

FROM MEXICO.

SUPPOSED DEATH OF CAPTAIN RANDOLPH RIDGLEY.—Thrown from his horse.—The New Orleans papers of the 13th inst., bring accounts of a fatal accident to another of the noble and distinguished sons of Maryland, at Monterey. The New Orleans Delta says:

We know not when sounds more suddenly startling saluted our ear than last evening when a friend, on meeting us, exclaimed, "Poor Ridgley is killed!" For a moment, the announcement deprived us of the power of utterance, but too soon we were informed of the melancholy particulars. Our informant was Capt. Deshon, of the Steamboat Sea, who arrived yesterday from Brazos St. Jago. He left there on Tuesday the 3d inst.

While in the office of Capt. Hill, the Assistant Quartermaster of that station, a few moments before going on board, an express arrived from Monterey, communicating the sad intelligence that the gallant, the chivalrous Ridgley had met with an accident from which it was impossible to recover, and which he could not long survive. It appears that on Sunday, the 25th ult., he had been riding his horse swiftly down one of the hills in the neighborhood of Monterey. The animal fell with great force, the brave rider coming under, the concussion fracturing his skull. It rendered him speechless and insensible, and left no hopes of his recovery. This is no idle report, it is true—palpably true.

Alas, Poor Ridgley! hadst thou fallen at Palo Alto, Resaca de la Palma, or at the siege of Monterey, to the glory of the American Arms, in all of which thy gallant daring did so signally contribute, few would be the tears, though sincere its sorrow, which thy country would shed over thy bier. But that thou shouldst be ignominiously, as it were, cut off, with the garland of glory fully and freshly clustering thy brow, furnishes a cause among us for mourning that cannot be repressed and will not soon be forgotten.

[Correspondence of the Balt. Sun.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20—7 P. M. By an endorsement on a paper postmarked Brazos Santiago, Nov. 4, 1846, we learn that Capt. Randolph Ridgley is dead from the effects of a fall from his horse. I learn the above from the Washington Post Office.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20—10 P. M. Despatches have at last been received from Gen. Taylor, with the official account of the killed and wounded at Monterey; their number is 490, all told.—Nothing else of importance from the camp. Gen. Taylor has not yet left Monterey.

ARRIVAL OF THE GALVESTON—REPORTED MOVEMENT OF AMPUDIA AGAINST GEN. WOOL.

The Steamer Galveston arrived at New Orleans on the 12th instant, from Galveston. The following extract of a letter from New Orleans briefly sums up the news brought by her:

She brings among her passengers, some six or eight officers, including Col. "Jack Hays" and the renowned Captain Sam. Walker, formerly of the Texas Rangers, said to be on their way to Washington. They became lions at once, and as they walk through the streets attract crowds at their heels.—Capt. W. has by no means a distingue or martial look about him, stoops, with a slouching gait, thin face and small red whiskers. Hays is only remarkable for an eagle eye and compact figure.

The Galvestonians gave them a great ball, and I understand that a similar demonstration is to be made here, under the auspices of Capt. Lumsden. A Galveston Extra received this morning, mentions the arrival of a gentleman there who left Monterey on the 13th ult. He says it was currently reported in the army, that Gen. Ampudia, had not retreated to San Luis de Potosi, as before supposed, but with his army of 14,000 men, with munitions of every kind, had marched to Monclovia, with a view of intercepting General Wool and his little army of 3,000 men, and preventing his junction with Gen. Taylor. General Wool, however, it was supposed had taken a different route from the one Ampudia expected, and they might miss each other. How true this may be it is impossible to say, but the Galveston News thought it sufficiently interesting to warrant the issue of an extra.

MEXICAN INTELLIGENCE. We have already said that the Mexicans were making diligent preparations for the defence of Vera Cruz. The garrison of the citadel has been increased and troops are marching into the town from various points in the interior.

One of the last official acts of Gen. Landero, before he was succeeded by Gen. Morales, as Captain-General of Vera Cruz, was to declare the city in a state of siege, thus subjecting it to martial law. Another measure was to exempt from all duty such articles as rice, maize, butter, &c., which may be necessary to enable the castle and city to stand a siege.

Dealers are forbidden to charge excessive prices for such articles. Mules and other animals used for transportation, are also to be allowed to enter the city without charge. At the same time the people are busily engaged fortifying the city, every class of citizens taking hold to dig trenches. Even the women have taken hold of the spade and shovel, and work regularly with the men.

The Government organ of the 3d ult. announced that, on the morning of the previous day, Gen. Salas assembled some of the wealthiest citizens of the capital, and addressed them upon the necessities of the Government, and suggested various remedies.

