The Whigs of Mifflin will have a grand Rally in Lewistown on Friday the 13th inst.

Some of the most distinguished public speakers in the State are expected to attend and address these meetings.

"COVERLY'S HOTEL."

Mr. WILLIAM COVERLY, a good Whig from Centre county, has taken or will shortly take possession of the public house lately or at present occupied by Mr. Nagle, in Harrisburg.

Native Americanism in Philadelphia.

The Native Americans in the city of Philadelphia have nominated the following ticket, which is very considerably sprinkled with Locofocos.

Mayor—Elhanan W. Keyser.
Congress—John W. Ashmead.
Senate—James Harper.

Assembly—Wm. Little, E. M. Spencer, P. S. White, Thomas Wescott, E. Mustin.
We call the attention of those veritable Locofocos in this quarter who are attempting to create a belief that Native Americanism is favored by the Whigs, to the following paragraph from the (Native) American Advocate of Wednesday last.

CITY ELECTIONEERING.—The Whig party of the "city of Philadelphia" has already commenced "laying pipe." This is done, no doubt, to secure foreign votes—spinning yarn and laying pipe will not but the citizens out of their legal votes this election. These tricks have grown fat and stale. Comment is unnecessary.

The Whigs of Adams county have re-nominated Jonas Cooper for Assembly.

The Whigs of Franklin county have nominated Jasper E. Brady and Andrew Snively for Assembly.

The Whigs of Lebanon county have nominated J. P. Sanderson for Assembly.

The Whigs of Indiana county have nominated Dr. John M. Farland for Assembly.

The Whigs of Bedford county have re-nominated Col. William Bishop and John Metzger, Esq., for Assembly.

"I am acquainted with James K. Polk. I have slept and played cards with him."

THOS. L. HAMER.

The Globe of last week is full of wrath and indignation on account of our publishing, two weeks ago, the above extract. That veritable sheet denies the charge upon the authority of a letter from the said Thomas L. Hamer, late a Locofoco Member of Congress from Ohio, in which he says:

"Some weeks since I was requested to deliver an address to the democracy of Adams county, Ohio; and in the course of my remarks, in answer to inquiries whether I knew Governor Polk personally, I said, that I had frequently replied to that question, by saying I knew him well—hardly knew any body else,—THAT I HAD SLEPT WITH HIM, AND PLAYED CARDS WITH HIM! The observation was made like a thousand others of a jocular character in stump speaking:—merely to raise a laugh!"

In the same piece the "Globe" tells us we have either intentionally or otherwise borne false witness against our neighbor; and, in the same breath it adds, "and again we say that OUR CHARGES—[Gambler, Sabbath-breaker, &c. &c.]—against Mr. Clay, which you pronounce false, ARE TRUE, &c."

Mr. Clay, we are told, gambles—plays cards; but we suppose our young neighbor up street, like Mr. Hamer, when addressing the "democracy," says it "merely to raise a laugh!" though there is nothing laughable about it. Mr. Hamer and the "Globe" do not inform us whether the "democracy" are in the habit of getting their sides insured before Mr. Hamer addresses them.

The editor of the "Globe" having vouched for the truth of the charges against Mr. Clay, we invite his special attention to the following letter from the Rev. Dr. Bascom, a shining ornament of the Methodist Episcopal Church.

Transylvania University,
Lexington, Ky., July 24th 1844.
My Dear Sir:—

In reply to your letter of the 9th instant, I owe it to truth, virtue, and the claims of society, without any reference to the political strifes of the day, to say, I have been in intimate and confidential intercourse with the Hon. H. Clay, both in public and private life, for more than twenty years, and know the charges enumerated in your letter, against the private character of Mr. Clay to be utterly and basely false. Mr. Clay, as is known to the whole nation, offers no claim to Christian piety, in the parlance of our churches, but in view of the ordinary accredited principles of good moral character, no charge can be brought against him without violating the obligations of truth and sound justice. To each interrogative charge, therefore, contained in your letter, and reaching me in shape of questions, I return for answer, that I regard one and all of them as shamefully unjust, because not true, in whole or in part.

Very respectfully,

Your obedient servant,

H. B. BASCOM.

Dr. J. G. Goble.

Here, then, is an issue. Lewis G. Mytinger, editor of the "Huntingdon Globe," asserts that the charges against Mr. Clay are TRUE. The Rev. H. B. Bascom, President of Transylvania University, says they are UTTERLY and BASELY FALSE. Which is to be believed? The one is the neighbor of Mr. Clay, and has known him for more than twenty years.—The other has probably never seen Mr. Clay, nor even read his history. The one is an eminent Divine.—And the other an unexperienced Locofoco Editor! Readers, judge ye between them.

A Proposition.

