On the right from the Water's edge rises perpendicularly a knob,' to the height of a hundred feet, and then floats gradually to the summit. This knob, to distinguish it from others, was known as the Cedar Lick, from its being entirely covered by tall cedars, and the salt taste of the earth, which the deer come in droves to lick.

Among those who were the first to settle Kentucky, was the hero of our tale, Daniel Banks, better known as hardy Dan. Having been crossed in love, and of a restless and danger-loving disposition, he eagerly embraced the first opportunity offered, to emigrate to the 'dark and bloody ground.' At the time the following incident happened, he had been three years in Kentucky, and together with six of his companions, he had settled near the Cedar Lick.

In height, Dan was over six feetlarge limbed, of great strength, and the best shot in the 'clearing.' Being bold and fearless, he assumed the charge of providing his companions with game.

Many were the hair-breadth escapes from the savages while hunting. Cunning as were the 'red skins,' yet Dan, by his wonderful skill in wood craft, always contrived to elude their snares, and generally left them to mourn one or more of their braves.

Dan's favorite place for hunting was the Cedar Lick. So hither he would regain early in the morning, and con.

Dan's favorite place for hunting was the Cedar Lick. So hither he would repair early in the morning, and concealing himself, watch for game. One morning while thus occupied, he sat down under a tree, and was soon wrapt in deep thought. Suddenly the cracking of a twig struck his ear. Instantly he crouched behind a tree, cocked his rifle, and glanced in the direction from which came the sound; but instead of a fine buck bounding from the bushes, hereard the dark form of an Indica creeping through the bushes, about a hundred yards from him. Quick as thought Dan raised his rifle to his shoulder, glanced along the barrel and fired. With a yell the red skin leaped to his feet, staggered a few paces, and fell to the ground a quivering corpse.

Before Dan had time to reload, another savage who had crept up unperceived, sprang upon him, and both fell struggling to the ground, our hero under.—Escape seemed now impossible, but making an effort for his life, he exerted all his immense strength, and turned his assailant, but could not use his hands, for the Indian clasped him tightly around the body. Having no other weapon, he seized him by the throat with his teeth, and ground them till they met. The relaxed hold and stiffened limbs of his enemy soon told how deadly was the bite of the Kentuckian. Already the woods resounded with the yells of numerous savages. In flight lay his only chance of escape, but where? On every side except toward the river, were enemies; the woods appeared alive with them. But Dan was not a man to submit tamely. He knew well the horrid death he would suffer were he taken, and he had often sworn to kill himself rather than be toasted alive for the amusement of a pack of murdering red skins. The Indians pressing close, drove him to the river bank. He could go no further, for he was on the brink of a precipice. He shuddered as he looked from the dizzy height at the deep and rapid stream, far, far below, but close behind were his blood-thirsty pursuers. Better,' excalimed he, 'be dashed to pieces, tha

The descendants of the hardy pioneer still point out to the wandering traveller the spot where Dan Banks took his 'leap for life.'

Serving a Landlord.

A jolly son of the emerald isle, with his bundle and stick on his shoulder, "hove to" one evening at a hotel in a well known town on the Juniata, and at once introduced himself to the landlord. "Long life to you, Misther Turner.—They told me ye's a kind hearted man, and keeps a first rate house, and that ye's a generous man and clever to strangers, and if ye's agreed, I'll be after stayin' with ye till to morrow." "Certainly," said the landlord, and he took charge of his bundle, and gave him the Kentucky ranks first among her sister States for the daring courage and high-toned honor of her chivalrous sons—swift to take offence, and as quickly to forgive, they avenge upon the spot, but malice never harbors in their hearts.

Nature has given a benefitting home to her favorite sons. The scenery of Kentucky abounds in the wild and sublime, soft and beautiful. We see 'Knobs' bristling with tall trees, rear their lofty breads till they are lost in the clouds, and then sink gently into lovely and teeming valleys. Her rivers rush leaping, dashing, foaming, like mad demons down the rugged heights, then gently flow along through smiling meadows, with a bosom unruffled as the face of a sleeping babe.

M'ALLISTER'S

Insensible Perspiration.

The preceding figure is given to represent the insensible perspiration.—
It is the great Evacuation for the impurities of the body. It will be noticed that a thick cloudy mist issues from all parts of the surface, which indicates that the perspiration flows uninterruptedly when in health, but ceases when we are sick. Life cannot be sustained without it. It is thrown off from the blood and other juices of the body, and disposes by this means of nearly all the impurities within us. The language of scripture, "in the blood is the life."

