CONGRESS

CONCERBES.

Correspondence of the Pa. Telegraph.

WABHINGTON, Feb. 3, 1846

DRAR Sin:—It is most unquestionably true that Congress heartily sick of the Oregon debate, and if only the wishes of Legislatures and the dear poople were known, it would be speedily brought to a close. You can form no idea of the insipidity of the discussion. The speeches which we hear daily are made for home consumption, and although being thoroughly revised after delivery for publication, yet sir, the delivery is positively excrucating in nine cases out of ten. The whole ground has been travelled over dozens of times. Not a tree bush, creek, hill or dale, that has not had a visit.

There seems to be a disposition on the part of the House to take the question, but as I said before, advices must first be received from home. There is no doubt but the resolution to give the notice
will pass the House; the Senate is more doubtful.
What effect the action of the Whigs will have upon this question with the Southern revenue tariff men, remains yet to be seen. It is time this question (the tariff) should be discussed, if discussed at all. The democracy feat it, and although it was one of the issues upon which Mr. Polk came into power, yet their cry now is that it is no party quesfion; and although it divides the two great parties of the country, yet it assumes more of a riational

one of the issues apport which is no party quesifion; and although it divides the two great parties of the country, yet it assumes more of a national than a party character.

Nice calculations lead many to think that there is a majority of twelve in the House in favor of an alteration in the present tariff, but I doubt this. Many who are thought enemies to the present tariff, will be its friends in the hour of trial. Hon. A. Stewait, one of the mighty on this question, who has been confined to his lodgings by indisposition for a week, appeared in his seat yesterday. It is most likely that next week will end the debate upon the question now before the House, unless in the interim some information is received to change the present aspect of affairs.

the question now before the House, unless in the interim-some information is received to change the present aspect of affairs.

It is, judging from present appearances, very probable that our difficulties with Mexico will have to be settled by strong means. Late advices from that Republic show that the feeling of the party now in power is not the most friendly towards our government.

The rumor relative to Mr. Buchanan's transfer to the bench is still floating through our streets, and newspapers all around us herald it as an indisputable fact. I believe it has its foundation in a putable fact. I believe it need has reminded and provided and the fact of the ter which Mr. Hage of Ill., and Mr. Wick of Ind., addressed the House on the Oregon question. After the latter had concluded, a bill from the Senate was taken up to establish post routes in Texas, Mr. Culver of New York, took the floor and reviewed the whole plan of annexation, its incipiency, progression and consimination, and, to use a common expression, "made the fur fly." He is an able man, and a good whig. After the transaction of some unimportant business the House adjourned over to Saturday morning.

Before the consideration of the Oregon question was resumed, Mr. Broadhead offered a resolution wer to Saturday morning.

Before the consideration of the Oregon question ras resumed, Mr. Broadhead offered a resolution of the ore-publish the Pension laws and the opinions of the Attorney General thereon," and that 5,500 opies be printed for the use of Congress and the Commissioner of Pensions. Upon this proposition of Pensions. Upon this proposition of the economical of Pensions. The Newtonian that the economical of th

Mr. A. Johnston of Tenn, then took the moor on the pending question, and threw a fire-brand into the ranks of the Southern Locofacos opposed to the notice. Some very sharp passes took place between him and Mr. Bailey of Va. Mr. Johnston is a vicelent party man, and a warm personal friend of Mr. Polk's, and he lashed those of the party whom he considered recreant to the principles upon which Mr. Polk came into power, in a masterly manner.

After he had concluded, Mr. Wood (whig) of New York, took the floor in opposition to the notice, and, among other remarks, he said he regarded the desire of certain gentlemen to rush into a war with England as madness quite as great as to stand on a railroad track and oppose the rushing locometive.

When Mr. Wood had got through, the further discussion of the Oregon question was deferred until Monday, and the House went into other business.

sey presented resolutions from the Le-Mr. Ramsey presented resolutions from the Legislature of Pennsylvania, relative to the National Road from Pittsburg to Eric; also relative to the Piers in the Delaware river; and in favor of the present system of Postage—all of which were appropriately referred. Several ineffectual attempts were then made from all parts of the House to introduce resolutions, but the only motion which prevailed wave one to adjourn to Monday at 12 o'clock. No gossip worthy of notice.

Yours, truly, S.

Yours, tuty,

G. Mexico.—The Washington correspondent of the U.S. Gazette says:

"I hear that a letter has been received by some person in this city from General Almonte, who says that no President could sustain himself a month in Mexico, who should propose peace with the United States. It is well known that the general himself entertains the most uncompromising hostility to this country."

Disastants Fire.—We learn from the Harrisburg Telegraph that the steam Saw Mill of Mr. Henry Church, at Middletown, in Dauphin county, was burned on the night of the lat inst, with a large amount of lumber. The loss is variously estimated at from $6,000 to $10,000, on which there is no insurance.

The Railway Webb.

The Prince de Joinville is now and then looking about our coasts to find out, it is said, which is the softest part of us, in case of a war, to put his foot upon us. Poor fellow, he's got the disease of glory; only, as it sometimes hoppens with the small-pox, it has struck inwards: it can't come out upon him. When we've railways laid down, as I say like a system of a thing it is, for I hav'n't time to tell you, but the electric telegraph will touch a line of the web, when down will come a tremendous spider in a red coat with all sorts of murder after him! Mind, grandmother, let us hope this may never happen; but, when folks who molest us know it can come about, won't they let us alone? Depend upon it we're binding war over to keep the peace, and the bonds are made of railway iron !—Jerreid'e Magazine.

Some miscreant, says a Washington paper has recently disfigured Greenough's statue of Washington, which stands in the temporary octagon building in the East Capitol grounds, and of the figure of Columbus, standing on the left side of the antique chair, (on which the main statue is scated,) one half the arm, with his hand and ball, have been broken off and carried away. The letters of Latin Inscription have also been defaced.
