

Further from Mexico.

Letters were received last night in this city by special conveyance from Mexico and Vera Cruz. The letters from the city of Mexico are to the 14th of January, at which time Mr. Shidell was in the city, but was expected to arrive at Jalapa on the 17th. He had obtained an escort to that place. Not the slightest insult had been offered to him, as has been reported; but he had been received with much courtesy, and he had been welcomed in the society of the metropolis as an elegant and accomplished gentleman. He had not yet been received by the government in his official capacity—neither had they declined his reception; and in fact, judging by appearances, there was no reason to believe that he would not be as acceptable to the government of Paredes as to that of Herrera.

Rumors and speculations were still about about calling a European Prince to the throne of Mexico and supporting him by the aid of French and British soldiers.

It was said and believed, in Mexico, that Gen. Arista had published a "pronouncement" against Paredes; and that he was in San Luis de Potosi, or on the advance to that place at the head of 3,000 troops on his march to the capital. Difficulties were gathering around the new President of the republic. Yucatan had raised her independent national flag, and Tassago was about following her example. California was almost independent. These were the reports, which prevailed when the last vessel left Vera Cruz; but they are in some respects irreconcilable with the accounts which were last received from Corpus Christi.—Wash. Union.

YUCATAN.

Yucatan has declared her independence. We extract the following, from a letter to the New York Herald, dated Herida, Jan. 1:—Yucatan is no longer a part of the Mexican federation. Yesterday the "Asamblea departamental," pronounced against their existing form of government, and have recalled the deputies in the Mexican Congress. The Mexican eagle has been torn from their banner, and placed by the stars of 1843. They have gone back to the old state of things, as they existed before the treaty with Mexico. The cause of the rupture is this same treaty; a resolution having been introduced and carried, in the Mexican chambers, for a revision of said established treaty.

Important Movement.

A special committee of the Alabama Legislature has reported a bill prohibiting under several penalties, the introduction of slaves by traders or non-residents. The committee complain that the slave population is becoming too numerous for the interest and security of the citizens of the State, and that non-resident planters send their slaves into it, and withdraw the proceeds of their labor to be expended in other States. They further express the fear that, as popular opinion is setting itself against the continuation of slavery in Kentucky, Virginia and other States, they may be overrun with this class of population.

A FIGHTING GENIUS from Philadelphia, Mr. Wm. Grimshaw, says the Columbia Spy, sent a challenge to Wm. A. Miller, Esq. of Carlisle, and in that document very politely requested him to fight a duel, or in other words, to go out into some field early in the morning and stand up to be shot at. Mr. Miller like a sensible man, who is opposed to murder, quietly handed the matter over to the Grand Jury, who took action upon the matter, and Mr. G. was convicted in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Cumberland county, and was fined $50 and costs. This is nearly right, but if the "Tariff" had been laid on a good deal heavier, we should have liked it better.

Melancholy Death.

The late English papers brought intelligence of the death of the Rev. John Neville White, a clergyman of the Episcopal Church and brother of the poet Henry Kirk White. The reverend gentleman, who had for some months been suffering from a defective vision, was inspecting some small timber which had been felled upon his grounds, and which was piled near a pond, when it is supposed that he stumbled against the stump of a tree, fell into the pond and was drowned. The reverend gentleman was greatly beloved in his parish.—N. Y. Com. Adv.

We learn from the Luzerne Democrat, that of all the unfortunate persons who were buried in the coal mines at Carbondale, but six have been recovered. Although much crushed they have been recognized.

Three more bodies, since our last, says the same paper, have been recovered from the Carbondale mines. Six of these unfortunate miners are yet missing.

A FATAL ACCIDENT, resulting in death, occurred at Mid-18th, Pa., on the 18th ultimo. Mr. Samuel Graham, one of the proprietors of the Middlesex furnace, was the victim of the casualty. He was riding in a cutter, when his horse, as we learn from the Erie Observer, leaped from a bridge, and fell fifty-three feet to the ice below. The horse was killed on the spot, and Mr. G. survived only until the evening of the ensuing day.

The Texas Bible Society has resolved to supply every family in the State with a copy of the Sacred Scriptures, and one thousand dollars worth of the publication of the American Bible Society have been received for that purpose.

Singular Circumstance.

A circumstance of a somewhat singular character has recently taken place in Upper Leacock township, in this county, in the vicinity of Mr. Hunsecker's mill, which has led to many conjectures and created an unusual degree of excitement in the neighborhood where it occurred. We furnish our readers with the facts, for which we are indebted to Mr. Myers, of the American Press, who obtained them from a gentleman who resides in the township alluded to. On yesterday a week, the 2nd instant, a strange spotted hound was seen opposite Mr. Hunsecker's mill, near to the dam, with a fresh wound upon his back. He remained in the spot until Saturday last, during a period of four days, baffling every attempt to remove him or induce him to leave. While there, he manifested the greatest degree of uneasiness, and, occasionally, would swim out into the dam and return with every appearance of sorrow and disappointment. On Saturday a gentleman in the vicinity, by the name of Munn, succeeded in securing him and leading him away from the dam. The dog is now chained at Munn's house, where the owner can have him by proving property. Since chained, he has several times broken loose, and has invariably gone back to the dam and occupied his former position. A man's cap was found below the ford, which has led to the conjecture that the owner of the dog was drowned in attempting to cross the stream, and the attachment of the animal to its master was the cause of its remaining so long a time in the vicinity of the dam. The wound upon the dog has also led to the opinion that the owner of the dog may have been murdered and thrown into the stream, and that the dog received its wound while standing in its master's defence. So far there has been no search made in the water, but it is the intention of the people of the neighborhood to do so as soon as the weather will admit. The whole is a strange and remarkable circumstance, and it is not known what facts it may eventually develop. —Lancaster Intelligencer & Journal.

Two Steamers Lost.

Two new and elegant steamers—the Wyota and the Nebraska—were recently lost on their way from St. Louis to New Orleans. The accident which caused the sinking of the Nebraska, took place on the evening of the 14th ultimo, as she was approaching a wood pile opposite Pacific bar, about twenty miles below Vicksburg. The hull, in rounding to, was felt to come in contact with some obstruction, but the crew caused no alarm at the time, and she had been lying at the shore perhaps thirty minutes before her officers were aware of her situation; the first intimation they had of her danger, she was discovered to be in a sinking condition, and in order to save as much as they could, and to prevent the boat from going into deep water, they immediately ran her for the opposite sandbar, which they were fortunate enough to reach, and where she went down in six or seven feet water.

The other boat struck a snag at a place called the Tea Table, which literally tore her bottom out, and she went down almost immediately in some twelve feet water; but a small portion of her cargo was saved, and the balance, together with the boat, it is thought will prove a total loss.

A letter has been received from a gentleman of Baltimore, stating that he, in company with the Hon. Henry Clay, intended to leave New Orleans on the 27th ultimo, for Havana, where they contemplate remaining for a short time.