We offer and agree to publish the whole letter of Thomas L. Hamer, relative to his assertion that he "played cards" with James K. Polk, if our neighbor of the Globe will publish the letter of Rev. Dr. Bascom, relative to the card playing &c. of Henry Clay. Will we be taken up?

Death in the Prize Ring.

We learn from a London paper, that a most disgraceful prize fight recently took place at Merry's Close, between two men for 10 shillings aside. The fight lasted an hour, and one of the parties was killed. The father of the deceased was present, but did not interfere; in fact, he scolded his wife for being in trouble about her son going to fight, and linked arm in arm with others to form the ring. Several of the witnesses swore that the father of the deceased had said, "that he would bring his son home a corpse sooner than he should give in." The deceased was taken to the Milkmaid public house, in Kettering road, after the fight was over; he was then fast dying, and expired shortly afterwards. The father, on being called upon by the Coroner to say what he had to offer in explanation of his disgraceful conduct, declared that he had been against his son's fighting, but refused to sign a written statement to that effect.

Death of Commodore Dallas.

We are sorry to learn that authentic information reached this city, says the Washington National Intelligencer, by a vessel arrived at Baltimore on Saturday in a very short passage from Lima, of the decease of Commodore Alexander J. Dallas, of the Navy of the United States, and commander of the Squadron in the Pacific.

He died on board of the U. S. Frigate Savannah, in Callao bay, on the 3d day of June, from a third attack of paralysis.

Comm. Dallas entered the Navy as Midshipman on the 22d day of November, 1805, and had of course been in the naval service, in which he enjoyed an enviable reputation, nearly thirty-nine years.

He was the son of that sterling patriot Alex. J. Dallas, who so distinguished himself at the head of the Treasury Department at the most critical period of the history of this country, and was the brother of Mr. Dallas whose name is now before the people as a candidate for the Vice Presidency.

POLK A GAMBLER.

The Wilmington (Ohio) Republican says:—"Thomas Morris said in his speech in this place last Tuesday, that Thomas L. Hamer told him that he had played cards with Polk!" This will require another explanatory letter.

WHIG ENTHUSIASM.

Immense Whig meetings are being held throughout the east and west, the north and south. The people are awake, and the indications are that Mr. Clay will be elected by as large a popular majority as that of Gen. Harrison in 1840.

DEATH OF GEN. MURPHY.

Gen. Wm. S. Murphy, late charge d'Affairs at Texas, died at Galveston on the 13th July, of yellow fever. He was buried with all the honors due his station.

WHAT'S THE MATTER.

The Locofoco candidate for Governor of Georgia backs out, says the Gazette. He smells a rat. For some weeks he has been actively canvassing the State. He returns home, and gives up. The Locos are busy hunting up another candidate. Meantime the Whigs are united, enthusiastic and determined to conquer.

"Let Texas be the watch word, and victory is certain."—Gen. Jackson's letter to Gen. Plauché, June 14, 1844.

"Texas was the watchword of the Locofocos in Louisiana, and victory was certain for the Whigs. "Texas was the Locofoco watchword in Kentucky, Indiana and North Carolina and the result was the same.

"Texas is the watchword of the Polk and Dallas party throughout the Union. Who can doubt from what has passed, the certain victory of the opponents of "annexation?"

ANIMAL MANETISM.

A woman has been in Providence for some days past, says the Chronicle of that city, who has been magnetized by her brother two hundred different times, and told the internal diseases of as many different people. She receives one dollar for each examination.

A grand Sunday School Procession is to take place in Baltimore, in October, in which it is expected that 10,000 children will participate.

Dr. DAVID HORNOR, of Gettysburg has been nominated by the Whigs of the 15th Congressional District, composed of Adams and York counties, as their candidate for Congress.

The Whigs of the 14th Congressional District, composed of the counties of Dauphin, Lebanon and Schuylkill, have re-nominated the Hon. ALEXANDER RAMSEY, of Harrisburg, as their candidate for Congress.

Col. Andrew Parker, of Juniata county, is recommended in the "Juniata Times" as a candidate for Congress, on the Locofoco ticket.

The Whigs of the 1st Congressional District, composed of part of Philadelphia city, have re-nominated Hon. E. JOR MORRIS.

The Whigs of the Erie District have re-nominated the Hon. CHARLES M. REED for Congress.

The Whigs of Lancaster county have nominated the following ticket:

Congress—John Strohm
Assembly—A. H. Smith,
Theo. D. Cochran,
J. G. Shuman,
Benjamin Herr,
Joseph Paxton,

"Texas or Disunion."

"Frown indignantly upon the first dawning of an attempt to separate any portion of this Union from the rest."

Washington's Farewell Address.

The Polk party of the south, under whose domination the leaders are striving to bring the democracy of the north and west, have been and are laboring hard to get up a "Texas or Disunion" convention, to be held in one of the southern cities.

