house, yet it is possible she may not stay courted, for all that. Ladies, it is even so. Cases for "breach of promise" have become very fashionable.

Package Sales of Boots and Shoes, (Every Tuesday morning, at 10 o'clock.)
BY G. W. LORD.

CARD.—A combination having been formed by a portion of the Dealers in Boots and Shoes of this city, with the avowed object of suppressing the sale of those goods by auction, it seems proper for the subscriber, (who has held these sales for the past eighteen months) to state that notwithstanding this combination, the sales will not be stopped, but on the contrary, as he will now rely more than ever on the patronage of the country Merchants, the sales will be held every Tuesday morning, at the auction store, 208 Market Street, and his arrangements with the Manufacturers, both of this city and all New England, are such as to insure him a constant and full supply of every description of goods.

The mercantile of so great an effort being made to put down these sales, is the best evidence the country Merchants can have, that it is for his interest to sustain them.

Dr. Moffat's Life Pills

AND PHENIX BITTERS.

The perfectly safe, unerring and successful treatment of almost every species of disease by the use of Dr. MOFFAT'S LIFE MEDICINES, is no longer an experiment; as a reference to the experience of many thousand patients will satisfactorily prove. During the present month alone, nearly one hundred cases have come to the knowledge of Dr. MOFFAT, where the patient has to all appearance, effected a permanent cure by the exclusive and judicious use of the Life Medicines—some eight or ten of these had been considered hopeless by their physicians. Such happy results are a source of great pleasure to Dr. M., and inspire him with a new confidence to recommend the use of his medicines to his fellow citizens.

The LIFE MEDICINES are a purely VEGETABLE preparation. They are mild and pleasant in their operation, and at the same time thorough—acting rapidly upon the secretions of the system—carrying off all acrimonious humours, and assimilating and purifying the blood. For this reason, in aggravated cases of Dyspepsia, the Life Medicines will give relief in a shorter space of time than any other prescription. In Fever and Ague, Inflammatory Rheumatism, Fevers of every description, Sick Headaches, Heartburn, Dizziness in the Head, Pains in the Chest, Flatulency, Impaired Appetite, and in every disease arising from impurity of the blood, or a disordered state of the stomach, the use of these medicines has always proved to be beyond doubt, greatly superior to any other mode of treatment.

All that Dr. Moffat asks of his patients is to be particular in taking them according to the directions. It is not by a newspaper notice, or by any thing that he may say in their favour, that he hopes to gain credit. It is alone by the result of a fair trial. Is the reader an invalid and does he wish to know whether the Life Medicines will suit his own case? If so, let him call at the office of the agent, and procure a copy of the Good Samaritan, published gratuitously. He will there find enumerated very many extraordinary cases of cure; perhaps some exactly similar to his own. Sold by JACOB MILLER, Huntingdon. August 30 1843. 1y.

WRIGHT'S Indian Vegetable Pills.

If, during the continuance of storms and floods, the channels of

become so obstructed as to afford an insufficient outlet for the superabundant waters, we can expect nothing less than that the surrounding country will be

Overwhelmed with the Flood

In like manner with the human body—if the skin, kidneys and bowels (the natural outlets for useless and corrupt humors) become so obstructed as to fail in affording a full discharge of those impurities which are in all cases

THE CAUSE OF SICKNESS.

We surely can expect no other results than that the whole frame will sooner or later be OVERWHELMED WITH DISEASE. As in the first place, if we would prevent an inundation we must remove all obstructions, in order that there may be no hindrance to the free discharge of the superabundant waters. So, in the second place, if we would prevent and cure disease, we must open and keep open, all natural drains of the body.

Wright's Indian Vegetable Pills of the North American College of Health, will be found one of the best if not the very BEST MEDICINE IN THE WORLD for carrying out this beautiful and simple theory, because they completely cleanse the stomach and bowels from all bilious humors, and other impurity, and at the same time promote a healthy discharge from the lungs, skin and kidneys; consequently as all the natural drains are opened,

Caution.—As the great popularity and consequent great demand for Wright's Indian Vegetable Pills has raised up a host of counterfeiters, country storekeepers and agents will be on their guard against the many impostors who are travelling about the country selling to the unsuspecting a spurious article for the genuine.

It should be remembered that all authorized agents are provided with a certificate of agency, signed by WILLIAM WRIGHT, Vice President of the North American College of Health. Consequently, those who offer Indian Vegetable Pills, and cannot show a certificate as above described will be known as impostors.
