

Winter is Coming.

BY ELIZA COOK. Winter is coming! who cares? who cares? Not the wealthy and proud, I trow; "Let it come," they cry, "what matters to us How chilly the blast may blow!"

"We'll feast and carouse in our lordly halls, The goblet of wine we'll drain, We'll mock at the wind with shouts of mirth, And music's echoing strain."

"Little care we for the biting frost, While the fire gives forth its blaze; And what to us is the dreary night, While we dance with the waight's rays!"

'Tis thus the rich of the land will talk; But think! oh, ye pompous great, That the harrowing storm ye laugh at within Falls bleak on the poor at the gate.

They have blood in their veins, ay, pure as thine, But naught to quicken its flow; They have limbs that feel the whistling gale, And shrink from the driving snow.

Winter is coming—oh! think ye great, On the roofless, naked, and old; Deal with them kindly, as man with man, And spare them a tithe of your gold!

How to Flavor Meat.

The editor of the Maine Farmer observes that a little experience in fattening or stall-feeding animals, will demonstrate that almost any particular flavor may be given to the meat, by feeding it with different kinds of substances. If you fatten beef on pumpkins, you give the flesh a sweet and juicy character, and the tallow will have a yellow tinge. If fed upon apples, it will have a different flavor, and the tallow be light colored and melt easier. Indian corn gives the tallow more solidity and a white color. If you feed cows upon turnips, you can soon taste them in the milk, and onions also give milk their peculiar taste. Sea fowls, that live upon fish, also have a peculiar fishy taste. Partridges are sometimes rendered poisonous by eating poison berries. There is a variety of duck, killed in the waters of Chesapeake Bay and vicinity, called "Canvass back" duck, which are very famous for the peculiar flavor of their flesh, which is caused by the kind of food which they get in those waters. This food is wild celery. A Yankee, in a recent Buffalo paper, recommends the manufacture of "Canvass back" ducks out of the common domestic duck, by feeding them with garden celery while fattening. There is no sort of doubt that if this species of food be given them for some weeks before they are killed, they will have the flavor of it in their flesh, and perhaps be equal to or better than the famous "Canvass backs" above alluded to. It is an experiment very easily tried, and one which is profitable.

Apples.

Mr. Robert Livingston Peel, of Pelham, Ulster county, N. Y., has an orchard of Newtown Pippins, comprising twenty thousand flourishing trees, from which he has been enabled to gather and pack, this year, nearly four thousand barrels; all of which are preparing for shipment to Europe, Cuba, China, and other distant countries. They are sold in New York, by his commission merchant, at six dollars per barrel, as fast as they arrive by the boats from the farm. A common and slovenly mode of packing apples, says the Commercial, is to shake them from the tree, throw them into barrels, good and bad together, and head them up. The consequence is, that they decay after a few days' confinement in the hold of a ship. The "Pelham fruit," on the contrary, is picked by hand, carefully selected and laid in barrels, and until laid in the hold of the vessel, is neither rolled nor carted—consequently, there is scarcely a risk of injury. The fine order in which this fruit has arrived in England heretofore has obtained for it an enviable reputation and a higher price than any other—two very important requisites for the shippers.

Don't expose your Stock

Leibig, the distinguished German Chemist asserts, that "our clothing is to be considered nearly in the light of an equivalent for a certain amount of food." In all situations where the body is kept warm and comfortable by the protection of suitable garments, the demand for food, in order to sustain the natural functions of the systems, will be less than where the protection is scanty, or but ill adapted to subserve the purpose for which it is designed. Now this observation applies with no less force to the management of ourselves and our children. A cow, forced to stand exposed to the weather in inclement seasons, to repose on the cold ground, or in a barn or hovel where the piercing night blasts have free access, necessarily requires a far larger amount of food than one carefully sheltered and provided with a comfortable stall and bed. The difference in the amount of food consumed by animals treated in the different styles above indicated, has been demonstrated by actual and repeated experiments, to be from 25 to 100 per cent. in favor of the latter! But this is not all. Exposure to topies and emaculates the system, paralyzes the functions of the stomach, and opens a door for the introduction of many a fearful disease. An animal habitually exposed to cold, usually falls away. If a cow, "she shrinks her milk," if an ox, he will experience a loss of vivacity, and become stupid and inert, and but feebly prepared to answer the too often exorbitant drafts made upon his muscular powers under the yoke. "A merciful man is merciful to his beast."