Nashville, Tennessee, was the place first designated, but there Whigs and Locofocos joined in shielding their city from such desecration.

Richmond, Va., was the place next selected.—But the many holy associations which sprung from and yet cluster around the old Dominion, forbade the idea of any such unholy meeting. The birth state of Washington could not be thus defiled.—The patriotic Whigs of Richmond warm in their love of the Union, and remembering the words of Washington's farewell address, frowned indignantly on the daring plan, and denied the disunionists admission.

What other place the Polk party will now select for the theatre of their machinations is as yet unknown. They had better hold the proposed convention in Texas at once, though from recent information, they would meet with opposition even there since even the people of Texas are becoming opposed to the annexation.—Zanesville Gazette.

Death of Colonel Stone.

Col. William L. Stone long known as the able editor of the New York Commercial Advertiser, died at Saratoga Springs on Thursday the 18th ult.

Besides conducting the newspaper Col. Stone was well known as a successful writer in the higher walks of literature. The life of Brandt, is we believe his most extensive work, and that will always stand as an honorable evidence of successful research into a branch of history, but little studied, and of which the materials are fast fading away. Brand's life formed a very interesting portion of Indian history, and in the work referred to that portion has been treated of and elucidated in a very satisfactory manner. Col. Stone was also a frequent and welcome contributor to the periodicals and annuals of the day.

In noticing his death the editor of the Albany Evening Journal—from which paper we have principally taken the above notice—says, "Col. Stone, though an ardent and impulsive politician, was always guided by convictions of duty. He edited his paper as he discharged every other duty, and the conscientious conviction of the justice and rightfulness of his course. We presented ourselves to him, in the February of 1813, a half grown and half learned itinerant printer, without friends or money. He not only gave us employment, but became and remained our friend: and through all differences of opinion, we have never ceased to cherish for him feelings of affection and gratitude—feelings which, in the hour of bereavement and separation, bring back, with the freshness of youth a long train of sweet and bitter fancies."

This is praise, and doubtless, deserved. No man need require a better panegyric, than not to have done any thing save with the conscientious convictions of the justice and rightfulness of his course. To be an editor ought not to be incompatible with being a gentleman, and however the ardour of political strife may sometimes betray the conductors of the press beyond the bounds of courtesy or strict truth, such a course ought to be the exception, not the rule.

From the Pennsylvania Telegraph. Locofoco Desperation--Native Americanism, &c.

With some care we have avoided thus far from meddling with the exciting question of NATIVE AMERICANISM, which has been raised with such extraordinary results in Philadelphia and elsewhere. As members of the Democratic Whig party, of course we have no desire for raising new issues, believing those already involved in the canvass sufficiently important and numerous, and that they should be decided before others are brought into view. Especially have we deprecated, also bringing religious questions to be decided at the polls, all history showing that such are the most dangerous to the public peace and the happiness of the community. The Whig press, generally, we have been pleased to observe, have pursued generally the same judicious course. We wish we could say the same of our opponents. But both in their papers and on the stump, they have lugged the question into discussion and attempted to excite the passions of foreigners and Catholics against the Whig party, by falsely representing it as the originator of the Native American party, the cause of the Philadelphia disturbances, and their determined enemies and persecutors. It is true, we admit, that those heretofore engaged in this work of defamation and falsehood, have been the more reckless of the speakers and the more violent and radical of the press belonging to the locofoco party. But it will be seen from the following extract from the Pittsburgh American of August 5th, that the more respectable leaders of the party are about to engage in the same foul and dirty work. The American says:

"The Polkat party had a very fair turn out on Saturday night."

"Mr. Shunk made a speech in Dutch to his Catholic friends of that language. He told them that the Democrats were their friends, and in all their difficulties with the Protestants were side by side with them. That the Whigs were the friends of the Native Americans, who wanted that they should be here twenty-one years before they could vote.—That Mr. Muhlenberg who had been a Protestant Preacher, had called the calling to defend them in their rights, and in this he was supported by the democratic party. This was all well received with applause, as they knew Mr. Shunk had walked with them before a procession with his hat off, and knelt with them when they raised the host. We do not vouch this being the exact language, but it is as near as we can get it turned into English. If he will translate it fairly we will publish it for him."

The remarks of the American are true and appropriate. The desperation of defeat is rendering the Locofoco leaders perfectly crazy. What stronger evidence of madness is necessary than the fact that Francis R. Shunk would wilfully descend to the meanest falsehoods, and pandar to the vilest feelings of religious bigotry, to advance the cause of his party. We hope to see no more of it.

GOV. RITNER'S POSITION.