It was finally determined to make an assessment of $200,000 upon fifty gentlemen, which should be advanced to the Government in the shape of a loan. It was carried with signs of enthusiasm, and although the money was not actually paid in, it was deemed to be secured, and profuse thanks are showered upon the fifty capitalists who thus came forward.

In Chihuahua Gov. Trias is said to be melting up the bells of the churches to make cannon for the defence of the city. The greatest lamentations are heard that the people cannot be provided with the arms which they are so eager to take up against the invaders. In all our papers we do not see mention made of General Wool's invasion. It is from the North they anticipate the descent of the avalanche.

FROM THE GULF SQUADRON.

Second Abortive Attack on Alvarado!

The Washington Union publishes the following letter from Com. Connor to the Secretary of the Navy, giving the Official account of the late attack on Alvarado:

Extract of a letter from Com. Connor to the Secretary of the Navy:

"U. S. SHIP CUMBERLAND,

"OFF VERA CRUZ, October 17, 1846.

"It is with feelings of deep mortification that I apprise the department of the failure of another attempt to enter the river of Alvarado.

"On the morning of the 15th, a little after sunrise, I reached the entrance of that river, with the steamer Vixen, the three gunboats, the prize schooner Nonata, mounting four guns, and the revenue vessels, schooner Forward and the steamer McLane, accompanied by the Mississippi, Commodore Perry. It was intended the latter should cannonade the battery, while the smaller vessels crossed the bar. It was found, however, she could not approach near enough to make any impression on the work with her shells. This battery mounted seven guns; and immediately behind it, on an elevated knoll, was a platform, on which was a mounted pivot-gun. Knowing the small power of the steamers on which I depended to tow the small vessels over the bar, and up the river, I was desirous of having a favorable wind to assist them. For this purpose, I delayed moving until nearly two o'clock, but seeing no prospect of the usual sea-breeze setting in, I determined to proceed. The first division, composed of the Reefer and Bonna, in tow of the Vixen, got under way, and was followed by the second division, consisting of the Nonata, Forward, and Petrel, towed by the McLane. As they approached the bar, the current became stronger, causing the steamers to steer badly, and lessening their progress to not more than a mile, or a mile and a half the hour.

"The first division continued to advance steadily, and had been some time engaged with the battery, when I had the mortification of seeing the McLane aground on the bar, and the vessels she had in tow, fold of each other, in the greatest disorder.

"As it was evident no support could be expected from the second division for some time, if at all, and as the three vessels composing the first, were wholly inadequate to prosecute the attack, even if they could pass the battery, with which we were engaged, I was constrained to order the Vixen to be put about, and repress the bar.

"It may be as well to observe here, that besides the battery at the entrance of the river, there is another at the town, one and a half mile distant, of three guns, with two brigs each mounting nine guns, a schooner with seven guns, and two gunboats, each carrying a long twenty four pounder—all so disposed as to command the channel.

"By the time the Vixen joined her, the McLane was again afloat, without having sustained any material injury.—It was obvious, however, her draft (ten feet two inches) was too great to pass the bar in its present state. Generally there are from thirteen to fifteen feet on it, and my information led me to believe I should find that depth now, but the late floods have probably lessened, as on sounding previously to entering, there were barely twelve feet. The Vixen struck twice in going over, though drawing only seven feet. The current was also stronger in the river than I expected, and even if she could pass the bar, I felt convinced the power of the McLane was inadequate to make head against it with any vessels in tow.—These considerations—and the day being far spent—induced me, however, much against my inclination, to abandon any further attempt at present to enter the river.

"Except for a short time, from early in the spring to the commencement of the rainy season, no one not acquainted with them, can have any conception of the difficulties attending naval operations on this coast. The North winds, during the winter months are sudden and violent, accompanied by high seas and strong currents. No judgment can be formed as to what moment they may commence. Under such circumstances, an opinion may be easily formed of the difficulty of landing a body of men on the open coast, and also of the danger from the elements attending it.

"I am, very respectfully,
"Your obedient servant,
D. CONNER,

"Hon. John Y. Mason,
"Secretary of the Navy,
"Washington, D. C."

FOREIGN NEWS.

ARRIVAL OF THE GREAT WESTERN.

The Steamer Great Western arrived in New York on the night of the 16th inst. from Liverpool, with dates to the 31st ultimo.

She brings 100 passengers. She took out the news of the capture of Monterey by the Americans.

FOOD RIOTS IN IRELAND.—Ireland appears to be in a most deplorable situation. County Tipperary is almost in a state of insurrection.

The town of Templemore was the scene of three food Riots on Monday, by a mob varying in numbers from one to five hundred men. The rage for the possession of fire arms is increasing daily. An attack upon the Very Rev. Dean Humes, whilst fishing on Saturday last, by an armed gang, 8 in number, was in some measure successful. Violence, robberies and murders seem to be rife in Ireland.