TO SENSIBLE CITIZENS.—We know that what we see and feel, that the animal body is, in its organs and functions, subject to derangement, inducing pain, and tending to its destruction. In this disordered state, we observe nature providing for the re-establishment of order, by exciting some salutary evacuation of the morbid matter, or by impulsive means, which repairs the cases she brings on a crisis by the bowels, in others by sweating, &c. &c. Now experience has taught us that there are certain substances, by which, applied to the living body, internally or externally, we can at will produce the same evacuations, and thus do in a short time, what nature could do but slowly, and do effectually what she might not have strength to accomplish. When then we have seen a disease cured by a certain natural evacuation, should that disease occur again, we may count upon curing it by the use of such substances, as we know bring about the same evacuation, which we had before observed to cure a similar disease. It is in consequence of the power which the Brandreth Pills exert upon the whole system, that makes them so universally beneficial. It is because they impart to the body, the power to expel disease without leaving any evil effect. As a general family medicine, Brandreth's Pills are, it is believed by the Proprietor, superior to every other offered to the public. Dr. Brandreth's Pills are for sale by the following Agents in this county. Wm. Stewart, Huntingdon. McFarlane, Garber, & Co., Hollidaysburg. A. & N. Cresswell, Petersburg. Moore & Swoope, Alexandria. HUNTINGDON ACADEMY.

The winter Session of this Institution, will commence on the 20th inst., and it will be very desirable that all persons intend to enter the Academy, be in attendance at the commencement of the session. The pupil must necessarily encounter many disadvantages by entering after the session is commenced. It is hoped therefore that parents will give attention to this matter, and send their children at the opening of the session. It may not be out of place here to state, as the Academy has but lately been placed under the superintendence of the present Instructor, that the advantages for obtaining a useful, and solid education are equal to those of any other institution of the kind. All those branches, that are necessary to prepare persons for practical life, and for entering colleges are taught in the Academy. The Teacher also flatters himself that general satisfaction will be given, judging from the rapid progress which the pupils made during the session that has just closed, and from the approbation which the mode of instruction in the Academy has received. References to any extent can be given if required. Parents who are under the necessity of sending their children from home, to be educated, would do well by placing them in this Institution. Every thing will be done to promote the comfort, and improvement of those that are placed under the care of the Superintendent. Particular attention will be given to their habits, whilst a religious influence will be continually exerted upon them. Then the expenses are so small in comparison to those of many other institutions of the kind, that every one must see the advantages to be gained, by placing their children in this Institution. The Trustees have divided the year into two sessions, consisting of twenty-two weeks each. Pupils however can be admitted at any time with a proportionable charge.—The terms per session are as follows: Tuition, for the higher branches $10.00 Tuition, for the lower branches, 8.00 Tuition, for the common branches, English Grammar, &c., 6.00 Boarding and lodging can be had in the Academy for $1.62 1/2 per week. The situation of the Academy is an exceedingly eligible and healthy one. Any further particulars can be had by reference to the principal. C. E. W. WILLIARD, Principal. Huntingdon Academy, Oct. 7, 1845.

Administrators Notice.

LETTERS of Administration having this day been granted to the undersigned, on the estate of John Green, late of Clay Township, in the county of Huntingdon deceased, all persons having claims against said estate are requested to present them, duly authenticated, for settlement; and all persons indebted will please make payment without delay, to ANDREW SHORE, Adm'r.