We notice in the last Berks and Schuylkill Journal, a letter from Ex-Gov. Ritner, in which he expresses himself in decided terms for Clay. After speaking in pretty sharp terms of the loc. foco press, and the question at issue, the Governor concludes—"I therefore go for Gen. MARKLE first, and then I go for CLAY and FRELINGHUYSEN."

Will this satisfy the Locos?

"The true democratic principle is, to receive always the acts of a majority as legitimate.—AND UPON THIS ROCK RESTS THE WHOLE STRUCTURE OF DEMOCRACY."

We copy the above as we find it, in the Locomotive Gazette. We thought the democratic doctrine, as established at Baltimore, was that two-thirds are required to decide all questions.—U. S. Gaz.

The Albany papers are filled with the accounts of the Great Mass Convention of the River counties of New York, in that city on Tuesday of last week. It is calculated that Fifty Thousand Whigs were present, and about three thousand ladies—a noble gathering for Mr. Webster to address himself to. There were in the procession four hundred and twenty banners and thirty bands of music.

Change of Leaders.

The death of Mr. Muhlenberg, says the Lancaster Union, will undoubtedly bring into the field as a Locofoco candidate for Governor, Francis R. Shunk, of Pittsburg. By the tone of the Locofoco press, we consider the nomination as good as made already. We therefore take it for granted that the contest for the rest of the campaign will be between Gen. Joseph Markle, the gallant old soldier, and Francis R. Shunk, the "veteran office holder," as the Harrisburg Telegraph appropriately designates him. Mr. Shunk has been in public office at Harrisburg almost uninterruptedly since 1809. For the single year of 1836, when he was defeated as Clerk of the House of Representatives, he was out of office. But with that exception, he was sucking at the public teat from 1809 to 1842, a period of THIRTY-TWO YEARS.

Gen. Markle, on the other hand, has never held an office of profit for a single day. But instead of living off the public his whole life, he has earned his living by honest, untiring industry on his farm. When his country was in danger, he was the first to fly to her succor. He did not show his patriotism and courage by vain boasting, but in acts on the field of battle, and in pledging his property to pay his troops when the government could not do it.—When did Shunk render the slightest possible service to the country or the State? Echo answers, when!

Mr. BUCHANAN, it seems, has taken 'the stump' in this State. This is something new for the distinguished Senator. Has he become alarmed? It certainly looks as if he deemed it necessary to put his shoulder to the wheel.

CORRECTION OF A MISTAKE.—The U. States Gazette says:—"We see it stated in the Locofoco papers that Judge Owsley, who has lately been elected Governor of Kentucky, voted against the Tariff of 1842. This is not true, as Judge Owsley was not in Congress. Another man, the Hon. H. W. Owsley, was a member of Congress from Kentucky and voted against the present tariff, because it surrendered the distribution of the public lands; and this was the reason why Mr. White and other Whigs voted against it.

This correction will not, of course, be made by our opponents.

The press of business is now so great in the New York Custom House that the Collector has been compelled to exact an additional hour's service each day from the clerks. In the Naval Office a similar regulation has been put in force.

At the recent commencement of Harvard College the honorary degree of L. L. D. was conferred on the Hon. John Sergeant of Philadelphia.

The Whigs of Delaware county nominated John B. Stacey for Congress; and John Lurkin for Assembly.

THE ELECTIONS.

We have not received complete returns of the popular votes of the elections in North Carolina, Kentucky, Indiana and other states. They will be published when we receive them.

PUBLIC MEETING.

At a meeting of the Cass township Clay Club held at the house of William Brothers in Cassville, on Friday evening the 30th of August, the following resolutions, offered at a previous meeting, were, on motion of Dr. George A. Miller, unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That the Democratic Whig Convention, which assembled in Huntingdon on the 14th ult., placed men before us to be supported for the different county offices in whose honesty and capacity we have perfect confidence. Therefore be it

Resolved, That we look on the attempt to get up a ticket in opposition to the regular Whig nominations as a trick of the Locos and the men engaged in it as disorganizers and enemies to the cause.

Resolved, That we will yield our hearty and willing support to the regular nominations and recommend our friends throughout the county to the same course.

Resolved, That we can beat out Locofocoism in this county this fall—whether it assumes the name of "The Peoples Ticket" or "Workmen," or puts itself under the guidance of the great "Unhooked" himself.

After singing some good Coon Songs the meeting was addressed by Dr. Miller and E. L. Everett, Esq.

Mr. Everett showed up some of the inconsistencies of the "Democrats" and exhorted all good Clay men to vote for the regular Whig nominations and stated that although he was not a personal friend of Mr. Armitage he knew he was an honest man, and every way capable of filling the office for which he was nominated and that he would therefore most heartily and willingly support him.

JOHN STEVER, President.

JOSHUA GREENLAND, Secretary.