By far the greatest portion of Munster presents at this moment the appearance of a slumbering volcano.

ENGLAND.—Difficulties appear to exist in the British Ministry. The Home affairs of the Government are represented to be in an unsettled and precarious condition; and a storm seems to be brewing between England and France, which threatens mischief.

FRANCE.—From France we have most disastrous and melancholy accounts of the consequences of a flood which had occurred in the River Loire, the waters of which have very suddenly risen to a height exceeding anything known for a century back. In a single night the waters of the Loire itself rose twenty French feet.

The fetes in Paris in honor of the matrimonial conquest of Louis Philippe and his son have been postponed for some time, in consequence as is alleged, of the inundations in certain parts of France caused by heavy rains and storms.

ANOTHER INSURRECTION IN PORTUGAL.—The latest news from Portugal, received at Madrid, announce that a revolutionary movement had broken out at Oporto. The report of the arrest of the Duke of Terceira was confirmed. That statesman is in prison at Oporto. The Regency, it was said, was proclaimed in the name of Belbree III. It was said at Madrid that Costa Cabal, and Don Zalas Bravo were to leave, on the 19th instant, for Lisbon.—Our Lisbon letter of the 16th instant states that all communication between that capital, Oporto, and Coimbra was cut off in consequence of the telegraph being broken. The Duio of that day contains royal decrees, dismissing from their posts as many civil Governors appointed by the late Government. Mr. Palmetta had demanded his passports for France.

WAR IN CIRCASSIA.—The news from Circassia, which comes down to the 27th of August, is of great and thrilling interest. A Russian deserted to the Circassians, Bake Delifesner by name, who, obtaining influence with the various tribes has been raised to an important command, has made a successful razzia on the Russian Territory.

MARKETS.
LIVERPOOL CORN EXCHANGE, Friday, Oct. 30.—At this day's market the millers who are now tolerably well in stock, appeared almost unanimously determined to remain on the reserve.—The Wheat trade altogether was consequently languid in the extreme, and had sales been feasible, beyond a very limited amount, many holders would have accepted easier terms. Irish Flour, upon a short supply, was unaltered in value, but United States and Canadian being more difficult of sale than usual, all descriptions of this article, both free and in bond received 1s. per bbl below last quotations.

Bacon and Hams are in good request and at an advance in price. Lard is scarce and wanted.

STILL LATER.

The Acadia arrived at Boston on Tuesday morning, having left England four days after the Great Western. She brings no additional news of any importance. There has been no material change in the markets. The Acadia made the trip across the Atlantic in 12 days and 18 hours—the quickest ever made.

"You look like death on a pale horse," said a gentleman to a toper, who was pale and emaciated.

"I don't know anything about that," said the toper, "but I'm death on a pale horse."

The Outrages at Nauvoo.

Extract from a private letter to the Editor of the New York Tribune, dated

ILLINOIS, Nov. 5, 1846.

"Gov. Ford is now at Nauvoo. That city and county is suffering under the effects of the lawless movements which have been carried on there for the last few years. I was there two days after the mob entered the city, and a more desolate looking place was never seen. Out of probably 2,500 houses, not more than 40 or 50 seemed to be occupied. "The mob had a guard there of over 100 men, under a committee of public safety, before whom every person they disliked was summoned, and ordered to leave the county, not to return under pain of death. They drove off many of the most respectable and wealthy, and prudent men of the State, at the point of the bayonet. They pillaged houses at pleasure, and insulted women and children without hesitation, and under the pretence of being "law and order men." For many miles around the city, in every direction, nearly every farm house was abandoned, the fences were thrown down, and the crops at the mercy of cattle and hogs, and "law and order" men. Such scenes were never heard of in a civilized country."

General Lamar.

The Galveston News says:—"The conduct of Gen. Lamar in the battle of Monterey was marked by his usual chivalry and eager impetuosity. Mounted on a large white horse, he was easily distinguished throughout the engagement. We are informed by those who were present, that after the capitulation, the Mexicans spoke of Gen. Lamar, (who appears to be well known to them,) in terms of extravagant admiration.—They said he seemed to bear a charmed life—that they saw him in almost every street in the city where the battle raged most fiercely; that, as in the battle of San Jacinto, he was the mark for many a Mexican ball, which they imagined he could only escape by the interposition in his behalf of some supernatural aid."

NOT EDITORIAL.—We wish to call the reader's attention to Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry, that is advertised in another column. There is some peculiarity about this article that no other remedy has. It is completely master of all pulmonary diseases, even to the most malignant, such as our most prominent and skillful physicians, after long treatment, have given up in despair as beyond the reach of medicine and their skill, are cured by this remedy. The reader may think there is some assurance in this, and with some reason, too, if it was not plain matter of fact. It is the best medicine before the public. For sale by Read & Son, Huntingdon.

