that belonged to my father in New Hamp-shire. The flock had been diseased two years, and several remedies had been tried and failed. Many sheep died, and but few ewes raised their young. The cure was this: a decoction of tobacco and sulphur; ten pounds of good tobacco for one hun-dred sheep, well mashed and steeped in about sixteen gailons of water, to which was added one pound of sulphur. "Each sheep was taken and gut upon a bench or form so fixed as to save. the drippings of liquor from the washing, and rabbed, with a hand-swab, made of some kind of cloth, wet in the decoction, being careful to moistefic every part of the neck and body of the sheep. This was done immediate-ly after shearing. The Jamba also under-was made a little weaker for them. The third day after washing; the sheep were, salted with common salt, wet, and as much sulphur stirred in as would stick, to the salt. The flock from this time began from the same sheep were one third heav-ier, and the lambs were healthy, and such seemed to be the benefit derived from the use of tobacco and sulphur, thit if thea-been continued to this time, only the de-coction is made weaker. It keeps the ticks from sheep, and as yet we have not been continued to this time, only the de-toction is made weaker. It keeps the ticks from sheep, and as yet we have not been troubled with any disease in the fock." Administrators' Rotice.

Huntigdon, April 23, 1845, TO SENSIBLE CITIZENS.-We know from what we see and feel, that the animal body is, in its organs and functions, subject to derangement, inducing pam, and tending to its destruction. In this floordered state, we observe nature providing for the re-es-tablishment of order, by exciting some salu-tary exacution of the morbific matter, or by some other operation, which escapes our imperfect senses and researches. In some cases she brings on a clisis by the bowels, in others by sweating, &c. &c. Now experience has taught us that there are certain substances, by which, applied to the living body, internally or externally, we can at will produce the same evacuations, and thus do in a short time, what nature could do but slowly, and do effectually what she might not have strength to accomplish. When then we have seen a disease cured by bring about the same evacuation, which we had belore observed to cure a similar disease. It is in consequence of the power which the Brandreth Fills exert upon the whole system, that makes them so universally ben-eficial. It is because they impart to the body, the power to expel disease without leaving any evil effect. As a general family medicine, Brandreth's Pills are, it is believed by the Proprietor, superior to every other offered to the public.