If it ever becomes impure it may be traced directly to the stoppage of the "insensible perspiration." Thus we see all that is necessary when the blood is stagnant or infected, is to open the pores and it relieves itself from all impurity instantly. Its own heat and vitality are sufficient, without one particle of medicine, except to open the pores upon the surface. Thus we see the folly of taking so much internal remedies.—All practitioners, however, direct their efforts to restore the insensible perspiration. The Thompsonian, for instance, steams; the Hydropathist shrouds in wet blankets; the Homocopathist deals out infinits simals; the Ailopathist bleeds and doses us with mercury, and the blustering Quack gorges us with pills.

I have had physicians, learned in the profession, I have had ministers of the and doses us with mercury, and the blustering Quack gorges us with pills.

I have had physicians, learned in the profession, I have had ministers of the Gospel, Judges of the Bench, Aldermen and Lawyers, gentlemen of the highest erudition, and multitudes of the poor, use it in every variety of way, and there has been but one voice—one united, universal voice—saying, "M'Allister your Ointment is good."

Consumption.—It can hardly be credited that a salve can have any effect upon the lungs, seated as they are within the system. But if placed upon the ckest, it penetrates directly to the lungs, separates the poisonous particles that are consuming them, and expels them from the system. I need not say that it is curing persons of Consumption continually, although we are told that it is foolishness. I care not what is said, so long as I can cure several thousand perong as I can cure several thousand perong as I can cure several mousana perons annually.

Headache.—The salve has cured perons of the Headache of 12 year's standg, and who had it regularly every week, that vomiting often took place.

Deafness and Ear ache are helped with like success.

Cold Feet.-Consumption, Liver Complaint, pains in the Side or Chest, falling off the hair, one or the other, always accompanies cold feet. It is a sure sign of disease in the system to have cold accompanies cold feet. It is a sure sign of disease in the system to have cold feet.

The Salve will cure every case in Scrofula, Erysipelas, Salt Rheum, Liver Complaint, Sore Throat, Bronchitis, Broken or Sore Breast, Piles, Chest Diseases, such as Asthma, Oppression, Pains, also Sore Lips, Chapped Hands, Tumors, Cutaneous Eruptions, Nervous Diseases, and of the Spine there is no medicine known probably so good.

Burns,—It is the best thing in the world for Burns, (Read the directions around the box.)

Pimples on the face, Masculine Skin, Gross Surface.—When there is grossness or dull repulsive surface, it begins to soften until the skin becomes as smooth and delicate as a child's.

Worms.—If parents knew how fatal most medicines were to children taken inwardly, they would be slow to resort to them. Especially 'mercurial lozenges,' called 'medicated lozenges,' 'vermifuges,' 'pills,' &c. The truth is, no one can tell, invariably, when worms are present. Now let me say to parents, that this salve will always tell if a child has worms. It will drive every vestige of them away. (Read the directions around the box.) There is probably no medicine on the face of the earth at once so sure and so safe in the expulsion of worms.

Old Sores.—That some sores are an outlet to the impurities of the System, is because they cannot pass off through the natural channels of the Insensible Perspiration. If such sores are healed up, the impurities must have some other outlet, or it will endanger life. This salve will always provide for such emergency.

RHEUMATISM.—Almost every case curred with this ointment.

salve will always provide for such emergency.

RHEUMATISM.—Almost every case cured with this ointment.

FEVERS.—In all cases of fever, the difficulty lies in the pores being locked up so that the heat and perspiration cannot pass off. If the least moisture could be started, the crisis has passed and the danger is over. The all-healing oint-time danger is over. The all-healing oint-time danger is over. Philadelphia, Sept. 20, 1845.

Messrs. Robinson, Collins & Co.-Being afflicted last spring with a very severe cough, with pain in my side and breast, soreness and weakness of the lungs, shortness of breath, loss of apetite, &c., I tried various remedies, but to no good effect, my cough still continuing and growing worse. Such was the distressing nature of the cough, that I could not lie in bed night nor day, but was obliged to sit up in my chair, and could sleep very little at best; consequently I was wearing out very fast, till you very kindly recommended Dr. Davis's Compound Syrup of Wild Cherry and Tar, the first bottle of which gave me relief, checked my cough, loosened the phlegm, caused me to expectorate freely, restored my appetite, relieved the pain in my side, healed the soreness of my breast, and strengthened my lungs, eausing me to breathe freely. I have now taken ten bottles; it has entirely cured my cough. I have gained considerably in flesh. I think it a most valuable medicine, and one that ought to be universally known, that those afflicted with colds and coughs may have a medicine both safe and sure to cure, if taken properly. While taking the medicine, I drank freely of molasses and water, which I found excellent to keep the bowels open. If this statement can be found of any benefit to the afflicted, you are at liberty to make such use of it as you may think proper.