The Markets.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 21, 1846.

WHEAT & MEAL.—On Wednesday, 1000 bbls of Flour sold at $5.25, but the market closed heavy and dull. Since then, prices have declined 25 cents per bbl, and about 800 bbls have been taken for shipment at $5, including one lot held on speculation at something less. The sales for city use have been limited at $5.12 1/2 to 5.50 for common and extra brands. Supplies of Flour continue to arrive freely.

GRAIN.—The receipts of Wheat are large, and having declined about 6 cents per bushel, has been in demand, and the sales have been large. Yesterday and to-day sales of 33,000 bushels good and prime red, at $1.02 afloat, and $1.03 in store; 14,000 bushels good and prime white at $1.09 a $1.10, and $1.06 for white and red mixed; 1000 bushels good Southern at $1 afloat. RYE.—A sale of Pennsylvania at 75 cents.—Good old Penn's yellow is in demand for shipment. Sales of 2000 bushels at 70 cts; 8000 good Southern yellow in store at 70 cts; 3000 new Southern at 55 a 54 and some Penn's at 60. OATS.—Free sales of Southern at 31 1/2 a 33 cts for Virginia and Delaware.

ORPHANS' COURT SALE.

IN pursuance of an order of the Orphans' Court of Huntingdon county, there will be exposed to public sale, as the property of Jacob Baker, dec'd., on the premises of said deceased, in Springfield township, Huntingdon county, on Saturday, the 19th day of December next, at 1 o'clock in the afternoon, the following described real estate, viz:

A certain message, plantation and tract of land, situate in said township of Springfield, and county of Huntingdon, bounded by lands of George Taylor on the east, Mr. Cremer on the north, Elisha S. Greene on the west, and William Taylor on the south, containing 136 acres, more or less, with the appurtenances, &c.

This property lies on the waters of the Big Aughwick creek, near the Furnace and Forge of Blair & Madden. The land is easily cultivated, and very productive; and though now somewhat out of order, is susceptible of a high state of improvement. The necessary buildings on the farm are convenient and substantial, but now in need of some repair. It is situated in a good and thriving neighborhood, in a township which is improving more than any other in the county at this time, and in which the taxes are comparatively light. The administrators are obliged to sell at the time appointed; from all these considerations, purchasers may look out for a bargain.

Terms of Sale.—One-third of the purchase money to be paid on confirmation; one-third within one year, with interest, and the residue at and immediately after the death of Margaret Baker, widow of the said intestate; the interest of the one-third of the purchase money to be annually and regularly paid to the said widow during her natural life—the whole to be secured by the bonds and mortgage of the purchaser.

Attendance will be given on the day of sale, and the property shown in the meantime, by nov25-15 JACOB BAKER, acting Admr.

DR. DAVIS'S COMPOUND SYRUP OF WILD CHERRY AND TAR.

FOR the cure of Pulmonary Consumption, Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Influenza, Bronchitis, Pleurisy, Difficulty of Breathing, Pain in the Breast or Side, Spitting of Blood, Croup, Nervous Tremors, Hooping Cough, &c.

From the Christian Repository, Dec. 13, 1845.

We insert in another column an advertisement of Messrs. Robison & Collins of this city, to which we take pleasure in calling the attention of our readers. We do this more especially from the card of Bro. Barnes which is appended to it. Bro. B. is a member of the M. E. Church in good standing, and those who know him personally, (as we do) have the fullest confidence in any statement he may give of the efficacy of any medicine which he may have tested.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 20, 1845.

Messrs. Robison, Collins & Co.—Being afflicted last spring with a very severe cough, with pain in my side and breast, soreness and weakness of the lungs, shortness of breath, loss of appetite, &c., I tried various remedies, but to no good effect, my cough still continuing and growing worse. Such was the distressing nature of the cough, that I could not lie in bed night nor day, but was obliged to sit up in my chair, and could sleep very little at best; consequently I was wearing out very fast, till you very kindly recommended Dr. Davis's Compound Syrup of Wild Cherry and Tar, the first bottle of which gave me relief, checked my cough, loosened the phlegm, caused me to expectorate freely, restored my appetite, relieved the pain in my side, healed the soreness of my breast, and strengthened my lungs, causing me to breathe freely. I have now taken ten bottles; it has entirely cured my cough. I have gained considerably in flesh. I think it a most valuable medicine, and one that ought to be universally known, that those afflicted with colds and coughs may have a medicine both safe and sure to cure, if taken properly. While taking the medicine, I drank freely of molasses and water, which I found excellent to keep the bowels open. If this statement can be found of any benefit to the afflicted, you are at liberty to make such use of it as you may think proper.
