Washington, March 2, 8 P. M.

New Orleans papers to the 23d have been received by the Southern mail this evening. They contain advices from Tampico to the 18th, Galveston to the 18th, Brazos to the 16th, and Vera Cruz papers of the 2d ult.

The Louisiana Volunteers wrecked on board the Ondiaka are all safe, with the exception of six, whom Col. De Russy was constrained to leave behind.

No action had occurred between the volunteers and the Mexicans, and they reached Tampico in safety on the 9th, in general good health, but much exhausted by the forced march. Seven were abandoned a few miles from the firstencampment, being unable to march, and it was found impossible to carry them through the sand on litters. One subsequently overtook the main body, and the remainder probably fell into the hands of the enemy.

No action had occurred between the volunteers and the Mexicana, and they reached Tampico in safety on the 9th in general good health, but much exhausted by the forced march. Seven were abandoned a few miles from the first encampment, being unable to march, and it was found impossible to carry them through the sand on litters. One subsequently overtook the main body, and the remainder probably fell into thands of the enemy.

General Scorr was hourly expected at Tampico.

The sickness among the troops at Tampico had been greatly exaggerated the general health was excellent. There were about seven thousand men there ager for action, but kept ignorant of their immediate destination. It was presumed that Vera Cruz would be henext point of attack, and the general opinion was that they would leave Tampico before the close of February.

The St. Cathariae was still off Tampico, with a portion of the New Yorkgiment on board.

Many of the officers had gone ashore, but the men were not allowed to land.

Nothing had been heard from the Mississipit torops, which were still on board the hip Statesman, but at the last accounts they were suffering deplorably from sickness.

High honors had been paid at head quarters to the late Lieutenant David Gibson, of the Second Artillers, High and the proposition of the New Yorkgiment on board.

Capt. Brown, of the steamboat Pioncer, sent by General Patterson to the succor of the volunteers wrecked in the Ordinaka and finding it described the strength of the military neadensy at West Point.

Capt. Brown, of the steamboat Pioncer, sent by General Attress on the succor of the volunteers wrecked in the Ordinaka and finding it described the strength of the means of the military neadensy the succession of the seventy of the same and the entire of the seventy of the strength of the succession of the seventy of the seventy of the succession of the seventy of the succession of the succession of the seventy of the succession of the succession of the seventy of the succession of the succession of th who had entered into the scheme in the hope of gain and plunder.

Col. De Russey replied to this demand, but was not allowed admission inside of Gen. Cos' lines. He was given until 9 o'clock the next morning, when the Americans were told they must surrender or fight. That night the camp-fires were lighted, but the Americans marched away, leaving their knapsacks and burthensome materials, (which would impede their march,) except sufficient provisions to afford them sustenance.

In twenty-four hours they had marched thirty-five miles, and not an armed Mexican was seen all the way to Tam-riflemen. The second dragoons, Taylor's light artillery, Col. Duncan's battery, and some detachments of recruits were still ashore:

The roads between Camargo and Monterey were almost impassable, on account of recent robberies.

The rancheros were gathering in all quarters. At Matamoras they were expecting an attack. The Plaza had been fortified, and the city placed in a state of defence.

fortified, and the city placed in a state of defence.

The capture of Captains Borland, Gaines and Clay, was confirmed:
Gen. Valencia had been relieved from the command of Vera Cruz, and his place supplied by Gen. Vayguez. The Mexicans were convinced that Vera Cruz was to be the next point of attack, and were busily engaged in fortifying the passes of the road to the city of Mexico.

The Merchants of Jalapa had been called upon for a loan of four thousand dollars.

Nothing has been heard at San Luis called upon for a roan of dollars.

Nothing has been heard at San Luis of Santa Anna's march.

At Tula and Jalapa they were on the alert in expectation of the advance of Gen. Scott.

ARMY NEWS.

The correspondents of that paper state that the troops will leave there in three days.

The report made by General Minon, states the number of Americans taken prisoners by him to be $2 \text{in all. Besides the Americans, there was a Mexican named Galeano, who had been with our troops. Under the impression that he was a guide or spy, he was immediately put to the sword, although Gaines interceded for his life.

Capt. Heady, of Kentucky, was also captured two days after Major Borland's command, by a party of Rancheros.—
The number of the party thus captured is said to be 93, but this is uncertain.—
Their camp was surrounded in the night, after being fatigued by a march of forty miles.

It is reported that Cassius M. Clay after being latigued by a march of forty miles.

It is reported that Cassius M. Clay projected an escape, by breaking through the enemy's lines, but could not induce the others to assent, the Mexicans greatly outnumbering them:

Hall Henry, one of the Mier prisoners, who had been acting as interpreter with the Arkansa's troops, had escaped from the Mexican camp on Gaines' horse.

Mexican was seen all the way to Tampico.

General Cos thought he had stationed a sufficient force upon the road to cut off retreat, and deprive the Americans of all hope of succor, but Yankee perseverance foiled him.

There was but about ninety serviceable guns in the possession of the volunteers, the others having been lost in getting ashore from the wreck. This was one reason that Col. De Russy did not wait to meet the expected attack.

Gen. Patterson was making extensive preparations to rescue the volunteers when they arrived.

Gen. Scott probably left the Brazos on the 16th, on board the Massachusetts, which was said to be waiting for him.—Four companies of artillery, under Captains Smith and Swartwout, and Lieutenants Shakleford and Vintor, acting as his body guard.

The camp at Palo Alto has been discontinued, and Gen. Worth and his staff were at the mouth of the river, waiting to embark.

All the troops were in motion, and the fourth and eighth infantry were on board, as well as the first regiment of
